SIX SAY THEY FIND IT NECESSITY; NO LUXURY

"Inquiring Photographer" Gets One Verdict on Telephone

Each day the "Inquiring Photographer" of the New York "Daily News" accosts half a dozen people, asks a question, and publishes pictures and answers of the people to whom he puts the query. They are selected at random, in order that they may represent a cross-section of public opinion.

A recent question asked by the "Inquiring Photographer" was, "Do you consider a telephone in your home a luxury or a necessity?" All six persons interviewed considered it a necessity. Said a musician: "There are many contacts which I get over my phone which would not be possible otherwise." A millinery manufacturer referred to the value of the telephone in emergencies and also explained that household difficulties are often minimized by prompt telephone calls.

Experience Proved Its Real Worth

A floor covering salesman explained that while he might economize on many things, he thought he never could do so on the telephone, as in certain emergencies it might be worth its cost for ten years. Said a merchant: "The other day, our youngster had an accident and my wife immediately notified me and a doctor. We were there almost instantly, and that one call was worth a year's cost of service. It is absolutely necessary for a wife." An absolutely necessary for a wife. It is absolutely necessary for a wife. It is absolutely necessary for a wife.

DELIVERS FLOWERS ABOARD SHIP AT SEA BY TELEPHONE

Buying flowers in Washington, D. C., and having them delivered in the middle of the Atlantic Ocean on the same day as the order is made, is an accomplishment. Nevertheless, it can be done. A Washington florist has an advertisement in his window which says it can be done. Furthermore, he offers to do it.

One number of ocean liners there is a florist shop. These same ships also are equipped with ship-to-shore telephone service. When one places an order with the Washington florist for flowers, the latter communicates by telephone with the florist on board ship, and the delivery is made to the designated passenger. It is said that a number of such deliveries have been made.

URGES-TOWNSHIP OFFICIALS TO GET READY FOR BEER

Justice Declares Problem Will Present Itself Within A Few Weeks

A warning that Farmington Township officials should "get ready for beer" was sounded Tuesday evening by Justice Willis T. Roberts at the Township Board meeting. Mr. Roberts declared beer would be here within the next few weeks, and that the Township would be wise to be prepared.

Mr. Roberts asserted that two ways of handling the beer will be offered. One is that the Township might license places to sell the fluid, dividing the license fees with the State. The other is that the Township would decline to license any place to sell beer and install a Township store for the sale, all others being prohibited and all profits going to the Township.

Doubt was expressed that the Township could enforce the second plan, and other members of the Board indicated a preference to await developments.

The Board discussed the welfare problem for three hours but reached no definite decisions. Agreement for an R. F. C. loan for $1,655 for March was adopted.
