MACKINAC ISLAND SCENE OF PRESS CLUB OUTING

Michigan weekly and small daily newspaper publishers, their wives and families, are home this week after the most enjoyable outing spent at Mackinac Island, July 4, 5 and 6. Guests of the famous Grand Hotel, the world's greatest summer hotel, situated in this famous, historic spot, the party of two hundred newspapermen and women enjoyed their Thirtieth Mid-Summer Outing. Ideal weather, splendid fellowship, a fine program, and unsurpassed hotel cooperation, made this outing one of the most memorable in the history of the Association.

Arriving at the Grand Hotel Thursday morning, July 4, the visiting "home-town" journalists of the Mackinac Island Press Association, the blue skies of Michigan's Straits of Mackinac, on the historic Mackinac Island that once served as the strategic fortification for the French, English, and American against the Indian tribes whose glamorous past makes romantic the early chapters of Michigan's settling by the white man.

Paul McDonald, president of the Michigan Press Association, aided by his special committee consisting of Al H. Weber, of Cheboygan, Ray Whiteley, of Rogers City, and Ed Chatter, of St. Ignace, were in hand to receive the guests from every section of Michigan.

Entire facilities of the Grand Hotel, the headquarters for the outing, were turned over to the visiting journalists by W. S. Woodfill, manager of the great establishment. It is interesting to note that the Grand Hotel was built in 1887, under the leadership of John Oliver Plank, assisted by Consul Vanderbilt, Potter Palmer, George Pullman, Father of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the Detroit and Cleveland Navigation Co. The Grand Hotel boasts the largest veranda of any hotel in the world, and 312 people are required to administer to the needs of the colorful and gay assemblage of guests who visit it each year.

"Old World" Atmosphere

Visitors at Mackinac Island are removed from the hustle and bustle of modern civilization with its motor cars, its noise, its grime and dust, to a veritable "old world." Here no automobiles may be found. Instead, various types of horse-drawn carriages, from the three-seated carriage to the fitted single-seated carriage to the three-wheeled flat-top survey, serve to transport guests over the 2,200 acres of the island. Regular sightseeing trips to various historic spots, including the old British Fort, the Natural Rock Bridge, early English and French churches and the beautiful little harbor, were a part of the three-day outing. Speed boats also lured many of the newspapermen and women to pleasant hours on the clear-blue waters of this portion of the Great Lakes.

Many Amusements

Golf, bridge, horseback riding, hiking, and even old-fashioned "cycling" aided in making the stay a recreational one. A large banquet, with special orchestra music and followed by an evening of dancing, were the highlights of the Friday outing program. Prizes, valued at nearly $300.00, were awarded Friday evening to winners of various contests and features; John Oliver, of Grand Rapids, western Michigan manager for the American Typefounders Co., was chairman of this phase of the outing.

"This Thirtieth Mid-Summer Outing was splendid, and we hope that a few years hence we will come back to Mackinac Island and the Grand Hotel for another meeting," stated President McDonald.

At the conclusion of the affair on Saturday evening, "Many of our newspaper group came to the Island for the first time, and were deeply impressed with the natural beauty of the island, situated as it is between old Mackinac City and St. Ignace. Michigan is a great state and these summer outings to various sections serve to point out to makers of over 300 home-town newspapers the value of "seeing Michigan first."

Exchangeites Disband For July and August

During the summer months, the Exchange Club of Farmington will not hold its regular meetings. It has been the custom for the Club to meet during June and August, owing to the difficulty of getting the members together.

A committee, consisting of Joseph Himmelsbach and Judge John Schulte, has been appointed to meet with the American Legion to lend its assistance in the forthcoming three day Homecoming Celebration.

The regular meetings of the Exchange Club will be resumed Wednesday, September 4.

EDITH GIEGLER AND KIRBY LONG WED AT HARTLAND

In a setting of ferns, roses and peonies, Miss Edith Mae Giegler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Giegler of Hartland, formerly of West Farmington, became the bride of David Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Long of Hartland, formerly of Valued Lake. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ralph Karsney of Howell.

The bride wore a gown of white tulle and carried a bouquet of roses, fern and orange blossoms. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Frank Knapp. Miss Marion Graybeal and Dorothy Ruess acted as ushers. Leo Giegler, brother of the bride acted as best man.

The wedding was followed by a supper for the bridal party. The bride's table was decorated with white and green, blue and yellow rose buds, surrounded by yellow tapers. A large wedding cake was the centerpiece.

About 125 guests were present and were served a buffet luncheon. Included were friends and relatives from West Farmington, Detroit, Walled Lake, Wilcox, Pontiac and Rockford, Illinois.

Guests from West Farmington who were present were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Graham and son, Dayton, Mr. and Mrs. John Graham and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Heikler, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heikler and family, Mr. and Mrs. Starr Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Keap and son, William, and Miss Edith Graham.
