

Great Demand Exists In State For Horses

The supply of horses on Michigan farms is not in keeping with the demand this Spring and there are an unprecedented number of horses being shipped into the State. During the past year, over 35,000 horses were shipped into the State of Michigan at a cost to Michigan farmers of more than one million dollars. The number of colts on farms is about 55% of the number needed to maintain the present work horse population.

Takes Earthquake As Part of Job

Simultaneously with the arrival of the first telegraphic news flashes reporting the California earthquake last March a woman, who would not give her name, called the news department of The New York Times. "You might be interested," she said, "in knowing that I have just tried to communicate with Los Angeles by telephone. When I had made connection with the Los Angeles operator the girl's voice, calm and unharmed, came over the wire. 'Sorry, I cannot connect you. We're having an earthquake!'"—New York Times.

TEN STAGE STARS WILL PERFORM IN ANN ARBOR SEASON

Henderson's Annual Festival To Present Two Classics And Four Broadway Hits

Robert Henderson's annual Ann Arbor Dramatic Season will be an outstanding event in the American theatre this year, with Miss Jane Cowl, first lady of the stage, and nine other nationally famous stars under contract to appear in the university town during May and June.

Tom Powers, first man of the New York Theatre Guild, will appear in every play of the festival, and Rose Hobart, celebrated motion-picture and stage actress, will be featured.

Six other distinguished stars, Violet Heming, Violet Kemble-Cooper, Rollo Peters, Geoffrey Kerr, Edith Barrett, and Henry Hull have also been signed by Robert Henderson to appear in one or more plays.

Featured productions of the season will be "Twelfth Night" with Miss Cowl, and the first production outside New York of Noel Coward's "Design for Living" with Powers, Miss Heming, and Kerr in the leading roles.

Miss Cowl will also appear in Alexandre Dumas, fils' "Camille." Other plays to be presented will be Benn Levy's comedy, "Springtime for Henry," and Romney Brent's, "The Man Who Sings."

Two Broadway hits of last year, "Two Dance Recitals by Angna Enters, noted dance-mime, will be given. Season tickets may be secured for as low as $3.00 and prices for single performances run as low as 25 cents. Seats may be reserved by mail at Lydia Mendelssohn, theatre Ann Arbor. The season begins Monday, May 22.

'Fraudulent' Levy Ties Up City's Back Taxes

tax was excessive it could not be put on the tax roll for 1932. One of the County Treasurer's assistants has stated however, Mr. Gildemeister said, that he interprets the decree only to mean that the State tax sale would not be permitted, and not that taxes on the property would be entirely cancelled. Under this interpretation, he said, the City could reassess the property for 1928 taxes, which was the intention of the Court. Until the reassessment is made, however, the County will retain all delinquent taxes paid on any property in the City, until the $8,008 is made up.

State And County Tax
The sum of $8,008 represents the State and County taxes for the year 1928 on the Ely Farm lots mentioned in the objection.
City officials are making a concerted effort to whip the matter into shape and straighten it out so that the County may be persuaded to release the delinquent tax money being held and give the City the use of the funds, as well as removing from the County Treasurer's books the $8,008 charge against the City.
Attorney Archie G. Leonard, who represents Farmington school district and who delivered into the matter for the Board of Education submitted an opinion also for the City Commission on the situation in which he outlined the ruling by Judge Gillespie and interpreted its meaning.
Four years ago the City Commission granted a tax refund of $8,000 to the owners of Farmington Woods subdivision, on protests of Mr. Ely that the assessments had been excessive. He had appealed to the Commission for reduction of valuation and the subdivision was accorded a great reduction in the assessment, as well as the tax refund. This action by the Commission was taken after receipt of a proposal by the subdivision developers, and was just in time to save the property from the state tax sale of May, 1929.
