Twenty Obtain Part-time Jobs Since Canvass

More Than One-Third Of Unemployed Get Work

Twenty residents of Farmington have obtained work at part-time jobs since the canvass made recently by the NRA committee, according to Kenneth R. Loomis, chairman of the Farmington committee. This represents more than one-third of the unemployed who were registered in the check-up.

The canvass revealed 58 unemployed in the city, Mr. Loomis said, and the record of re-employment since that time is viewed as highly gratifying. It is considered exceptionally good in view of the fact that 14 of those listed as unemployed are people seeking work in offices, which is naturally unobtainable at the present time.

More Work at Winery

More Farmington men obtained work at the new winery site this week when Amos Otis, local contractor, took up the job of laying sewer and filling in large window spaces with brick. Search in Farmington for a bricklayer, however, proved futile, and he had to call that trade in town. Mr. Otis employs all Farmington help unless it is impossible to secure the right men, as in the case of bricklayers.

More employment may develop soon at the winery, as all is ready for the laying of the concrete floor in the west end.

Compliance Board

In connection with the NRA committee's work, Mr. Loomis again calls attention to the fact that the local compliance board has jurisdiction over any complaints that may be made. One complaint was made, and was sent to Washington, only to be returned to the local board. Complaints are received by Secretary John J. Schulte, Jr. and must be in writing.

WALLED LAKE TO HAVE 9th ANNUAL FAIR NEXT WEEK

The Ninth Annual School and Community Fair is to be held October 26 and 27. The fair will begin Thursday evening and will continue all day Friday and Saturday night.

The F. P. A. in sponsoring the Fair wishes to speak its appreciation to the community for its splendid co-operation in making this enterprise an ever-growing development. This community has the reputation of displaying its fair and its at our local fair which are superior in quality and quantity to those of near-by county fairs.

The fair management found it necessary to keep premiums low due to present economic condition. The following is the premium list of students who are in charge of each division.

Three Caught In A Sewer Cave-in, Dug Out Unhurt

One Completely Covered By Earth, Others Call Help In Time

Three men of this vicinity are nursing bruises and sore spots in various parts of their anatomy, as a result of the experience a few days ago of being temporarily buried alive. One was covered totally and the other partially until all were given assistance.

The three men, Clinton Ault, M. E. Ault, and William Sherman were laying tiles from the basement at the home of M. E. Ault, West Point Park, out to the sewer serving the Ault residence. Cars passing nearby caused vibration of the ground which had been piled up around the trench that had been dug.

After some time, a large volume of earth suddenly came in upon the men. Clinton Ault was covered entirely, but the dirt only half covered the other two men, standing in the ditch.

Fortunately help was available at once and the men were dug out entirely, but the dirt only half covered the other two men, standing in the ditch.

All three, however, suffered bruises and soreness after the experience.

WEST POINT PARK COMMUNITY CLUB PLANS A SUPPER

The Ladies Community Club of West Point Park wish to announce a pot luck supper to be held at the hall Friday evening of this week at 6:30. After supper there will be games for all and a reviving of old friendships.

The ladies especially invite all church members past or present. All members of the Sunday School and the Ladies Association as well as any one living in the community who would like to spend a pleasant evening.

The ladies Association will meet at the home of Mrs. C. Wolfe. The last Thursday in October, Mrs. Grace has charge of devotional period. Mrs. Wolfe will give a talk on temperance. It is hoped all members will be in attendance as there is important business to bring before the meeting.

A blue bird sang in an old pine tree. The song he sang was one of grief.

He sang of love for his family, They're as blue as the summer sky. They're as blue as the summer sky.

The thought of our Father came to me. As I watched the bird in that old pine tree.

Of a "loving father" that cares for all. He cloths each bird and notes their fall.

With lightened heart and courage strong. I joined in singing the blue bird's song.

For I know that my Father cares for me. Like he does for the bird in the old pine tree.

Home Economics Grown Elects Its Officers

Members of the Home Economics Club of the Walled Lake school are very busy these days. At their first meeting this fall they elected the following officers: Irma Giegler, president; Dorothy Thorsburg, vice-pres.; Frances Bachelor, sec., and Eleanor DeGroot, treas.

The girls sent their president as a delegate to the State Convention of the Michigan Home Economics Association at Battle Creek on October 13.

Now they are busy preparing for the school and community fair which is to be held on October 26 and 27. In charge of the Home Economics exhibits are Eleanor Grogg, Jane McNeal, Frances Bachelor, Dorothy Thorsburg is in charge of plans for their lunch room, Genevieve Thibodeau and Coral Lang assisting her.

The girls are looking forward to a most successful year. The co-operation of home makers of the Community in building up the home economics exhibition at the fair will give them a good start toward realizing their hopes.

PLAN SOCIAL EVENING

A social evening is being planned for the members of Farmington Lodge No. 151, F. & A. M. Monday, October 23, at 8 o'clock p. m. A light lunch will be served. Do not miss it.

Fraternally
James L. Hogie, Sec'y.

Evangelical Concert Wins High Approval

On Wednesday October 18, the Salem Evangelical Choir under the direction of their pastor, Rev. Wm Breitenbach rendered the first of a series of concerts to be given this winter.

The auditorium was filled with an appreciative and responsive audience which regarded the concert as one worthy of any musical organization in even a very large city.

Comments were many and enthusiastic on the high quality of the program.

Milk Producers To Hold Election

Annual Meeting Next Tuesday Night

The annual meeting of the Farmington local of the Michigan Milk Producers Association will be held in the Town Hall at Farmington next Tuesday evening, October 24 at 8:00 o'clock. This meeting is called for the election of delegates to the State wide annual meeting at Lansing which will be held on November 2. And for the election of local officers.

Every milk producer in this locality is urged to attend.

FORD EXPOSITION OF PROGRESS TO OPEN SATURDAY

The Ford Motor Company is presenting a National Ford Exposition of Progress, which will open Saturday, October 21st at Convention Hall, Detroit and continue until the following Saturday, October 28th, Sunday excepted.

This Exposition, costing hundreds of thousands of dollars, will vividly portray how farms, mines and factories in all parts of the United States, and in many foreign countries, contribute to the manufacture of the Ford Car.

One Hundred and seventy five suppliers of the Ford Motor Company have in this great industrial exhibit. Their exhibits will contain practically everything that goes to make up the Ford Automobile. Bodies will be manufactured and trimmed—there will be the welding of Steel Spoke Wheels—looms weaving Mohair and Broadcloth, and imported live Rubber Trees growing.

In the center of the great exhibit, will be a reproduction of the historic one story brick Workshop on Bagley Avenue, where Mr. Henry Ford built his first Motor Car back in 1893. There will be moving pictures and an automobile museum with the first and second cars, Seymour Simons, with his great New York Band will be in constant attendance.

The Exposition occupies Convention Hall and all of its annexes.

Powerful spotlights will play from the entrances, while a unique lighting effect, together with decorations on the interior, will give Convention Hall a World's Fair appearance.

On Saturday, October 21st at 6:30 p. m. the Exposition will be officially opened with a Naval Salute of some twenty one explosions in four different sections of the City, each explosion to carry a distance of ten miles.

During the week, thousands of School Children are expected to visit Convention Hall. Students will write essays, and prizes are to be awarded for the best compositions.

This is not an automobile show, but a departure from conventional displays—a live working exhibit with every foot of floor space of interesting and spectacular features.

Junior Woman's Club Begins Study Course

The Farmington Junior Woman's Club were guests of Mrs. C. Chamberlain Monday evening.

This half of the year the Club is studying "The Art of Living," for this week June Johnson presented a paper on "The Art of Dress," which was read by Jean Storms, after which a general discussion followed.

There is a state Convention of Women's Clubs being held at the Book Cadillac Hotel this week and the club is sending two delegates to the Junior dinner Friday evening.

Judge says: "And strangely enough, hot air will not thaw out frozen assets."

Potato Raiding Follows Attack By Apple Thieves

Marauders Dig Up Patch At Night; 2 Held For Assault

The epidemic of stealing produce from farmers of this vicinity has reached its climax during the past few days, with the stealing of one man who had apprehended thieves in an orchard, and digging of a large quantity of potatoes on the farm of another resident at night-time, the potato thieves escaping without leaving a trace.

Two men are held in the County Jail at Pontiac without bail, on charges of felonious assault. William Sukowski of Farmington Township is recovering from stab wounds suffered when he caught the two men in the Sukowski orchard on Hlsted Road Tuesday afternoon.

The men held are two River Rouge negroes, Harry Williams, 19 and Elsie Jacobs, 26. They were seen on the Daines farm taking apples. Mr. Sukowski was informed they had been in the orchard and had dug up the potatoes. After them, the men being on foot. As he got out of his car the fracas began. Sukowski told officers Williams pulled a jack-knife and started stabbing him, whereupon he struck back with a wrench. The defendants claim Sukowski carried the wrench with him and struck first.

Deputy DeVriendt took the men into custody. Before Judge John J. Schulte they pleaded guilty to stealing apples, and waived examination on the assault charge.

The orchard is owned by Albert Sukowski, brother of the men stabbed. Mr. Sukowski was cut on the back of the head and neck, but his wounds are not serious.

Dig Up Potatoes

Fifteen bushels of potatoes were dug up by unknown thieves Tuesday night on the farm of Clyde Seeley of Farmington Township. The patch faces Northwestern Highway.

Authorities report the potato-digging is a new form of theft that is causing serious concern throughout this section.
