The diamonds shown here are fine quality stones. They are not "flawless" but have been chosen for fine color and brilliance. All represent unusually good values.

Good value in a diamond doesn't just mean a low price tag. A diamond's value is determined by a combination of carat weight, color and cut. When you're shopping for a diamond, investigate all its qualities before you decide whether or not you're making an intelligent purchase. And keep one more thing in mind: that your Rose diamond is such a good value that we guarantee it will increase in value at the rate of 3% a year, or a full 15% in just five years, if you want to trade it in on a larger Rose diamond.
