The Michigan Automobile Owners' and Operators' Finance Responsibility Law which was enacted at the last session of the State Legislature and becomes effective on October 16th will doubtless prove doubly beneficial according to Farmington insurance agents who are preparing to insure car owners under the new law. The principal provisions of the law and how it will be a factor for justice and safety are outlined briefly.

The act provides that any motorist who fails to satisfy within thirty days, any final judgment which is the outcome of the injury or death of any person or property damage in excess of $300 will forfeit his right to drive or register any motor vehicle.

NRA Meeting Monday Evening

Gathering in Town Hall To Discuss Farmington Activity

Farmington's NRA activity will reach its climax next Monday evening in a mass meeting at Farmington Town Hall, designed to bring together all elements of the population as part of the nationwide movement toward economic recovery.

A speech by Hon. James H. Lynch of Pontiac, one of the best-known citizens of Oakland County, and music by the Farmington High School Band, are scheduled for the meeting Monday evening. Citizens from all the territory surrounding Farmington, including the nearby towns, are urged to attend the meeting and lend their enthusiasm.

First reports of the consumers' campaign which started Thursday morning indicated a practically 100 per cent signing-up by residents of Farmington City. The committee at work is authorized to cover the City only, and a thorough canvassing under way.

An executive meeting Wednesday evening in the Town Hall brought together about 40 workers and others. Fr. M. J. Crowley of Pontiac addressed the gathering. Plans were made for the house-to-house canvass, the task being divided among 35 women. Districts were assigned, each worker to carry consumer's pledge-cards.

In the first return of reports, but one instance was reported of failure to obtain a signature among scores of homes. In that case the report was to "talk it over with her husband." Other reports were brought in of signing at every house. Mrs. Mary Johnson is in charge of the women's consumers' campaign, assisted by Mrs. R. C. Burns.

The meeting Monday evening is scheduled to begin at 8:00 with Kenneth Loomis, chairman, in charge.

Prepare To Rush Work; Board Indicates Stock Approval

Major factors have been satisfactorily settled and work will start shortly on the conditioning of the old D. U. R. power house at Farmington Junction for the winery which is to be located there, M. R. Twomey, head of the company, informed the Enterprise Thursday. Already engineers have been out to the plant armed with blueprints of proposed alterations, preparatory to the beginning of work to put the building in shape.

The biggest obstacle has been overcome within the past few days when the Michigan Securities Commission, which had deferred approval of the firm's plan of issuing stock, indicated that with a few minor requirements that have been agreed upon, the Securities Commission will place its stamp of approval on the company's issue.

Ernest Clarke, a director of the company and an engineer and contractor of experience, is to come to Farmington within a few days, it was stated by Mr. Twomey, and take up the supervision of the work on the building. Mr. Clarke will have charge of the construction.

All possible speed will be made in remodeling the building and installing the large amount of equipment, mainly casks, which will go into the winery. A large amount of labor will be utilized, and Farmington residents, Mr. Twomey stated, will be given preference in employing help.

Work will be carried on 24 hours a day, he said.

FARMER IN THE LIMELIGHT AFTER FINDING OF TORSO

Finding near Novi of a woman's torso in a Detroit mystery, is scarcely two weeks old, brought into the strong limelight of publicity a farmer known to many throughout this section. He is Glen Salow, who resides on the Taft road west of Novi, and who found the torso within a few hundred feet of his farmhouse shortly before noon Monday.

For hours on that day Mr. Salow was bombarded with questions by reporters of daily newspapers, all seeking the details of how he happened to find the gruesome object and what he did with it. He said he was and how long he had lived at that farm.

Hundreds had undoubtedly passed by since the trunk of the woman's body, identified as that of Mrs. Aurea McCann of Detroit, had been deposited beside the road. One of the mysteries was how the object, lying within a few feet of the single gravel track, had escaped attention. It was chalk-white, without head or arms, and the flesh was gone from the leg-bones, which had been cut off at the knees, the two legs protruding to form the most gruesome part of Salow's horrifying discovery.

Deputy Sheriff Joseph De-Vriendt of Farmington was first to be notified by Salow, and with Constable William Greger led the law-enforcing group which soon gathered. Salow told them he had noticed an unusual object in the ditch while on the way to Northville earlier in the evening, and while in the town had been thinking about what he had seen, and about the murder he had read of in the papers. On his way home he investigated further and made his discovery. The woman's husband is the object of a nationwide hunt on a charge of murder.

Work will be carried on 24 hours a day, he said.

William B. Gilmore, deputy chairman of the Securities Commission, in confirming the report that the stock issue would be granted the Securities Commission's approval, stated that while formal approval was not yet ready for issuance, there had been tentative agreement that the permit would be granted providing certain stipulations of the Commission were carried out. These are of lesser importance, Mr. Gilmore said, indicating there was no reason to question that they would be carried out satisfactorily and the permit issued in due course.

Already officials of the company, which will operate as La-Salle Wines and Champagne, Inc., have begun to purchase grapes for use in the winery. Large quantities of grapes can be utilized and will be purchased on the vines. Mr. Twomey stated. Mr. Twomey said that growers in the vicinity of Farmington again in a few days to assist in getting the work under way. A. F. Healy, secretary, is also expected to participate actively, with every effort made to save time and get grapes into the presses as soon as possible. Arrangements will be made, Mr. Twomey said, for interviewing applicants for work by Mr. Clark, as soon as feasible after an arrival in Farmington. Mr. Clark is to be in charge of operation of the plant, moving to Farmington with his family.

The rapid advance of repeal of the 18th Amendment will, it is believed, be a very favorable factor for the new company, since it will probably enable them to put on the market within a few months a finer product through being able to blend over Canadian wine for blending with the new wine made here.
