PLAN MEASURES TO CURB DAMAGE OF ROADSIDES

OF ROADSIDES

The state highway department amounced this week that experiments would be conducted this summer in an effort to curb damage to Michigan roadsides by deer and cattle.

State: Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner explained that the hoofs of deer feeding on grass along the highways had torn up sod placed to prevent erosion on steep backslopes. He said that maintenance workers were ready to start a series of experiment's to find suitable vines which can be planted on backslopes in place of sod.

"Apparently, the carefully planted and malptained sod allow the highways appeals to the appearance of the carefully planted and malptained sod allow."
