FORGOTTEN MAN IS EULOGIZED IN "HEROES FOR SALE"

A daring screen record of these hectic times gives Richard Barthelmess the material for his latest First National production, "Heroes for Sale," which opens Friday at the Great Lakes Theatre for a 2 day run.

The story, which was written by the late Wilson Mizner, mines no words of situations in portraying the career of a "forgotten man." The action commences with the world war in which the main character played by Richard Barthelmess, is rewarded for his bravery with wounds that leave him a wreck of his former self. His efforts to rehabilitate himself lead him into many adventures and into a stirring romance until he is caught in the tide of the "bread-line" class.

Considered one of Barthelmess' finest characterizations to date, "Heroes for Sale" also boasts a cast of highly competent supporting players, each of whom is given a chance for splendid work. Loretta Young plays the leading feminine role, while Aline MacMahon, Gordon Westcott, Robert Barrat and Berton Churchill play other important roles.
