ADVERTISING AIDS SALE OF NEW AND USED CARS

AND USED CARS

That the automobile buying habits of a nation can be changed, and that the liberal and aggressive use of newspaper advertising is one effective way of changing them, is evident from the experience of the Chevrolet Motor Company, according to W. E. Holler, its vice president and general sales manager, who cited an array of sales records dating back to the new car announcement Nov. 2, 1935, by way of proving his point.

Although Mr. Holler's comment sales records dating back to the new car announcement Nov. 2, 1935, by way of proving his point. Although Mr. Holler's comment was occasioned by the recent used car seiling achievements of Cherriclet dealers, it applies with equal force, he said, to their new car activities. The early announcement of new models, coupled with wide use of advertising pointing to the advantages of early purchases, resulted in the case of Chevrolet in a complete uspect of the old order—a complete reversal of the industry's experience in the past, when November and December were two of the quietter month of the entire year.

"The Chovrolet Motor Company," said Mr. Holler, "had every reason it to believe that, economic conditions being favorable, they build stands as ready to buy in the fail as it does in the spring. "Theight pasts in new car and truck sales are only a part of the story. The public's altered buying habits are also apparent in the used one and of the business, where a large part of the overview of the past three months." Mr. Holler said.

"This advertising was designed to impress the potential buying a tused carried." The statements in the control of the control of
