

Junior Women Have Their Annual Meeting

The Junior Woman's Club held their annual meeting in the form of a picnic supper at the home of Mrs. Harrison Johnson, Tuesday evening. Each member brought a guest from the graduating class of the high school.

The new officers for the coming year are: President, Eileen Lapham; Vice-president, Jean Storms; Recording Secretary, Olive Grimwade; Corresponding Secretary, June Johnson; Treasurer, Virginia Bestwick.

It was voted to confer honorary membership on Miss Merlah Andrews who was responsible for the organization of the club, and on Mrs. R. C. Burns and Mrs. H. Johnson who are past sponsors.

The Ladies of Salem Evangelical Church will serve supper between 5 and 7 o'clock on occasion of the Flower Show to be held June 14 at the Church Hall.

To Occupy New Home On Brookdale Drive

A new residence will be added to Farmington this summer. A site on Brookdale Drive has been selected for the construction of a home by E. G. Hartz, father of Mrs. Delos Hamlin.

Mr. Hartz has owned a lot just south of the Hamlin residence on Brookdale for some time and work was started on the construction of a new house Wednesday.

Residents of Bay City, Mr. and Mrs. Hartz have many friends in Farmington, having spent considerable time here visiting at the home of their daughter.

Americanism: Listening to alien labor agitators and failing to thank God that you finally succeeded in getting the old job back again.

Woman's Club Holds Concluding Meeting

The last meeting of the season was held at the home of Mrs. Martha Wagner. About fifty members and guests enjoyed a delicious luncheon.

Francis E. Courtney a hand-writing expert of Detroit gave an interesting blackboard talk.

RECORD CROWD SEES NEW FAIR

Street of Villages Gets Big Play; Lights All New.

Chicago.—More than 235,000 persons saw the new World's Fair here on its first week-end. A record opening crowd of 154,683 Saturday, May 25, surpassed last year's opening day figure by 84,983. The following day's crowd of 81,241 was greater by 23,557 than the same day in 1933.

President Roosevelt, through the medium of a motion picture shown at several points on the grounds, officially opened the Exposition. As he closed an electric switch the new lights blazed forth, for the first time.

Visitors were surprised to find the Fair complete, and fully up to the promises made that it would be new.

Lights Trace Sky Ride. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, first lady of the land, inaugurated the outstanding new feature, the world's largest fountain. Like the President, she appeared in a motion picture. At a magical wave of her hand the giant waterspouts rose from the north in a play of colored light.

Lighting, the most talked-of thing about the 1933 Fair, revealed wonders never approached on the 1931 opening night. Co-ordination of lighting and color were more in evidence. Under the lights the new Century of Progress purple-red, theme color of the new Exposition, presented a glowing beauty that was different. Buildings, grouped with respect to color in light as well as color in paint, revealed a new harmony.

The Sky Ride, almost lost to vision at night formerly, greeted visitors with all its catenary system traced against the sky in electric light. Bright red neon tubes outlined the observation platforms 628 feet above the Fair.

From the south end of the Ford building, a pillar of blue light, 200 feet thick and more than a mile high, pierced the clouds overhead. The lighting load of this 900-foot-long building is more than doubling the total load of the entire Fair of last year.

Foreign Villages Popular. New lights in the lagoon and a new "Aurora Borealis" of searchlights at the north end of the grounds, complementing that at the south end, completed the major changes in the night time illumination.

Mecca for the opening day throngs was the new Street of Villages. The "four of the world in a single day" offered by the fifteen reproductions of far-away lands in the new Fair proved to be an idea that "clicked."

Eleven of the foreign villages are grouped together where the Midway was in 1933. Here are an Irish village, with the atmosphere that was known by the ancient chieftains who met in Tara Hall; the Spanish village, largest ever built, for any Fair; Tunisia, the "Land of the Bedouins"; the Italian village, with its leaning tower and time-worn Roman ruins.

Free Entertainment. Visitors saw the Tower of London and watched Shakespeare's plays presented in a reproduction of Shakespeare's original Globe theater in the English village; saw ice-skating under the summer sun in the German Black Forest Village; saw Old North Church, Mount Vernon, and the home of Paul Revere in the American Colonial village; relaxed in the luxury of a North African desert village in the Oasis; thrilled to the charm of native folk dances in the lovely Belgian village, and entered the galeaty of Montmartre in the Streets of Paris.

Elsewhere on the grounds they found a Dutch village, a Mexican village, a Swiss village and the Streets of Shanghai.

URGES USE OF TELEPHONE - NUMBER ON LETTERHEADS

John Howie Wright, author and editor, "marks down" the value of a business letterhead five per cent if it does not carry the firm's telephone number.

A complete letterhead, in the opinion of Mr. Wright, should answer three questions: Who? What? Where? The name of the firm answers the first question, the business of the firm answers the second, while the address of the firm is the third. In the opinion of Mr. Wright, the telephone number is a part of the address.

Says the well-known editor: "The purpose of a business letterhead is to help business. If a prospect or customer of yours receives a letter from you and wishes to immediately get in touch with you by telephone, you should make it easy for him to do so. If a prospect or customer of yours is in a hurry for some stationery and wishes to send a messenger to your place of business, it should not be necessary for him to look up the address. If you want to do business with me and want to use your letterhead as one of the mediums of telling me about your business, please do not put me to any unnecessary trouble."

Mr. Wright is a specialist in direct-mail advertising.

ANSWERS TELEPHONE'S RING AT NIGHT, RESCUES TWO

When the telephone bell rang in the middle of the night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Talcott of Washington, D. C., recently, Mr. Talcott was far from pleased at being disturbed at such an hour. Afterward, he considered it one of the most fortunate events in his life. For, as a result of this telephone call, he saved the lives of his daughter, Lois, and a friend, Carlton Traft, whom she had been entertaining in the recreation room of the house.

They had been sitting, talking before a burning gas heater, and when Mr. Talcott was about to retire up stairs again, after putting the receiver back on the hook, he noticed the motionless forms of his daughter and her friend. The gas heater apparently had consumed the oxygen in the room and his daughter and her guest had been overcome before realizing it. The fire rescue squad was summoned and they were revived after receiving first aid treatment.

HOME DECORATION INSTITUTE
PITTSBURGH PLATE GLASS CO.
With Us
June 8th and 9th

Her "Home Chats" will be given at 10, 11 and 2 o'clock each day. Won't you arrange to meet this lady? Come in any time. You will be welcome and we know you will feel your time has been well spent.

Mrs. Durant is anxious to assist you in your home decoration problems. She has suggestions that will enable you to economically and quickly make your home more attractive and charming.

She will show you how to salvage that old chair or odd piece that has found its way to the attic or basement, make it beautiful again and useful.

She will tell you how to restore beauty to that old worn linoleum; how to wash your wallpaper, painted walls and woodwork.

She has for your inspection a marvelous set of color schemes—one for each room in the home.

Phillips 66 Comes to Farmington!

"HIGHEST TEST" AND anti-knock at the price of ordinary gasoline

We are bringing to Farmington for the first time what we sincerely believe to be America's finest gasoline, and we hope you will try some of it—we know you will become a regular user of it.

Our station is handy—Farmington Road just off Grand River (the former Chamberlain's Sinclair Station), and we will be glad to see you. May we tell you just a bit about this exceptional Phillips 66 Gasoline?

You know what a difference high test makes in a motor. But do you know that Phillips is the world's largest producer of natural high test gasoline? Do you realize that only Phillips consistently publishes its gravity (or high test) figures?

You get more power and more miles. Better miles, too. Smoother, swifter, quieter. And your engine is so responsive and flexible that there is added pleasure in motoring.

But five gallons tell more than five thousand words. Hence we make this worth while suggestion: Before you buy your next tankful of gas, come to our station with t Orange and Black 66 shield, and t MILL-UP WITH PHILLIPS!

Month by month, Phillips shows how this gravity range changes as Phillips 66 is matched to the variations in your weather. Thus the Phillips process of CONTROLLED VOLATILITY protects and insures finer performance.
