book or ash tray or not pull the re-ceiver hook all the way down.

The effect is the same as if the receiver were left entirely off the hook. Under those circumstances, no one can make a call to or from that telephone. The line is reported out of order, and if it is a party line, all telephones connected with it are put out of commission until the offending receiver is properly replaced on the hook. Detection, for example, this hoppend nearly 40-000 times has treat, and in over 4,000 of these cases it was necessary to send a repairman to visit the prem-ises in order to find out what the trouble was and to correct it.

Old ways were better. You could wrap the lines around the whipstock without danger of hitting a telephone pole.

Automobile distance from the western area of the Upper Penin-sula and the metropolitan area of the Lower Peninsula will be reduced approximately 50 miles through construction of a new trunk line route between Clare and Frankfort, for which a half million dollars is allocated from the $6,500,-000 Federal road program, ap-proved this week by Federal of-ficials, announced State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner.

The 1935 road and bridge program lists four projects in the master plan to close gaps between the Detroit metropolitan area and the Upper Peninsula and shorten the traveling time between them.
