

CLARENCEVILLE BOY INJURED BY AUTOMOBILE

William Kargotta, Jr., 13, 21803 Albon avenue, Clarenceville, is reported in temporarily serious condition in Redford Receiving Hospital as a result of being struck by an automobile driven by Cecil Kellogg, 40, of Farmington, at Grand River and Power avenue Monday night. The victim is suffering from head injuries.

The boy was returning from a scout meeting of troop 45 in the M. E. Church, Farmington, accompanied by Harold Wurster when the accident occurred. In a statement to police, Mr. Kellogg said that boys were walking in an easterly direction with their backs toward oncoming traffic. Owing to a heavy rainfall, the driver said he could not see the boys until it was too late to avoid hitting William who jumped directly in the path of the automobile while his companion jumped the other way.

The injured boy was taken to the hospital by Deputy Joseph DeWendt where it is expected he will recover. Mr. Kellogg was not held.

AUTO ACCIDENT FATAL TO REDFORD TOWNSHIP YOUTH

John Hledsoe, 35643 Norris avenue, Wayne, is in Harper hospital suffering from a fractured skull, as the result of an automobile accident Friday evening at Warren and Inkster road in which Clyde Kyser, 19, Redford township, was instantly killed.

Mr. Kyser, employed in the Inkster office of the Wayne County Welfare Commission, was returning from work when his machine was hit by the car driven by Hledsoe. The motor was torn from the Kyser automobile and was found 40 feet from the wreckage. Although no account of the accident has been obtained from Mr. Hledsoe, owing to his serious condition, it is believed by police he was traveling at a high rate of speed when the accident occurred.

Mr. Kyser, a graduate of Redford Union school where he gained recognition as a football player, had planned to attend the University of Michigan and complete a course in chemistry.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at C. E. Decker of Redford M. E. church officiating. Interment was in Grand Lawn cemetery.

Surviving Mr. Kyser are his mother, Mrs. Ella Kyser and a sister, Ruth Kyser. This is the second death in the Kyser family within a year, a brother, Dexter, having died last November.

SCHOOLS TO STAGE HEALTH PROGRAMS

Tommy and Mary and Jerry and Catherine—in fact, boys and girls in every part of the State—will be in Thanksgiving Day celebrations a whole day ahead of mother and dad this year, when they participate in the "Thanks for Health" day program of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association Wednesday, November 27.

The "Thanks for Health" day program will herald the opening of the twenty-ninth annual tuberculosis national sale and Thanksgiving Day, and will also provide an opportunity for parents and friends of the children to acquire an idea of the good that is being accomplished in the schools in the way of health education.

In giving enthusiastic approval of the program, Dr. Eugene D. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, declared that the work being carried on by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association more than entitled it to any cooperation his department could lend. In a letter to teachers throughout the state this week, Dr. Elliott wrote: "This 'Thanks for Health' day program has received my hearty endorsement. Whenever possible, I urge that the program be presented and that parents and friends of the children be invited."

Dr. Bruce H. Douglas, president of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, pointed out that such programs were doing much to make Michigan people health conscious. "There is, no better way to spread the message of good health than through the schools. Children carry the word into their homes and better observation of health rules almost always results. Much progress against disease will be made through concentration of health education facilities in the schools."

Eastern Michigan Bus Line Shows Good Record

Despite the fact that 4,519,170 miles were traveled and nearly three million passengers were carried, Eastern Michigan Motorbuses were involved in but one serious accident in the first ten months of 1935.

Reckless driving always is suicidal or murderous, declares Arthur Kierman, president of the company, endorsing the state wide safety drive.

"Before we put a man behind the wheel of a motorbus or truck, he must convince us that he is a sober, careful, considerate driver. Our one accident happened when a drunken motorist, driving seventy miles an hour swerved from behind a line of cars and crashed head on into a Fiat bound bus. That driver and three passengers with him were killed, the result of his carelessness," said Mr. Kierman.

"If drivers of private cars exercised the same care and judgment as do commercial drivers, many needless accidents would be avoided."

In 1918 Mr. Drouillard joined the United States Army in which he served until 1919 when he was honorably discharged. He returned to Novi and was married in 1923. He was employed at the Farmington Mills for nine years before his death.

Surviving are his widow Maude, two sons: Harold and Ward Jr., and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steven Hicks.

Services were conducted by Rev. Richards of Belleville. Interment was in Novi Cemetery.

REV. SIDNEY EVA TO SPEAK AT M. E. CHURCH SUNDAY

Rev. Sidney D. Eva, District Superintendent of the Saginaw District of the Belt Conference of Methodist Episcopal Churches, will speak at the M. E. Church in Farmington Sunday November 17, at the regular service.

Rev. Eva had been pastor of the M. E. Church for six years when in 1922 he was promoted to the Cass avenue Church in Detroit. During his pastorate here he was largely responsible for the plans and the completion of the new church, whose construction began in 1921 and was completed just before his promotion.

Here and elsewhere, Rev. Eva has won popularity with his followers through his forceful, earnest and magnetic personality, which have proved particularly attractive to young people.

Following his pastorate at the Cass avenue church, Rev. Eva was promoted to another church in Mt. Clemens where he remained until his appointment as Superintendent of the Saginaw District, a position which he has held for the past two years.

CHRISTOPHER MORLEY TO SPEAK AT FISHER

Christopher Morley, the author of "The House of Mirth" and "The Fishes of the Sea," will speak at the Fisher Theatre, Wednesday morning, Nov. 20, at 11 o'clock, has added to his appeal as one of America's most charming and popular authors by also making a name for himself as a rarely delightful speaker. Mr. Morley conducts the "Bowling Green" column of the Saturday Review of Literature, in addition to working on his new book and lecturing.

Morley's Town Hall lecture will be a critical and entertaining discussion of modern books and authors. His own writings for years have been on selected reading lists. Among his many famous books are "Farnassus on Wheels," "The Haunted Book Shop," "Roman Stair," "Swiss Family Man," "The House of Mirth," "The Fishes of the Sea," "The Left Hand of God," and "Where the Blue Begins."

His early environment promoted in Christopher Morley his unusual blend of English and American civilizations. Until he was, ten, except for several summers in England, he lived on the campus of Haverford College, Pennsylvania, where his father was professor of mathematics. This small Quaker college, the abode of cricket in America, is unique among American institutions in its Anglo-American flavor. In 1900 Professor Morley moved to Baltimore where he still holds the chair of pure mathematics at John Hopkins. Christopher returned to Haverford in 1906 and was graduated in 1910. He was awarded the Rhodes Scholarship to Oxford, and the next three years were spent at New College. It was there that his first book, "The Eighth Sin," was committed.

Michigan Artists' Exhibit At Detroit Institute

Outstanding works by 159 painters and 27 sculptors from Michigan are now on public view at the Annual Exhibition of Michigan Artists which opened Tuesday, Nov. 12 at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

From more than 1,500 entries, the jury selected 404 objects as representative of the best art produced by the state's talent during 1935. Paintings number 368 and pieces of sculpture total 41.

"The exhibition this year presents a strong, vigorous cross-section of modern art," said Ivan Swift, jury chairman who has watched the development of the exhibition since its start in 1910. "Especially noteworthy this year are the watercolors. Most of them are pure in color and filled with a remarkable spontaneity and light." The jury considered the exhibition one of the greatest in the history of the show. The Michigan artists who were judged first in their respective mediums received more than $1,000 in cash prizes.

BOYS' ASSAULT TO FACE TRIAL DECEMBER 2

Mark Anderson, 20, 27036 Sedalia avenue, Southfield township, accused of shooting James House, 17, 22960 Polonica boulevard, Southfield township, on the night of October 31, when the latter is said to have damaged a building on Anderson's property, is to face trial in circuit court in December. Anderson appeared before Judge John J. Schulte, Jr., who is presiding in justice court, in Pontiac during the absence of Judge Milton F. Cooney, Wednesday morning, when his bond was set at $1,000. A charge of shot from a 12-gauge double barrel shotgun entered the boy's body as he was trying to get away from Anderson's home. The gun was fired at a distance of 40 feet from the victim, police said. A second shot was fired into the air.

House was released from Redford Receiving hospital the early part of this week.
