FARMINGTON TO PARTICIPATE IN 'POPPY DAY' SALE

Farmington will be called upon to honor the World War dead and give aid to the war's living victims by wearing memorial poppies on May 26th. This day, the Saturday before Memorial Day, will be "Poppy Day" throughout the United States and will be generally observed by the wearing of the red flower of Flanders Fields.

Observance of "Poppy Day" here will be directed by the American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. James Hogle, President of the local Auxiliary Unit has announced. Women of the Auxiliary will distribute poppies on the streets and receive contributions for the Auxiliary's welfare and relief work among the disabled veterans and their families.

Organization of a corps of volunteer workers to distribute the memorial flowers throughout the city is going forward rapidly. A large supply of the poppies has been ordered from Veterans' Hospital at Battle Creek where disabled veterans have been given employment during the winter and spring making the little paper flowers.

"The purpose of 'Poppy Day' is to give everyone an opportunity to pay individual tribute to the men who gave their lives in defense of the nation," said a Veterans' organization official. "The little act of wearing a poppy touches the individual more closely than large public ceremonies in which he is only a spectator and awakens a realization of the individual responsibility to the nation so greatly needed at this time. 'Poppy Day' also gives everyone an opportunity to share in the vast work which the American Legion and Auxiliary are doing for the disabled men, their families and the families of the dead."

Water Intoxication Is Possible, Doctor Says

The water you drink makes up 90 per cent of the fluid part of your blood. It carries through your body the essential food substances, the salts and the waste material, says the editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Although you may be able to go for days or more without food, you can live only four or five days without water.

Practically all physiologists agree that six glasses of water daily is a minimum for health and that eight glasses should be the average. But it should be borne in mind that too much water may be as bad as too little.

You may even get drunk on it. There is a condition called water intoxication.

If you are a normal person you may drink one or two glasses of water at a meal. Water, therefore, may be taken in moderation between meals and at meals for the good of your health.

Good drinking water is preferably cool but not ice cold. It should be available in a clean, well-lighted place.

LACK OF TELEPHONE PROVES DISASTROUS—Lynch, Neb., World
The need of a telephone in the house was brought out forcibly when a bolt of lightning set fire to buildings on the Yunk farm northwest of town last Friday morning. With no means of summoning help at his command, Mr. Knapp rushed to the home of a neighbor to use his phone but found also that the neighbor was without a telephone. He was then obliged to go all the way to town to call the Fire Department and by the time help reached the farm great damage had been done by the flames. The cost of telephone service could have been paid for many times over with the amount of money involved in the loss.

When Mark Twain Edited a Newspaper

A subscriber wrote him that he had found a spider in his paper and wished to know whether it meant good luck or bad. Twain replied, "Finding a spider in your paper is neither good luck nor bad. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising, so that he could go to that store, spin his web across the door and lead a life of undisturbed peace."
