

Thank You, Folks!

It would be impossible for me to express just how grateful I am for the wonderful reception you gave our re-opening Saturday. Thanks for the good folks who came in all day and evening, for the fine business we enjoyed, for the beautiful flowers and good wishes.

I'll try to show you my appreciation by serving you with the very best I can get for your table.

Home Loan Act Is A Factor in Court Case

Laing said he bought for $50 from Harger's wife. Mrs. Harger left two months ago. Her husband returned to his home on Grand River South Lyon Road on the night of July 13, after an evening spent at the American Legion home, he stated, and found his home empty and his wife gone. For some time he did not know where the furniture was, and finally located it only after over-hearing by chance a conversation between two Farmington women, talking on Grand River in the business section one day. He scouted about and coming to Laing's house on Oakland Road looked through the windows and saw his furniture.

Harger obtained a writ of replevin and back to his home went the furniture, consisting of two beds, with mattresses and springs, two dressers, a chiffonier, a dining room table, a small dinette, a settee and two arm-chairs, a refrigerator, kitchen table, two white chairs, five mahogany chairs, three end tables, a floor-lamp, sewing machine, ironing board and rugs. The furniture remained in Harger's possession, the trial Monday night being to decide ownership.

Shows Bill Of Sale

Laing, represented by Charles L. Wilson, presented a bill of sale from Mrs. Harger, who is now in the East. He also showed a receipt given to Laing for $50, and an installment-purchase book showing that the furniture had been bought in Mrs. Harger's name, and payments made by her. Asked if there was not an agreement that Mrs. Harger was to have the privilege of redeeming the furniture, Laing answered, "yes, after I got through with it." A few minutes later Harger obtained from him the admission regarding his using the furniture temporarily to make the house appear as "homestead" in applying for Government Aid under the Home Loan Act.

Offers To Pay

Mr. Wilson rested his case on the bill of sale. During his plea to the court that he be allowed to keep the furniture, Harger offered to reimburse Laing with $50, the amount Laing stated he had paid. Justice Laphom suggested it might be a wise settlement of the controversy, which has previously been before two other judges. He took the case under advisement, meanwhile recommending that Harger tender Laing an offer and that Laing accept it. In event of failure to agree, decision will be rendered on ownership of the furniture.

Reception Held For Walled Lake Faculty

The reception for the new teachers of the Walled Lake Consolidated School was held Thursday evening September 21. A hot pot luck dinner was served. Mr. Hansen, the principal introduced Mr. William Taylor, the superintendent, Mr. Harold King instructor in English and public speaking, Miss Gladys Myers instructor in languages and English. A short musical program followed, at which time, Mrs. Wik sang two solos and gave a pianoogue. Mrs. Boucher's dancing class presented five numbers of tap dancing. Mrs. Avey led several interesting and amusing games.

An executive meeting was called and Mrs. Avey was chosen president for the coming year. The committee was unanimous in its decision, as Mrs. Avey made such a successful president the past year.

TIGHTEN FIRE LAWS

High fire hazard through the state has caused the Department of Conservation to tighten up on enforcement of all laws relating to fires especially the law requiring the securing of a permit to start an open fire. Guy A. Drake, Newberry, was forced to pay suppression costs of $48 when he was convicted of permitting a "permit" fire to get away from him. Drake obtained a permit to start a fire, but it escaped him and spread through some valuable timber doing considerable damage.

IMPROVE STATE PARKS

Improvements in Michigan's state parks that had not been anticipated as possible for many years are now being accomplished through the Emergency Conservation Work program, according to P. J. Hoffmaster, superintendent of the Parks Division of the Department of Conservation. Three C. C. Camps, each with a full quota of 200 men are engaged exclusively in work in three state parks and 18 other parks are receiving attention from crews assigned from various forestry camps.

PROTECT SQUIRRELS

Black and grey squirrels will continue to be protected in Michigan for another two years. The Conservation Commission has renewed its order forbidding taking black and grey squirrels, the order continuing until October 1, 1935. The last closing order expired October 1 this year.

PLAN WEINER ROAST

Egworth League members are planning a weiner and corn roast next Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. E. Middlewood on Farmington Road. Details will be announced at the meeting Sunday evening. Mr. S. D. Harger will have charge.

LIGHT for Advertising and Selling vs. LIGHT for SEEING

It has been shown by careful test that raising the level of illumination in a show window causes as much as 65 per cent increase in the number of persons stopping to view the display. Improved illumination—both in show windows and show cases—exerts a direct influence on sales. With the dark autumn days not far off, this is the time to prepare your store and window lighting for maximum effectiveness during the fall and winter selling seasons.

The successful merchant treats his lighting in two parts—(1) light for seeing and (2) light for advertising and selling. Are you making full use of the advertising and selling power of the light you are paying for?

Are your lamps the proper size? Is the size and spacing of your lighting fixtures correct? Is your general and spot illumination adequate to stop customers and help the merchandise sell its qualities? Are your walls and ceilings properly painted for maximum effective use of the electric lighting you pay for? These are only a few of the questions our lighting engineers will answer for you—without charge or obligation of any kind. And our engineers do not have fixtures or equipment of any kind to sell. You can use their recommendations or not as you see fit. Simply call Randolph 2100 and ask for Lighting Division.
