Constellations

The sun, the center of our solar system, is not in any constellation. The stars in the heavens are merely divided into constellations for convenience in studying them.

Men and Brutes

Noble blood! Bah! What blood is more noble or so pure as that of the lion? And yet he is only a brute. It is merit, education and virtue, not blood, that lift men above the level of the brutes.—Michael le Faucheur.

Stars Not Crowded

As an illustration of how stars are scattered through space, Sir James Jeans says that if only three grains of dust were in an ordinary room it would be far more crowded with dust than space is with stars.
