Many Novel Scenes In "Below The Sea"

Life at the bottom of the ocean, that strange panorama of strange growing things and odd creatures rarely seen by the human eye, is one of the features of "Below The Sea," the Columbia picture showing Friday and Saturday at the Great Lakes Theatre.

The story, an original by Jo Swerling, concerns a hunt for gold entombed in a sunken submarine, and it gives the cameraman a grand opportunity to get some marvelous shots of the wonders that exist below the waves. Through the windows of the diving bell he gazed away at the unending variety of swimming and crawling under sea inhabitants and fantastic plants and flowers, and the result is presented in the picture in their beautiful natural colors.

This is just one of the features of the film, which includes a thrilling fight with a vicious octopus and numerous undersea maneuvers. The romance is handled by Ralph Bellamy and Fay Wray.

Band Notes

By Edward Eaton, director
The following program will be given in the band-stand Friday night at 7:30:
Fort Royal
Tannhauser
Ballet de Moliere
De Lully
Harmoneers
On the Mall
Goldman
American Patrol
Mecham
Tonawanda
Wendland
Hippodrome
Star Spangled Banner.

By the program those interested will see that the Harmonizers are to be with the band this week. This quartet is composed of George Dunfee, bass; Bob Cook, baritone; Harmon Boice, second tenor; Edward Eaton, first tenor; Mrs. Irene Boice, accompanist and arranger. Mrs. Boice has many of the numbers used by the quartet.

In this column last week the bass section of the band was reviewed. This week the trumpet section will be discussed.

The trumpet is one of the oldest instruments used by man. David exhorted the people to play the trumpet in the worship services. Being an instrument of martial music, its bright colorful tones usually present a dramatic appearance. The band is proud of the team, Thayer and Wikom, as its lead trumpeters. At no time since the beginning of the organization has the pair attempted to shirk its responsibility at any performance. A record for four years, year in and year out. The lower chairs are occupied by Katherine Storms, the girl trumpeter of the organization, and Bob Kelly. The second row is filled with Billy Parker and Billy Slocum, two Billies famous for their constant disturbance. Bob Hogle and Ross Van Valkenburg occupy chairs six and seven and are due to make good leaders. Last, but not least in dependability come Wade Dickerson and Ralph Banfield. Wade rides his bike fourteen miles to come to band practice.

No little praise should be afforded the parents of each member who have sacrificed pleasures to see that each player lived up to his responsibility in supporting the band both in practice and in actual performance.

BIG HAILSTONES

Last week's storm which did a considerable amount of minor damage to property in Farmington through wind and hail brought hailstones of record size to Lake County. The Lake County Star, published at Baldwin, reported that stones as large as baseballs fell in that area. On one dairy farm there the hail burrowed into the ground to the depth of six inches. The wife of the proprietor of this farm placed some of the hailstones in an icebox and called a weather expert from Grand Rapids to testify to their size. The largest had a net diameter of three inches.

We're not getting "back to normalcy"—we're moving forward to sanity.

Estimate Sales Tax Return At $2 Million

Lansing—The three per cent sales tax adopted by the legislature just before the session adjourned, provides that the law, if signed by the governor, shall be administered by the auditor general, the state treasurer, secretary of state and a fourth to be chosen by the three elective state officials. It is estimated that the sales tax will produce approximately $32,000,000 annually.

As finally adopted by the legislature, the sales tax makes no provision for extending additional state aid to Michigan's school system although it contains a direct appropriation of $12,000,000 for state aid to local welfare agencies. In dropping the appropriation of $15,000,000, veteran members of the legislature asserted that there was no organization to fight the battles of the unemployed while school officials were well organized and would be able to fight successfully for state aid in event the schools were unable to function efficiently under present revenues.
