This Section "Has An Edge" in Congress Race

(Continued from page one) candidate should triumph, this particular portion of the new district could still claim that a "home boy" holds the congressional seat. The other candidate whom this section could claim as a "favorite son" is Robert G. ("Bob") Yerkes, who was born and has lived all his life in the very southwestern corner of Oakland County. Of course Judge Schulte and Mr. Yerkes are both attorneys, one might say, in legal phraseology, "the southwest quarter of the south-west quarter" of this section, Oakland County, Michigan.

"Bob" Yerkes, who closely followed Judge Schulte into the race, (the latter being the very first of the aspirants to announce his candidacy), lives on the ancestral farm on Eight Mile Road southwest of Farmington—just east of Novi Road. His father George M. Yerkes, has lived there throughout most of his life, although his law practice has been located in Detroit for many years. Mr. Yerkes was among the numerous "old-timers" of this area who for many years commuted back and forth to and from Detroit on the "old D. U. R." and many are the stories that are told of those happy days. A number of Farmington businessmen worked in their younger days as conductors on the line, which used to come into the Farmington business section just west and north of the Enterprise office.

From the Yerkes farm, which is in Novi Township, Mr. Yerkes, after finishing his preparatory schooling, went to the University of Michigan. After graduation and service in the World War, he entered his father's law office in Detroit, that of Yerkes, Goddard and McCintock, one of the leading firms in the city.

Interviewed People Mr. Yerkes adopted an unusual program in inaugurating his campaign. Before making a formal announcement, he set out to cover the entire district, talking to people in each community, to find out what problems were uppermost in their minds. Then applying principles which he holds as practical, he formulated a platform, emphasizing the following: reduction of government costs and taxes; restoration of confidence in banks through guaranteeing of deposits; a referendum on the Prohibition law and "substitution of enforceable laws which will return to the Federal and State Governments in annual liquor revenue over one billion dollars now supporting illegal enterprises and crime; completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway; and for agriculture, legislation which will reduce taxes on real estate.

Interested in Farming In addition to his law practice and interest in politics, Mr. Yerkes is much interested in fruit and vegetable-growing, and particularly in the marketing phase of it. At the Yerkes Farm, "Braeside Farms", where his ancestors have resided over 100 years, he plans to introduce within the next few months some new ideas in marketing products, with a unique building already planned and construction soon to be begun.

He has been a frequent caller in Farmington.

VITOLIZED OIL

—stays in the paint

Come in for a Free Demonstration of Wallhide. See for yourself how Vitolized Oil stays in Wallhide First Coater to keep it alive and elastic indefinitely.

Amazing new discovery now brings you One Day Painting

NO LONGER need you dread having your rooms torn up for days while the painters are at work. A revolutionary new discovery now brings you totally new painting results... results never attained before Wallhide—the Vitolized Oil Paint—was perfected.

Imagine hanging your curtains and pictures the same day your walls are painted? Your rooms beautifully decorated and completely settled by dinner time!

That's exactly what Wallhide—the Vitolized Oil paint—will do for you. It saves you time, trouble and money.

Washes perfectly

Because Wallhide contains Vitolized Oil it gives you a better, longer wearing paint job. Wallhide spreads evenly, without showing brush marks or laps. This paint will not crack, fade or chalk-off when washed again and again.

Fewer coats required

A new pigment gives Wallhide far greater "hiding" power than ordinary paint. Very rarely are two coats required over walls that have been previously painted.

Let us show you the many advantages of this remarkable new paint.
