Farmington Gridders To Face Trenton

Blue And White Drops Game To Berkeley Eleven On Home Field

With a season's record of two losses and one victory behind it, Farmington High School's football team will journey to Trenton on Friday to try and even its percentage column.

With what he views as an especially weak pass defense and inferior blocking, Coach H. B. Kammerer is frankly worried over his team's chances. Chuck Lee will not return to duty for this game and Carl Smith will probably not start due to an injury received in the Berkeley game last Friday.

Berkley won Friday's game 15-0 when Farmington gave its poorest exhibition of the year. The entire game was played in Farmington territory and some supporters thought that the Blue and White was lucky to hold Berkeley to two touchdowns and a safety.

Farmington backs hit the line hard but the line failed to open holes. The absence of Lee and the refusal of the team to play a more open game plainly hurt Farmington's defense was easily fooled by the Berkeley double wing back defense. Time and again Farmington tacklers went after the wrong man. The Berkeley passing attack was well executed.

The starting lineup for the Berkeley game was as follows: Bob Lockridge, left end; John Clapp, left tackle; Alvin Rose, left guard; D. Parker, center; Fred Bailey, right guard; W. Rose, right tackle; Carl Smith, right end; Harvey Hamilton, quarterback; Himmelsbach and Glassford, halfbacks; and Harney Hamilton, fullback.

Substitutes who saw action were Frank Hamilton, Harry Linklater, Trotter, Robinson and Norm Barons.

Says Attack Made In Farmington Tp.

Jurors, Court Attendants Visit Place On Inkster Road

Jurors, attorneys, and court attendants of Oakland County Circuit Court made a pilgrimage to a lonely spot in Farmington Township Wednesday afternoon to get a first hand glimpse of the place where a Detroit woman charges a man drove her last July and beat and attacked her. The place is on Inkster road, north of Grand River. The attack is alleged by Mrs. Marian Wright, 28 years old, of 1761 Lombard street, Detroit, to have taken place July 18. She charges that Lee Hart, 26 years old, 19230 Andover street, Detroit, was her assailant.

The trial of Hart is now in progress before Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty.

Hart was arrested by Detroit police after Mrs. Wright informed her husband of her alleged treatment and had furnished the license number of Hart's automobile.

Mrs. Wright declared on the stand that she and five other women were making a house to house canvass in Brighton and that her car broke down on Grand River avenue, in Detroit. She left it in a garage and she said Hart offered to drive her home.

She testified that Hart drove to the spot described by her and when she tried to escape he overtook her and "beat me terribly. I thought I was going to die," she said.

After being tied to the branches of a tree with her own clothing, she testified that she was allowed to leave the place and was driven by Hart to a gasoline station where she obtained a spare pair of shoes from her car and was then driven to Seven Mile road and Woodward avenue.

It was indicated by Hart's early testimony that he would probably make complete denial of Mrs. Wright's charges.

Production At Winery Is At Peak

Year's Production May Reach a Total of 600,000 Gallons of Wine

Stimulation in large amounts can be had in Farmington gratis. A tour of inspection through Farmington's newest and largest industrial plant, the LaSalle Vines & Champagnes Inc., at Farmington Junction, will make most heads dizzy—dizzy for two reasons.

The odor of fermenting grapes will be caught by the observer when still some distance from the plant, and if this is not enough in the way of stimulation, some of the figures reeled off by C. A. Mayhew, secretary of the corporation will do the rest.

Grapes from all over Michigan are daily pouring into the plant in quantities of 80 to 100 tons a day, all of which is sent through the wine presses the day it is received. A carload of sugar is used every three days throughout the pressing season, which began September 25 and will continue until about the middle of November, depending upon the weather.

Mr. Mayhew said that from 2,000 to 2,500 tons of grapes would be used this season. These grapes are all from the Grand Traverse and an unusually fine crop this season. All grapes that have been offered by growers in this vicinity have been bought, Mayhew said.

The grapes pressed this season will make more than a half million gallons of wine. The total output for the season may reach 600,000 gallons, it is believed. Wines made from these grapes will not be ready for market for one to three years.

The plant has a capacity of fermenting 120,000 gallons every five days. Twenty-five persons are employed in the plant.

The pressing season is just reaching its peak and at one time Thursday afternoon there were 15 trucks loaded with grapes waiting their turn for the presses. The process of wine making is very simple, even when carried out on the large scale that it is at the LaSalle plant. The grapes are brought in in truck loads and an expert chemist inspects each load before the grapes are tossed into the presses. The presses do not separate the juice from the pulp but only crush the fruit. The entire mass is then transported by means of a huge hose to the fermenting tanks where the juice and pulp is left for five days. The mass is then conveyed to a separator where the pulp is sent down a long chute to the bottom of the furnace and the juice goes into storage. The pulp is a brightly new purple and at times the pile becomes as high as a second story window.

Fifty kinds of wines are made by LaSalle besides champagne. The wines produced are Windsor Club, Grand-Vin Royal, Sherry, Sauternes, Sherry (67), Port (67), Windsor Port, Windsor Sherry, Vin Blanc, Vin Rouge, Reims, Tokay, Select Port, and Cherry.

AMENDMENT WOULD TAKE JUDGES OFF PARTISAN BALLOT

The proposed constitutional amendment for the non-partisan election of judges, which will be submitted to the voters on November 6th, is attracting wide attention and "and" Mrs. James C. Hogles, whose marriage was solemnized September 27 of this year.

The primary purpose of the amendment, says Walter Meek, Detroit attorney and secretary of the Committee, "is to give the people of Michigan an opportunity to vote for the men they want as their judges, regardless of party label. Judges should be elected for their individual qualifications for the job, not because they carry some particular party brand. Unbiased public opinion is fast coming to regard this amendment as a step forward in insuring the independence of our courts from political party influence. Judges should be responsible to all the citizens of the state, not to any particular group."

Petitions bearing the names of over 210,000 voters were filed last July with the Secretary of State, asking that the proposed amendment be submitted at the November election. It will be proposal No. 1 on the ballot.

Charles Wilson, Farmington Township attorney, retained as counsel by Waggoner, asked dismissal of the charge when Waggoner was brought before Judge John J. Schulte Friday for examination.

Judge Schulte reserved his decision as to whether he would grant the petition or bind the constable over to Circuit Court for trial.

Wilson argued a point of law with the court and said that he would return the next day to prove his point. Judge Schulte said on Wednesday that he had returned but that action would be postponed until at least late in the week.

WALLED LAKE WINS FOOTBALL GAME BY SCORE OF 7 TO 6

Walled Lake won over Clawson on the Resorter's field Friday afternoon by a score of 7 to 6.

The game was a close one from start to finish. Clawson's heavy line showed lack of condition and held the fiery attack of the home team by sheer weight. Neither team made consistent gains in open field and both teams held when forced within their own twenty yard line. Both teams were in scoring position during the first half but no score was made.

In the punting duel Creevy of Clawson had the best of it and his interference was largely responsible for the success of Jacobs, Clawson's quarter, in advancing the ball around the Walled Lake ends. Myers did some good booting for the Resorter's but did not show up to last year's form in broken field running.

In the middle of the third quarter Jacobs carried the ball across the Walled Lake line for the first of the game. Creevy tried a place kick for the extra point but the ball passed under the bar. The home defense tightened and the visitors' gained little ground the rest of the quarter.

In the last quarter the Resorter's began a steady march through the weary Clawson line that ended with Myers carrying the pigskin across for the tie score of 6 to 6. A wobbly pass that seemed impossible to catch was grabbed successfully by G. Richardson, Clawson's end, and he was able to clinch the extra point and the game.

Lineups were as follows: Walled Lake: C. Roselle; RG, Van Acker; LG, Scarritt; E, Ellenwood; LT, Long; RE, W. Ellerwood; LE, H. Giegler; C, Power; RH, Richardson; LH, Harris (Capt.); FB, Myers. Substitutes, Mitchell for Van Acker, Bauman for Scarritt, Diem for W. Ellerwood.

Clawson: C, Herkimer; RG, Brown; LG, Yenko; RT, Lewis; LT, Schrader; RE, McKay; LE, Heitman; C, Jacobs; RH, Wilson; LH, Hatcher; FB, Creevy. Substitutes, Cowling for Hatcher, Palmer for Brown, Hallik for Palmer.

Three seniors from Walled Lake had attended the Cranbrook conference of Oakland County students and teachers Saturday, October 6.

The conference began with a service in Christ Church at 9:30 which was addressed by Dr. S. S. Farquhar on the subject, "Can the World be Saved?" After the service discussions were held by George Kimball of Pontiac, George Carhart of Pontiac, Mr. Williams of Christ Church, and Mr. Miller. Students entered heartily into the discussions and showed that they were deeply interested in the world problems of the present.

Mayor Lends Support To NHA Plan

Calls Upon City To Give Assistance To Better Housing Program

Official Farmington threw its support to the Federal Government this week by calling upon the people of the City of Farmington to help in carrying out the Better Housing Program in Farmington.

The program is based upon the National Housing Act and is being administered by the Federal Housing Administration.

Farmington State Bank became an important cog of the Federal Government two months ago when it was appointed an agent of the Federal Government to make loans to property owners in Farmington and vicinity for alteration, repair and improvement of their property.

Carl G. Hogles is the Farmington agent of the committee which will endeavor to carry out the Program locally.

The purpose of the Program is two-fold: It provides funds for home improvement to property owners and in so doing provides work for unemployed artisans.

A proclamation issued Wednesday by Mayor Howard M. Warner said:

"Whereas the National Housing Act, through the Federal Housing Administration, has made it possible for the owner of real property to:

"Better the living conditions of his family, increase the efficiency of his business, protect and safeguard his investment, make possible the 'morale and workmanship' of his employees, improve the standards and civic pride of his neighborhood.

"NOW, THEREFORE, Be it known, that plans have been perfected for launching a BETTER HOUSING PROGRAM in Farmington beginning Monday, October 15. This date to mark the opening of the Better Housing Campaign, the purpose of which is to stimulate repairs, alterations and improvements to homes and business properties. In this worthy and vital movement, made possible by the National Housing Act, we believe that every owner of real property act at once. Every property owner who puts men to work and creates a demand for building materials and services will find that he will have many times in personal, as well as commercial, benefits. Your participation in the Better Housing Program means better business, better surroundings and better living for every citizen of this community. The opportunity and the challenge are yours! I call upon you to act!" (Signed) Howard M. Warner, Mayor.

The only stipulations made by the Government in loaning sums of $100 to $2000 to property owners are that borrowers must own the property for which the loan is asked, they must have an annual income at least five times greater than the annual payments to be made on the loan, and have a good credit rating. Owners of mortgaged property or property bought on contract, if not in default, are considered eligible under this plan.

Loans are to be repaid in one, two or three years, depending on the amount borrowed. The only interest charge is a five per cent discount, deducted at the time the loan is granted.
