Pannth Burrowing Bean
The peanut is often called the burrowing bean, because after the flower fades the plant stems bend over from a helight of about 13 lenkes and, like an ostrich hiding his head, bury the pods in the ground to mature. In the late summer and autumn the nots are thrown out or the ground with a digger, and then dried in piles of stacks for four to six weeks.
Thrashing machine remove the pods from the vines.

Revive Manx Language
Interest in the Manx language phich has been on the verge of expaction, is being revived by the fanx society, composed of ardent ittonalists of the fish of Man, hen the last Manx census was liven, four years ago, 529 persons full speak in Manx, about 60 per juit of them were then over skrtyrev sears of age. A peculiarity of the Manx language is that it confalts no swear words.
