

Twenty Students To Be Graduated at Clarenceville

Outgoing Class Has Saved Enough To Give Members A Trip To World Fair

Twenty students will be graduated from the Clarenceville schools at exercises to be held at the Clarenceville M. E. church at 8 p. m. Friday, June 9. Rev. Lyons delivered the baccalaureate address last Sunday.

The 20 graduates are: Ruth Hedwig Berger, Adrain Campbell, Melvin Clark, Reta Clifford, Robert DeLeul, Margaret Doebler, Doris Geary, Agnes Jorgenson, Woodrow Kelly, Elmer Lynch, Junior Montreau, Dorcas Paul, Corise Robertson, Donald Stillabower, Elizabeth Stratford, Adeline Spies, and Elizabeth Ryman, Fred Berger, and Louise McArthur. Fred Berger is president of the class and Louise McArthur is secretary-treasurer.

Reta Clifford will deliver the salutatory and Fred Bailey the valedictory addresses. The class prophecy will be read by Fred Berger and the class will be by Donald Stillabower. The invocation and the benediction will be given by Rev. Lyons.

The graduating class has been able to earn enough money during the year to finance a trip to the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago. The two day excursion will begin on Sunday, June 11. The trip will be made in private cars.

Plans for next year are being withheld until a definite program has been formulated by the present session of the legislature. The teaching staff of the schools has been cut and salaries have been reduced from 15 to 40 percent during the past three years.

MRS. CHARLES ROSE SUCCUMBS AT HER WALLED LAKE HOME

Well-Known Resident And Former School Teacher Succumbs To Relapse

Death came to Mrs. Charles Rose at 12:00 p. m. Saturday. Mrs. Rose had been ill for several months but for the past month had been in better health. Her illness was due to a relapse of the cancer which she had contracted several years ago.

Mrs. Rose was a member of the Walled Lake Methodist church. She was born at Walled Lake on November 13, 1872 and spent her entire life there with the exception of seven years between 1913 and 1920, when she resided with her family at Mt. Clemens.

Mrs. Rose was a graduate of Northville high school and Fenton Teacher's College. She taught for a number of years at the Walled Lake school, which is now the Masonic Temple.

She married Charles Rose, also of Walled Lake in 1893. To this couple four children were born. Cameron, Mrs. Dorothy McKibben, Mrs. Helen Devey all of Walled Lake survive. Edwin, Rose died at Mt. Clemens in 1917.

Dr. Sergius Grace Explains Secret of 'The Man With The Radio Brain'

Dr. Sergius P. Grace, native of Farmington now vice-president of the Bell Telephone Laboratories in New York, has had another honor conferred upon him to add to his list of achievements.

Dr. E. E. Free, editor of 'The Week's Science,' a paper discussing the advances of science throughout the world, devotes an article in a recent issue to the experiments with and explanations of Dr. Grace with regard to the 'man with the radio brain.'

An explanation of this phenomenon, who recently has been exhibiting his powers in Europe, has been proposed by scientists of Warsaw, Poland, a recent center of his activities. The seemingly uncanny power possessed by his man permits him to perceive radio programs directly, he asserts, without aid of a receiver or other apparatus. He merely listens and hears the program inside his brain. Since the actions of the human brain are known to be electric, it was not unthinkable that this man's brain might be in touch with the radio mechanism. Instead, the conclusion is that this individual hears the programs through his ears in the usual way, although the ear mechanism apparently is worked directly by the radio waves, not by sound. An experiment frequently performed in public by the distinguished American engineer and scientist, Dr. C. F. Green of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, supplies the clue. Using a powerful amplifier generating electric impulses instead of sound waves, Dr. Grace can hold a metal plate with a metal plate to which the electric signals are communicated. This person then hears corresponding sounds, presumably because electric attractions and repulsions between the metal plate and the eardrum set this drum to vibrate much as sound waves do.

To explain the 'radio brain' it is imagined that some unusual electric condition of this individual responds to strong radio signals. Possibly everyone has this power in slight degree but not enough so to make radio messages perceptible.

Mid-Month Sales To Be Held Soon In Farmington

Farmington Merchants To Repeat Monthly Bargain Days June 16 and 17

Another two-day sale, important to all purchasers of merchandise and service in this vicinity will be held Friday and Saturday, June 16 and 17.

The Mid-Month Bargain Days, rapidly becoming a fixture in Farmington business life, will arrive again on those dates, bringing news of buying opportunities to the careful seeker of values. Merchants carrying many different lines will join in to supply all the wants of Farmington's visitors at greatly reduced prices.

Special offers, made at cost or less, will be featured by each merchant in an effort to further increase Farmington's scope as a trading center.

Satisfaction was expressed by a large number of business men at the close of the sale last month. It was found that the Bargain Days had brought in new customers from a dozen or more miles away. One store reported customers from as far away as Ann Arbor.

The Mid-Month sales will again be advertised by handbills distributed to homes with their mail checks and in the Enterprise.

Commission Hears Milk, Dry Cleaning Protests

Two complaints of alleged illegal trading in Farmington were discussed before the meeting of the City Commission Monday night, action on them being postponed until the next meeting.

Acting on a recent communication from Joseph Himmelspach of the Farmington Dairy, the Commission called on George Erving of the State Dairy Bureau for an opinion on the alleged sale of milk by several persons. Erving promised a state inspection of two pasteurizing plants now supplying milk for the city, to determine whether they comply with the city ordinance. A report will be given at the next meeting.

A second communication, from city dry cleaners, protested against the intrusion at an outside cleaning firm, George Hovepian, of Detroit, representing the complainant, described the methods used in Detroit and Pontiac to keep up the dry cleaning price level. In Detroit an association of dry cleaners maintains a set price, and in Pontiac the out-of-town competitors are made to take out peddlers' licenses. Action on the complaint was deferred.

Tax Cuts Planned at Two Meetings

City, Township Boards of Review Propose 20 Percent Slashes In Assessments

Large reductions in tax assessments were ordered at the meeting Monday and Tuesday of the city and township Boards of Review.

Assessor Hogle told, the city meeting that a 20 percent reduction had been made in all assessments. A number of tax payers appeared before the board and asked for a reduction in their assessments. This was granted in some instances.

Because of this action by the Board the assessment made by Mr. Hogle was reduced from $1,668,440 to $1,653,330. No change was made in the personal property tax which stands at $262,797. Total valuation of the city stands at $3,919,127. No assessment was increased.

A further reduction in the tax assessment for Farmington Township is expected when the township board of review concludes the series of public hearings next week. No important changes in the roll have been made as yet, Arthur P. Coe supervisor said. The hearings will be held on Monday and Tuesday as they were during the past week.

Pass New Budget And $15 Rate For Municipal Taxes

Proportion Of City Levy Remains Same, But Assessments Are Lower

A twenty per cent reduction in the taxes for Farmington residents will be in effect for the next fiscal year although last year's rate of $15 per thousand will be continued as the result of action taken by the city commission Monday night. The decrease in the taxes will be due to the $15 rate was adopted by the commission after some debate by a 4-2 vote, any lower rate being thought impractical. The amended city budget which was passed unanimously at the meeting, represents a big slash in expenditures, but it is felt that tax delinquency will make it difficult to meet even at the $15 rate.

The 1933-34 budget, as amended,

Commission Sanctions Purchase Of Road Oil

It may be a hot summer in Farmington, but it won't be a dusty one.

Action has been taken to assure proper care of all roads in the city. At the city commission meeting Monday night Street Commissioner Emory Hutton was authorized to purchase a carload of road oil, to be used during the next month in laying dust on the streets.

at the meeting to include a $2,000 sinking fund against future maturing of bonds, calls for a total of $28,226.25. A large portion of the amount, which is itself a great reduction over the $35,103.75 budget of the past year, is for fixed expenditures on bonds and interest; the actual running expense of the city has been cut one third.

In order to facilitate collection of taxes, the commission voted to allow a reduction of 2 percent to citizens paying in July and to add a penalty of 2 percent after a certain period of delinquency.

A slight improvement in the welfare situation was reported to the commission by Commissioner Fred Stannam. Expenditures for the past month were less than preceding months and one family has been able to leave the welfare list. There are now 17 families listed.
