Banks and the Younger Generation . . .

The young men and women who are coming into citizenship today, have not the slightest thought of "traveling the back trail" to a nation with a narrower future . . . They are planning confidently for a "Bigger America," and larger futures for themselves-which is their privilege and birthright . . . But, they have no happy-go-lucky attitude toward the future. They are seriously working and planning and saving for the things they desire . . . We are proud to offer the services of this bank as one of the tools of their accomplishment.
