School Welfare Is Up To State

Rep. Lee Says Legislature Must Take Action

The next session of Michigan's Legislature will have to take some far-reaching action to help keep open schools of the State, just as was done in the last session, Rep. Melvin H. Lee told members of Farmington Exchange Club at their meeting Wednesday noon. The present act, designed to provide $15,000,000 yearly in State aid, is effective only until June 30, 1935.

Mr. Lee contended that the financing of education by the State must be regarded not merely as a temporary expedient, but as a permanent program. He related that four years ago, he began asserting that many of the schools soon would close unless the State helped, and was called "fool" because his prophecy has been borne out. He asserted that "the State owes every child equal opportunity for education through the twelfth grade," and suggested that the State pay all of the teachers' salaries, which are the largest portion of school expense. He advocated retention of local school governing bodies.

Rep. Lee urged defeat of amendments 1 and 2, limiting tax and weight taxes and passage of No. 5, abolishing the requirement of uniform taxation, in the November election. This, he said, would aid in devising comprehensive State measures for schools.

Rep. Lee was the guest of Joseph Himmelspach.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hogle Observe Their Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hogle observed their Golden Wedding anniversary Monday. They were married October 15, 1884.

They held open house during the afternoon, receiving more than 75 friends who called to offer congratulations. In the evening, they were honor guests at the home of a daughter, Mrs. George Simmons, where 24 friends and relatives had been invited to dinner.

Married October 15, 1884, at the home of the bride's Grand River avenue, James C. Hogle and Miss Minnie Gordon. Rev. Charles DeAltry was the officiating clergyman.

Please observe that this notice refers to an event that happened 50 years ago. In this day and age it may seem like a long time to many people, but to James and Mrs. Hogle was the daughter of Catherine Gordon, a widow who came to Farmington with her family in 1877. Mrs. Hogle received her education in a man and woman school at Adamsburg, Kansas. She became the efficient and very popular employee of one of the leading business houses of the town.

James Hogle, of Jim, as he is known, is a successful businessman to Farmington when a young man, engaged in the drug business, buying and owning the store now occupied by E. Schweim. His drug store was a popular place, and the first in town to have a telephone. It was days and months before another was installed in the town.

Mrs. Hogle has been honored by election to office again and again. For 20 years he held the office of Supervisor which is the all-time record for that office in Farmington. He was also elected to the office of County treasurer for two terms. He is the present efficient secretary of Farmington Lodge No. 151, F. & A. M. His incumbency of that office has been so long that the memory of man runs not to the contrary.

Mrs. Hogle is a leading member of the Eastern Star and has held all the offices in the gift of the local lodge. Her energy and zeal for the Order has done much to make it the strong and successful institution that it is at the present time. Always kind, patient and helpful, her life has enriched the community in which she lives.

Three children were born to this couple, Ralph, a leading business man of Redford until his untimely death a few years ago caused his parents much sorrow; Cal, a successful business man of our City; and Norine, wife of George Simmons, prominent farmer and fruit grower of Novi. They also have an adopted son, James Jr., who was graduated from Illinois Military School in 1930 and from Michigan State College in 1934.

The friends and neighbors of this well-known couple hope that the sunset years will be happy years, the best of all.

"We write our lives where we dwell on those who love and know us well. Strangers may cheer us from afar but Neighbors see us as we are."—Neighbor.

New Quarters Of Farmington Dairy Will Be Opened About November 1

A dairy and ice cream plant, said to be inferior to none in any community in the United States, is being built by the Farmington Dairy. Joseph Himmelspach, manager of the Farmington Dairy, made the announcement this week.

The plant, which is being built on the property formerly built by the D. U. R. and which utilizes in part the former waiting room of the extinct traction company, will have a capacity of 20,000 gallons of milk and 1,000 gallons of ice cream a day. Mr. Himmelspach said. The total floor space will measure 84 by 90 feet, all of it being on one level.

There will be ten rooms in the new plant, including three offices, a store, freezing room, pasteurizing room, filling room, wash room, boiler and receiving rooms. A shower room for employees will be a feature.

The plant is built under the direction of the Detroit Board of Health and will comply in all ways with the most stringent regulations of the industry.

The exterior of the building is of brick and when finished will be one of the outstanding buildings in the Farmington business area. The inside walls will be tile. The floors are to be of concrete.

Mr. Himmelspach said that the Farmington Dairy had outgrown its present quarters and that the new plant was decided upon as being more feasible than additions or remodeling of the present plant.
