How Many Friends Have You?

IT HAS been said that the number of friends you have depends almost wholly upon you; for friendship is like many other precious possessions in that it does not thrive on neglect.

Most expressions of friendship, in this modern age, involve the use of the telephone. Direct, personal, inexpensive, it has come to be the recognized means of arranging nearly all informal social gatherings.

It has greatly simplified the rôle of the hostess, relieving her of bothersome complications once inseparable from entertaining. By telephone the woman of today can obtain acceptances or regrets without delay; she can make a last-minute addition to her guests, can quickly summon a fourth for bridge.

Modern telephone service is a special boon to those who have been parted by distance. It gives them, despite their separation, the opportunity for "voice reunions"—for a kind of personal contact which only the telephone can provide. Over it they can send greetings of the season, condolences, remembrances that arise from genuine friendship—and prove that absence need not necessarily mean forgetfulness.

Quick, dependable, the telephone service provided by this Company has won a definite part in the social life of the people of Michigan, and daily fulfills an important function in the many occasions which both promote and preserve the treasure of friendship.

COOKING, TOO, IS A FINE ART!

At the Autumn Salon of 1927 of l'Institut du France, the art of cooking was officially recognized along with painting, literature and sculpture as one of the Fine Arts

Paganini won world-wide acclaim for his music. Choosing the finest instrument available for the interpretation of his art—a treasured Stradivarius or a Joseph Garmanus—he held audiences spellbound. • • • So today, in a humble form, women who are unsmiling artists of the kitchen weave a spell with the magic of cookery. Using their innate talent to fashion tempting, nourishing dishes from simple foods, they are content to win a lesser form of recognition. Rarely regarded as artists—modest housewives and homemakers, most of them—they find joy in the creative endeavor that results in that prime essential... a good meal. Their reward is the pleasure they bring their families—and the satisfaction of knowing that a good cook never lacks appreciation. • • • For their equipment, they may choose (as is the privilege of all great artists) the finest available. There is no penalty of price attached to this ownership. The Stradivarius of cook stoves is the electric range. Today, even a family in moderate circumstances may own one... and a good cook will cherish one. For the electric cook stove reduces difficulties and multiplies achievements. It is the common denominator of women everywhere who pride themselves on their cooking.

AND THE STRADIVARIUS OF COOK STOVES IS THE ELECTRIC RANGE!

*NICOLÒ PAGANINI, Italian virtuoso on the violin, whose flying fingers sealed new heights in the mastery of difficult technical passages, was a musician-composer extraordinary. Born in Genua in 1741, he was giving concert recitals while a boy of nine. A few years later he was astounding the world with his pyrotechnic brilliance. Legend has it that contemporary violinists, noting the source of many of his compositions, were astounded at the difficulty of them, and declared it was physically impossible to play them. Paganini played them to a passionate and impressive style that moved his audience to tears. His portended predictions (that on the fourth string alone; and that the bow was to be twirled) that he was to die were fulfilled. He had been the devil's dancing man.

Leftovers

(You can clean out the ice box with this one)

On the evenings you don't particularly care for as impending roast or stewed beef or tenderloin is an inoperative dish that will just fill the hall. It's a grand recipe for the day after the night before—

LEFTOVERS AU GRATIN

3 cups leftover vegetables
1 cup dried onion
1/2 cup dried cheese
1/2 cup dried crumbs

Mix vegetables together and place alternate layers of vegetables and cheese in buttered casserole. (Three of these and two of cheese.) Pour two cups of white sauce over all. Sprinkle with bread crumbs and dot with butter. Bake thirty minutes at 375 degrees.
