HURT WHILE COASTING
An unpleasant reminder of a gay coasting party Wednesday night is possessed by Margaret Webster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Reed Webster. While she was coasting with friends on a hill north of Shiawasses street, Margaret's sled hit a tree. Two cracked ribs and a cracked shoulder black resulted.

TOT'S TELEPHONE CALL SAVES HER MOTHER'S LIFE.

Because she had been taught how to use the telephone, a little six-year old girl of Washington, D. C., probably saved her mother's life the other day.

The mother had fainted, and did not rospood to the child's attempt to awaken her. When she noticed as a constant of the telephone and secaused, "I want a cop. Mother's been hurted."

The operator connected her with

been hurted."

The operator connected her with a police station, and a policeman took the message. The child could not tell where she was, except that she was there at the telephone. So the policeman kept her tikling while the call was being traced, and help reached the mother in time to save her life.
