

Starts West On Cut-Off; Causes Crash

Possibly a skull fracture and a cerebral concussion, were the injuries sustained by Jack Vartoogian, route 2, Farmington, when the car he was driving collided with another driven by Edith Cole Wilson, 707 Belfour Road, Grosse Pointe at the east end intersection of the cut-off and Grand River avenue, Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Wilson, it is reported, was driving west on Grand River avenue and upon approaching the cut-off hesitated and then swerved suddenly into the path of east bound traffic to enter the one way cut-off. Realizing her mistake she applied the brakes to halt her car but not in time to avoid being struck by the east bound car driven by Mr. Vartoogian.

Deputy sheriff Joe DeVriendt of Farmington arrived at the scene of the mishap and took Vartoogian to the Redford Receiving Hospital.

D. F. Cole, an uncle of Mrs. Wilson and a passenger in her car received a cut over his right eye necessitating medical attention.

Neither driver was held.

Tuesday's accident was the first to occur at the east end of the cut-off since the filling was passed limiting it to east bound traffic. The west end of the cut-off was the scene of an accident Good Friday.

FRUIT GROWERS ADVISED OF CURES FOR TREE ILLS

Fruit growers will find it to their interest to heed the advice given by Karl D. Baller, County Agricultural Agent, in the following notices prepared for the benefit of fruit growers of the county.

Watch for black cherry aphid. As soon as any are on the trees, spray or dust before the buds break into bloom. If the weather turns warm after this rainy spell, they may bloom before you know it. This spray not only protects the fruit crop from injury, but also the leaves so that they can produce good buds for another year. If you spray a pint of nicotine plus 3 or 4 pounds cheap soap in 100 gal. of water. (Soap flakes are good.) Dissolve soap in hot water; otherwise it may clog the screen of your sprayer. Lime-sulphur is unnecessary at every twig, fruit-sprayer and water sprout. If you dust, use 4% nicotine dust during the heat of the day, when there is no breeze, or during a hot still night.

The time for delayed dormant spray on apples and pears will soon pass as weather warms up. Aphids are appearing on apple buds. APPLARS: Spray for aphid, aphid, curculio, and bud moth as buds are opening into green tip and pre-bloom. (See picture 2 and 2a, page 14, 1937 Spray Calendar.)

Use 2 1/2 gal. liquid lime sulphur plus 1 pint nicotine in water to make 100 gal. solution. Add 3 pounds lead-arsenate, if you have bud moth or Curculio. Read Secs. 37 and 38 in Spray Calendar.

PEARS: Just as the buds begin to resemble picture 1 in Spray Calendar (pre-bloom stage) and before they separate too much, spray with 3-8-70 Bordeaux or water to 2 1/2 gal. lime-sulphur in water to make 100 gal. solution, for scab later on, curculio and bud moth. Use 2 lbs. lead-arsenate to 100 gal. solution in either spray. Varieties most advanced should be sprayed first. Use tanglefoot and poison bran bait for cutworms. Put paper under tanglefoot on young trees.

Farmington High Nine Day Circus Meets Milford Arrives May 29

A crippled Farmington High School baseball team will go to Milford Friday afternoon for the third league game of the season, for sickness and injuries have taken from the lineup most of the regulars.

Norm Hunt, two-year letterman at first base, is out with a bruised ankle; Bob Davis, short-stop, has a boil on his neck which has been keeping him out of practice; Don Lee, second baseman, is out with two rather deep spike wounds in his right foot, an injury which he received last week in the New Hudson game; the two Werhagen boys, Bob and Warren, center fielder and catcher respectively, and leading batters of the squad, are out with the mumps.

According to Coach Kammerer Stan DeYoung is slated to pitch with Frank Campeau on hand to relieve him if necessary. Stan has been bothered with a sore arm, but is recovering and rounding into shape.

Ray Clark will be held back for the Walley Lake game next Tuesday on the Farmington diamond. It is expected to be one of the more interesting games of the season and the squad hopes members will be back in shape for that game.

Farmington Wins

Last Thursday's Farmington team won over New Hudson in a very poorly played game. Each team made six errors in addition to several mistakes. For Farmington, Hoffman started on the mound but was relieved in the third by Clark. Hoffman owed most of his trouble to poor support. He allowed two hits, one a three-bagger with two on, in the second inning. Clark, who had two errors and a fielder's choice, yielded New Hudson three runs for a short-lived lead.

The Blue and White came back in their half to score five runs on three hits, a walk and three errors. Nine men batted. Davis getting a timely hit and Ralph Banfield and Bob Davis doubling.

When Hoffman got into trouble in the third, Ray Clark came in, allowed two hits and two runs over the rest of the route.

The tension eased in the fourth when Farmington got three hits after an error had put the first man on, three runs scoring. Bob Werhagen had a single and Warren Werhagen and Bill Dwyer got doubles in this period. Then in the sixth Bob Werhagen opened with a home run into the creek. Two errors followed by field outs, allowed Davis to score the second run of the inning and the last of the game for a 10 to 5 score. Seventeen players were used by Farmington, all 10 outfield candidates being tried in an effort to strengthen that part of the team.

Other League Scores

Scores of other league games played last week are:

South Lyon 5, Clarkston 5.

Milford 9, Brighton 4.

New Hudson 4, Clarkston 3.

Keego Harbor 7, Walley Lake 1.

Exchange Of Road Upkeep Is Made

An exchange agreement of road maintenance, whereby the City of Farmington is to maintain Nine Mile Road, west of the city, in return for the County's upkeep of Nine and Ten Mile Roads, was submitted to and approved by the City Commission at their regular meeting held Monday night. City Commissioner of Streets and Roads, Emory O. Hutton, negotiated the exchange and submitted it to the commission.

Nine Mile Road is paved north of Grand River avenue, however, southeast of that road it is gravel. Ten Mile Road is paved as far as Power avenue, west to North Farmington Road. It is a dirt road. Gill Road on the west is a dirt road.

The exchange of roads leaves the City with the one road to maintain compared with the former two, resulting in a substantial saving to the city of funds usually expended for road repairs.

Papers are being drawn up to complete the exchange and will be effective in a short time.

Purchase Discount

Purchase of a concrete breaker was approved at the meeting Monday night. Mr. Hutton cited the need of a concrete breaker as being due to the amount of time spent in securing one whenever it is needed. He pointed out the great amount of time lost in obtaining one and in addition the expense involved in the rental of the breaker. Mr. Hutton said a breaker would be in use throughout the year and would pay for itself within a comparatively short period.

Legion Contest Details Given

"Memorial Day, Its Meaning and Observance," is the subject to be written on in the patriotic essay contest sponsored by the Farmington post of the American Legion. The contest is open to any pupil attending the Farmington High School.

Entries may contain from 500 to 750 words, and will be judged on content and composition. The date of May 20, has been set as the deadline for contestants to submit entries. Essays are to be left at the high school office.

Joe DeVriendt is the chairman of the committee handling the details of the contest. Judges for the event have not been appointed as yet.

Donating the contest, DeVriendt says:

"The contest is being staged by the American Legion in the interests of democracy and the American form of government. Timely is the contest, coming as it does in this period of world-wide subversion, the dictators of Russia, as never before, the Legion feels the need of arousing youth America to rally to the defense of free speech, a free press and the doctrines of Washington, and to stand against the seemingly endless stream of great men who have enriched the soil of this free land, America.

"Writing a patriotic theme will serve to acquaint the future leaders of America with what has been the history of this country and think before accepting any 'one for all and one for one' movement.

"The American Legion, long a staunch believer and supporter of Americanism, recognizes the present day need for the fostering of just that and sponsors the contest in connection with Memorial day to do it."

Peddler Loses City License Suit

Holding that the petitioner, Harry Flannigan of Plymouth, had failed to comply with the Farmington City ordinance, dealing with the licensing of peddlers, Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland, sitting in Circuit Court at Pontiac Monday, denied a writ of mandamus requested by Flannigan, in an attempt to compel the City of Farmington to grant him a peddler's license.

Flannigan maintained the city was bound by the ordinance, to grant him a license free of charge inasmuch as he is a veteran and as such is included in the scope of the present ordinance which rules that veterans shall be given a license without payment of the usual fee.

The suit was presented to the court on April 19, but failure of the plaintiff to file the praecipe as required by the Circuit Court of Oakland County, resulted in the granting of a two weeks adjournment, as requested by the defendant, the City of Farmington. Should the plaintiff desire to continue the case, he will have to take it to the State Supreme Court.

Schulte and Pare, representing the city, in the suit, contended Flannigan was acting as an agent for a company and not as an individual as he claimed. According to the present ordinance the free license is granted only if the applicant is selling his own goods. Persons acting as company agents are subject to all provisions of the ordinance and must pay the set license fees.

The Flannigan suit was the outgrowth of attempts by large companies to avoid payment of the required license fees as stated in the ordinance. The Mills Baking Company of Detroit, whose products Flannigan sells, is one of the companies with whom the city thus conflicted on this point.
