I Care Fair Is A Giveaway

The "I Care Fair" scheduled by the women of Imothy Lutheran Church, it was thought to the question "Do Imothy Lutheran Church of Lutheran Church, it was thought to the question "Do Imothy Lutheran Church of Lavonia on Sunday, Nov. 21. Hausmann, president of the people": and came up with rabazaar.

On hand will be table upon table of handmade church bazaar items — little girls' dresses, stuffed animals, books and toys.

But nothing will be for sale. The women are going to give everything away.

In THE AMERICAN Timothy women gave serious to the question "Do Imothy People": and came up with the program. Church Women, fundraising swer.

"We don't do any alk kinds of useful items for moneymaking," she said, such institutions as the "We feel the Lord will provide for our work, and He does." Training School, Elsiose, and the work of the women are going to give everything away.

Mrs. Hausmann said.

Since early this year the women have been working on items for the fair, under the direction of chairman Judy Hendrian of Garden City.

Workshop meetings have been held each Wednesday at the church. Those who couldn't come then have taken home sewing to do. A table in the church vestibule has held samples of the dresses, sweaters, toys and other items.

private individuals whose need is known by the Timothy pastor, the Rev. George Fleischer.

"We've been in touch with these institutions because we've helped them before, and we know just what's needed," Mrs. Hausmann said.

The calls are taken by the permanent 24-hour answering street between would be for their service and immediately there would be for their service and immediately their answering service and immediately their appointment of a Fish volunteer are vices. Now they know. Since Oct. 1, calls have been coming in to $25-470 at the rate of eight to 10 a day. The simple outline of a fish, used as an identity symbol by the early Christians, serves today as the name and theme of the international organization dedicated to helping others. Some 20 to 22 churches and 140 volunteers are involved in the Southfield-Farmington group. Mrs. Lindsay Chalmers and Mrs. Fay G. Knapp are coordinating the local effort which operates under a 12-member steering committee.

Call Volunteers

The second informational meeting for potential volunteers to the organization Fish, will take place on Tuesday, Nov. 9, in the Northbrook Presbyterian Church on 14 Mile and Lahser Roads. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m.

To Fish Network

Northbrook Church is one of 15 churches within the boundaries of Eight to 14 Mile Roads and from Greenfield to Haggerty Roads who are represented in the Southfield-Farmington chapter of the world-wide organization. Fish takes it's name from the ancient Christian symbol, but volunteers need not be a member of a Christian Church, or any church. Volunteers will become part of a network that can be called upon to give help on a people-to-people basis.
