A Horse Had Some Brains

It wasn't so long ago when we let the reins drop and trusted to Dobbin to pick the right road. And, furthermore, Dobbin did it. He trotted along the road without guidance. He didn't need anyone to show him the way to go home.

But the old days are over. A moving car needs constant attention. It has no brains. Some drivers are careless. Protect yourself against accidents of all kinds.

Immortalized by Song
 At the time of his death, John David McCrae, the author of "In Flanders Field," was forty-five. He was a Canadian physician, son of an army officer. He volunteered in 1914 and crossed with the Canadian Field artillery. He served in the field, and later in a hospital as second in command. He died of pneumonia.

Declined Many Honors
 Patrick Henry declined the following offices: United States senator, secretary of state in Washington's cabinet, chief justice of the Supreme court, governor of Virginia, and envoy to France. He had served several times in the Virginia legislative body and as governor.

Band At High School Receives High Praise

Farmington High School's band was praised this week in a letter received by J. A. Dalrymple, superintendent of schools, from a Detroit department store. The letter to Mr. Dalrymple said in part, "Your band was an added attraction to the parade, both in appearance and perfection. It has been spoken of many times by several other leaders and I assure you it was quite an 'eye opener' to many"

The band participated recently in a parade in Detroit in which several other high school bands from southeastern Michigan took part.

Laws to Curb Indians
 Laws enacted under the public streets during daylight hours once adorned ordinance books of Phoenix, Ariz. It was disclosed in a survey intended to eliminate regulations of horse-and-buggy days. The laws applied to Indians who came to town virtually naked in the good old days. It also was necessary, old records show, to curb the Indians in other ways. Grass was sown to the Indians, so they thought nothing of feeding his ponies on the carefully tended lawn of a prominent citizen. So a law was passed against feeding Indian ponies on private lawns and another one was enacted saying that horses and vehicles should not be parked on sidewalks.

Use for Water Clock
 Used by the Babylonians several centuries before Christ, the water clock has become essential in the manufacture of watches. It is declared the simplest means of testing ever invented. The old water clock was a cone with a tiny hole in the bottom, which, when inserted in a jar of water, was known to fill to a certain level within an hour. In its new field, the cone is inserted in varying grades of paints, the viscosities of which are measured by the length of time it takes each sample to fill the cone to a certain level.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Caterpillar's Ears
 Caterpillars have shown the ability to hear. Certain sounds result in sudden movements of the body. But where are their ears? Doctor Allard's experiments showed that the caterpillar's sense of hearing is aided by hairs that absorb sound.

To prove this, experimenters coated the hairs with water or flour or even stung them off. Then, when noises were made, the caterpillar did not respond. The fact that its hairs had been denuded made it deaf.

METHODIST CHOIR TO SING CAROLS CHRISTMAS EVE

Effort Will Be Made To Sing At All Homes Where A Candle Burns

Christmas carols will be heard through Farmington's streets Christmas Eve when members of the Methodist Church choir will spend several hours bringing Yuletide cheer to Farmington's citizens.

Although no attempt will be made by the choir to completely cover the City, an effort will be made to sing carols in front of as many homes as possible where a candle is burning in the window. This is the first time in four years that the Methodist Choir has sung carols on Christmas Eve. The choir is led by Arthur Applin.

Eight mothers of students of the senior class met at the school Tuesday to plan the "Senior Supper" to be given Thursday, December 17, at the German church from 5:30 to 8:00.
 Mrs. Kate Pettibone observed her ninety-eighth birthday anniversary Saturday.
