New Books Added To Public Library

To those that are interested in our new books the non-fiction book is Beveridge or the Progressive Era, by Claude Bowers; those of fiction are Imperial Palace, by Arnold Bennett; Hatter's Castle, A. J. Cronin; Cornet, by Kummroff; Historical, Beyond the Blue Sierra, Honore; Whistle Morrow; Mary's Nook, by Ruth Perkins; Judith Paris, by Hugh Walpole; The Flowering Wilderness, by John Galsworthy; Head Tide, by Joseph Lincoln; Heat Lighting, by Helen Hull; Lark Ascending, by Mass De Rooy; for adventure will be found Riders Across the Border, by Jackson Gregory and a few others. A few stories for our little folks so that in all we have a nice collection. With thanks to those that made it possible, now I believe it is up to the patrons to keep these books in good condition and see to it that they are returned on time so every one has a fair chance of reading them, and I will try and do the fair thing by seeing that you all have a new book.

Thanking you,

Mary Kennedy.

I regret to say that a number of our 1931 books have been among the "missing" "lost" or out of pure negligence have not been returned and a few of our old books have found their way back to the library. Thanks to some of our readers, so I know that our books are not lost, but just misplaced. If any one knows the whereabouts of some of the books I mention, will you please return to the Farmington Public Library and it will be greatly appreciated. The night 1931 book by Charles Morgan of Oakley Park, "Jaffery Farnol, 'Vade of Destiny'," "High Fences" by Grace Richmond and her books are so good that it seems too bad to have to be deprived of them and "Nobody's Boy," by Malcot and the "Lone
