Must Have Tickets
Because of the large number graduating, every seat will be reserved and so many allowed for each senior's family, friends and relatives. Since these requirements exhaust the seating capacity of the church no admittance will be made without a reserved seat ticket.

Among those from Farmington attending the county association meeting of the O.E.S. at Rochester last Thursday were Mrs. John Walters, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cox, Mrs. Harold Westphal, Mrs. Thos. McGee, Mrs. William Hogarth, Mrs. Lowell Ramsey, Mrs. Beulah Barnes, Mrs. William Eckler, Miss Viola Walters, Mrs. Ray Othman and Mrs. Harrison Johnson.

'Vic' Blakeslee Has Trouble With 1904 Car

ing out part of the car to let it pass but finally decided that that would be too expensive. He measured the distance to see if taking off the tires would allow the car to pass, but some inches were lacking. Then in the crisis, he showed he had the soul of a true artist. He found that by taking off the wheels, the car would pass through the door but he refused to make the necessary amount of repair for breaking or losing a part which, of course, it would be impossible to replace.

The car is of sufficient historical value however to warrant the extra steps into the back room to see it. Besides being the first sedan ever built by Cadillac, it bears the serial number "2". Although classed as a sedan in the old newspaper accounts, it is in reality, according to present day standards, a coupe, accommodating only two people.

Leather Interior
The interior is done in leather which covers the dash, top and sides. In addition to the seat and back. There is no instrument panel as found on modern cars and its entire control system consists of two levers on the steering column. The car is almost entirely of glass. The two rear windows swing out on somewhat the same principle as no draft ventilation used on modern automobiles.

It has a one cylinder motor which is located under the driver's seat on the left hand side of the car. It has an exposed chain drive, a planetary transmission, transverse springs, a wheel base of 72 inches as compared with a deluxe Chevrolet wheelbase of 113 inches, and brakes which operate directly onto the rear axle rather than on to the wheels.

It could attain a speed of approximately 15 to 20 miles per hour and would go between 25 and 30 miles on a gallon of gas. One of its most unusual features to persons who have known only the modern cars will be the coal oil headlights and tail lamp. When the car was built for H. M. Lealand's son, Wilford, it sold for $1,200.

The car was part of the Cadillac display in the Transportation Building at the World's Fair at Chicago along with a 1911 model which was the first car to have a self-starter. It still runs perfectly and is used for short runs at Kingsville.

"Vic" will have it on display for a week.
