WPA EMBARKS
ON LABOR
MANAGEMENT PLAN

The WPA having achieved its primary objective of ending the strike in Michigan, has embarked on a program of labor management designed ultimately to assure workers the jobs for which they are best fitted.

In the rush of putting thousands of persons to work before the December 5 deadline, WPA officials explain, it was inevitable that many should be placed on jobs for which they were not suited. To correct that situation a special agency —known as the Labor Reassignment Board—has been set up in Detroit 4, the Detroit area. The committee consists of Alfred K.
Hebner, who acts as chairman, Thomas Ross, Armstrong Paterson and Joseph Bridgeman. Members work under the general supervision of Louis J. Gilchrist, head of the Department of Labor Management for District 4.

"The WPA, being an emergency measure, is not a perfect labor attachment," Hebner explained. "Private employers take years to build up a labor organization on the size of ours. We had to put thousands of men and women to work within the space of a few weeks, on hundreds of widely diversified projects scattered over a wide range of territory. The first problem was to get people to work. Now that has been accomplished, we will place workers—as far as possible—at tasks which are in line with their experience."

Hebner pointed out that there has been a shortage of skilled labor on certain projects. Electric-ians have been especially in demand as have been carpenters and plumbers. One project, for which 40 carpenters were requisitioned, proceeding with 12 carpenters. A police department project has been delayed by a shortage of electric-ians. Ross, who represents the union viewpoint on the Board, pointed out that union electricians get $1.20 an hour, whereas the WPA rate is but $85 for a monthly schedule of 140 hours—or 60 cents an hour. Even at the union rate, private employers have experienced some difficulty in getting electricians during recent months, Ross said. He also mentioned the fact that some skilled workers would rather do manual labor than work at their usual trade professions for the WPA rate.

DAIRYMEN KEPT
BUSY IN
AVOIDING LOSSES

Michigan dairymen are serious in their attempt to make their herds pay for their keep, as the records from the herd improvement associations show that more cows have been culled for low production than in previous years and the November list culls was a record high.

Prices for dairy products have been better than last year but they are still not high enough to permit any profit to be made from low producing cows. Advancing feed costs in the fall and winter months make a very narrow margin between production profits or losses.

The average production for the cows in the state herd improvement associations was 533 pounds of milk or 22.5 pounds of butterfat for the month of November. The cost for feed alone was $7.1 cents per 100 pounds of milk, and the feed cost is only a part of the expense of producing milk.

Records kept in the associations not only permit the dairymen to cull out the boarder cows but also furnish sales arguments for disposing of bulls. Members of the associations sold 15 purebred bulls during November on the basis of production records of their daughters. Trades were made on several other bulls.

When feed costs increase, it is frequently possible for the tester to suggest changes in the dairy ration which will save money for the herd owner. The changes may be in the substitution of one concentrate for a higher priced one or for an increase in legume forage and a decrease in grain. Changes made in rations during November saved $236 for members in Michigan.

90,000 are employed at public works, most of them permanent improvements, all of them sponsored by state or local governmental units, which are contributing from 2 to 50 per cent of the cost.
