

Arctic exploration may have begun with Pytheas, Greek navigator, who about 320 B. C. sailed from Marseilles, and discovered the British Isles, possibly reaching Norway.

A pioneer is a fellow who can remember back when the railroads had so many employees they were compelled to cart their pay envelopes to them in a special train.

WEST FARMINGTON

Mrs. Floyd Howard spent Monday in Detroit with her mother, Mrs. Halverson and her sister, Miss Grace Halverson. Miss Halverson has just returned from a trip to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cox are the parents of a baby boy. Each year relatives and friends gather at the home of Mrs. Edith Graham on Thirteen Mile road to celebrate her birthday on August 4. This year the occasion attracted 46 guests from Farmington, Walpole Lake, Milford and Detroit. The guests were served dinner on the lawn of the Graham home.

Mrs. Starr Graham attended the German school reunion held at the home of Mrs. Elva Pennel Friday. A pot luck dinner was served.

Snapping Turtles Menace Fish Life

Midsummer is turtle time in Michigan. Many of the larger streams, lakes, and ponds of the state will seem more infested than ever with turtles of different species as they appear on logs and stumps in the water to bask in the sun. The largest and most voracious of the turtles are the snappers, which may be seen swimming about in large lakes with their heads out of water or sleeping in a hole dug in a stream bank with their tails protruding.

It's a good time to capture and remove these snappers, says the Department of Conservation. The snapping turtle has been known to devour ducklings and large quantities of fish life. Sportsmen should not confuse the snapping turtle with the painted turtle, which is much smaller in size and is credited with feeding on the larvae of mosquitoes.

Homemaker's Corner

Following a few simple rules for the operation and care of the pressure cooker assures an easier and a more successful canning season, according to home economics experts at Michigan State College. Sufficient water should be placed in the cooker to insure that it will not become dry while in operation, two or three cups are sufficient. Clamps on the cover should be tightened until the petcock has been closed long enough to permit the temperature to rise within the cooker and to allow the steam pressure to reach the proper point.

The petcock should remain open until steam escapes in a steady stream, usually seven to ten minutes. Do not start counting time for processing until the petcock has been closed long enough to permit the temperature to rise within the cooker and to allow the steam pressure to reach the proper point. The heat under the cooker should be regulated to maintain an even steam pressure in the cooker, changes in pressure may cause losses of liquids from the inclosed jars. When processing is complete, the cooker should be removed from the fire and the pressure allowed to fall to zero before the petcock is opened. If the cooker contains glass jars, the petcock should be opened at once if tin cans are being used.

After watching the splendid guilds at Washington operate we've a faint suspicion that as a would-be spender of public funds Upton Sinclair was a rank amateur.

The Symbol of an Ideal

THE history of American industry affords no example of lasting success that came by chance. Instead, it shows that enduring institutions are products of an honest policy applied intelligently and faithfully over a period of years.

The vital place which the telephone occupies in modern life did not result from accident. It was won—and is held—by supplying the public with a service of genuine and steadily increasing value.

To better that value is the abiding principle of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company's policy. Even during the recent years of sharply reduced revenues, years in which all values were subjected to bitter tests, this company did not relax in its obligation to achieve further improvements in its service.

As a direct result of this policy, the people of Michigan are receiving a higher grade telephone service than ever before. This statement is not made lightly. The improvement is revealed by carefully compiled records of daily performance. They show a greater speed and accuracy in handling local calls; a continued decrease in "out-of-order" reports; more prompt repair service; and a greater proportion of out-of-town messages completed while the subscriber holds the line.

These records, though undramatic in themselves, are important as milestones of progress toward complete satisfaction for the users of this vital public service. The improvements they signify were not won by chance—they did not "just happen."

They were achieved by this company's rigid adherence to a policy having as its basic ideal the best possible service for the least possible cost that will maintain the present standards and assure the improvements of the future.

Save your home - Save interest - Save worry - Pay Your Taxes Now!

THIS month the eyes of America are on Michigan, and its drive for taxes. Involved in its success are the security and happiness of many homes, and the financial integrity of various units of government. Aided by a considerate legislature, the State of Michigan now asks its delinquent tax-payers to meet their important obligation without further delay.

For those who are prepared to pay in full, taxes for 1932 and prior years may be taken care of without any interest or penalties. This means a saving of 27% to 45%—and even more.

For those who aren't able to pay taxes for 1932 and prior years in full, there has been provided a 10-year plan, with the same substantial savings, but with a small added carrying charge.

Those who owe 1933 and 1934 taxes, may also save all interest and penalty, by paying a 4% collection fee. (For these taxes there is no deferred payment plan.)

Regardless of how you plan to take care of the obligation the important thing is that you do so without further delay. The immediate cash saving is an important item for anyone; but no less important is the saving of worry, doubt, and bother.

Acting under the Law, the Auditor-General must soon offer most of the delinquent taxes at public sale. This difficult task will be considerably lightened if the individual property-owners take the situation promptly to heart and proceed to pay their taxes.

See your County Treasurer at once. Show him your tax bills; or at any rate, give him the legal description of your property.

Then he will tell you the exact amount of your back taxes, and accept your payments. If you are not familiar with the details of the tax laws he will give you a descriptive folder that describes in simple terms just what you must do to save your home. See your County Treasurer at once.
