METHODIST CHURCH AT CLARENCEVILLE UNDERGOES REPAIRS

The Clarenceville M. E. Church at the corner of Cambridge and Grand River Avenue, has been undergoing extensive alterations. The front of the church has been changed considerably. A new belfry has been added, new windows put in, the roof overhauled, new siding on the front and a new paint job have transformed an erstwhile unfinished building into a house of worship more fitting to its location and to the civic pride of Clarenceville.

Inside the building, the lighting system has been checked, the switch box moved and the meter placed outside. The stairway and hall have been lathed, plastered and finished in a colored sand finish. A colored glass window has been added to the front.

Plans for the improvement and the manner in which funds were to be raised to carry out the project have been in charge of the Forward Movement Committee, with Dr. A. P. Worthman, a non-member, appointed chairman.

Provided $300 could be raised locally, the Methodist Union of Great-ly, Detroit pledged $200 and the services of Earl Confer, a Detroit architect, were secured gratis.

The work of improvement was carried on in the belief that the people of Clarenceville would back up this project, knowing that every right thinking man and woman realized the far reaching influences of the church over more than 100 years past.

The church in its Sunday school, to date $225 have been donated leaving a balance of $415 to be raised.

A full and intensified program for this fall in the church Sunday School is planned beginning with a dedication service conducted by Dr. Walter R. Fruit, district superintendent, early in September.

"Half A Sinner"—"The Love Captive" Coming

Berton Churchill, internationally distinguished actor, who has created many outstanding roles on Broadway, is coming to the Northville Penniman Allen theatre Saturday, Aug. 18, in "Half A Sinner," adapted from the play "Alias the Deacon" in which he starred on Broadway.

With him in the film will be Hollywood's newest romantic team, Joel McCrea and Sally Blane.

If the hypnotist refuses to release the subject—what then?

"This is the problem which faces a group of people in the amazing Universal drama, "The Love Captive," coming to the local showhouse Wednesday, Aug. 22, with Gloria Stuart and Nils Asther in the leading roles. Asther is seen as an unscrupulous hypnotic physician, who gains the apparent love of Miss Stuart by his own mental suggestion causing her to break her engagement to her sweetheart, and placing her friends under his influence when they attempt to aid her.

Three Pillars in Lee's

Hill From Constitution

"Leeland," the ancestral home of one branch of the famous Lee family of Virginia was built at Shepherdstown in 1829 by Edmund Jennings Lee, a grandson of Richard Henry Lee, signer of the Declaration of Independence, and a first cousin of Robert E. Lee, the Confederate chieftain. At the time the mansion was built, observes a writer in the Kansas City Times, Shepherdstown was within the boundaries of old Virginia. Aside from the many historic traditions that are associated with "Leeland," this old mansion is noted for the fact that the three pillars in front were the original mast of the famous old flagship, the frigate Constitution, emblazoned in American memories as "Old Ironsides."

The masts were obtained during the War of the Revolution when the old ship was dismantled and rebuilt. The old masts were selected for use in the "Leeland," which was destroyed by fire a short time before the Civil war.

"Old Ironsides" acquired other masts in other days. One of the latter is now the property of the Topeka high school, the gift of former Vice President Charles Curtis.

Mozart's Useful Nose

Mozart had, according to all accounts, an exceedingly well-developed nasal protuberance, and used it to advantage in a challenge to Haydn, so the story goes. Mozart was Haydn's pupil, and Haydn challenged him to produce a composition of his own which he (Haydn) could not play at sight, and Mozart could. Mozart wrote a little piece, and Haydn sat down to play. Presently he came to a passage which required the hands to be stretched out to the extreme top and bottom keys of the instrument, while there was a note to be played in the center. He was unable to play it, but Mozart sat down, and on reaching the passage stretched out his hands, bent forward, and struck the middle note with his nose.

Migrations of Animals

Migrations of huge herds of wild animals have become a puzzle to naturalists. Why certain species move on annually only to return again to familiar territory, why other species dig in and stay through good and bad weather, are questions still to be adequately answered. Authorities at the Museum of Natural History say that certain well-known groups of animals may always be counted on to migrate with changing seasons. The caribou, elk, certain bats, the whale, are among the number. Trappers have observed that the lynx is migratory, and also the marten and the hare, though the wolf and fox remain in one locality unless starved out.

Mohammed's Hegira

Hegira is the word used commonly to mean an emigration of large bodies of population, originally designated a single emigration, which led to the establishment of the Mohammedan religion. Mohammed, threatened with death at the hands of his jealous kinsfolk, left Mecca secretly in 622, seeking refuge in Medina. In Medina, he found the populace more amenable to his religious doctrines and he soon developed a large following which pledged him every support, military and otherwise. The successful battles waged against his adversaries soon brought Mohammedanism to supremacy.

Instruments Crack in Studio

So dry was the atmosphere in an old wine cellar that had been converted into a broadcasting studio by the British Broadcasting corporation in London, that wooden instruments kept there for use by orchestras began to crack. The British did not want to give up their wine-cellar studio, so they built a series of trays containing water around the walls of the instrument room, and this provided the requisite humidity.

"Red Riding Hood" First Out With Other Stories

It is said that the story of Red Riding Hood is a solar myth, following the path of the red sun from its home in the east, across the fields and cloudy woods of the sky, to the dirt cottage of the west, where it is destroyed by the wolf of night, says Tit-Bits Magazine.

However that may be, nobody seems to have known much of the tale as it appeared in a book having the strange title: "Histoires ou Contes du temps passe, arce des Moralites," and bearing on the back of the cover another title: "Contes de ma mere l'Oye," which may be translated: "Stories or fables of olden times, with a moral," and "Stories of Mother Goose."

The book was published in the time of Louis XIV, and was written by one of his most distinguished subjects, an old member of the French academy, who thought little of it. In this book, besides "Little Red Riding Hood," appeared such world-known stories as "Cinderella," "Bluebeard," "Puss-in-Boots," "Tom Thumb," and "The Sleeping Beauty."

The author's name was Charles Perrault, but the book was published under the name of his ten-year-old son, and it may be that some old village or nurse had actually related these stories to the child, and that they had been taken down by the father in their original simple form and language. No one will ever know how much was original and how much was folk lore.

Corned Beef Recommended

By Agricultural Experts

Beef which can not be used fresh or which can not be canned may be preserved by drying or corning to provide palatable meat dishes in the future, according to the animal husbandry department at Michigan State College.

Corned beef has an ancient and honorable history and appeals to almost everyone. Cooked alone or in combination with vegetables, this is one dish that causes the family to ask for seconds. The necessity of reducing the number of cattle in the State and the low market prices now paid for common cattle will make it possible to prepare corned beef from good cuts at a very low cost.

Visiting Periods At State Parks Limited

Over-crowded conditions at Michigan's state parks and other circumstances have made it necessary this year for the Parks Division, Department of Conservation to limit to one-week and two-week maximum visiting periods.

Camping privileges of no more than one week are allowed at parks in Oakland, Livingston, Macomb, St. Clair, Ottawa and Bay counties. The maximum in all other parks is two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. George Eckert and daughter Olive of Detroit were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Fink.

Otis Jensen attended a reunion at the home of his brother, A. W. Hill of Vermontville, over the week end.

CHEVROLET

The exceptional popularity which Chevrolet has enjoyed for many years has naturally had its effect on Chevrolet prices. Large sales have enabled Chevrolet to maintain consistently low purchase prices, which were recently lowered even further. As a result Chevrolet now offers you the lowest priced six-cylinder automobile obtainable—a big, comfortable car with Fisher Body styling and refinement—safe, weatherproof, cable-controlled brakes—the smoothness and economy of a valve-in-head, six-cylinder engine—and typical Chevrolet dependability. In offering this car, and the Master models, at substantially lower prices, Chevrolet hopes to repay the motoring public in some measure, for consistently placing Chevrolet so high in public favor.
