Young People Advised to Study Technological Trends

Young men and women seeking careers which will bring them fame and fortune instead of mere jobs were advised by Major Howard Starret, State Reemployment Director, to study the changing technological trends in American industries.

"The National Reemployment Service can inform youth of the types of jobs in which there is a dearth of skilled workers today," Starret said. "However, we can only hazard a guess as far as future trends in industry are concerned."

Starret, himself an engineer, suggests that alert people seeking fields in which to pioneer might do well to read the report of the National Resources Committee on technological trends and the social implications of new inventions.

"People who say that there are no new fields today are as foolish as those who said it at the turn of the century," Starret said. "At that time few people could foresee the extension of the telephone, the development of radio and electrical refrigeration, the popularization of the automobile, and the vast developments in transportation, motion pictures and the rayon industry."

New Frontiers Opening
"Tomorrow's frontiers are plainly visible, despite the fact that the full scope of the technological trends of the future cannot be foretold today," he went on. "I would advise the foresighted youth of today to keep an eye on a number of recent inventions and new industries."

"The possibilities for the extension of the auto trailer business seem limitless and the trend toward prefabricated houses grows greater every day."
"The science of chemistry is also making rapid strides and opening new fields for youth to conquer. Plastics are being used in hundreds of industries and for thousands of products," Starret said. "Cellulose and similar wrapping papers are displacing old package methods. There is a crying need for a good synthetic rubber in industry and clothing makers are constantly looking for new artificial cotton and wool-like fabrics made from cellulose."

"Television has already reached the point where it is commercially feasible," Starret said. "When this industry gets under way it will undoubtedly grow as the radio and telephone grew in its day. Along with the development of this new type of entertainment, scientists have perfected several systems of facsimile transmission of photographs, drawings and printed messages, by radio."

Air Conditioning New Field
"Air conditioning is an industry which has recently grown by leaps and bounds. From the handwriting on today's walls economists predict that this industry will soon be hiring as many workers as Detroit's great auto industry. On the other hand, another invention, the photovoltaic cell, is destined to displace thousands of workers. These electric 'eyes' already open doors, start drinking water flowing as the thirsty bend over the fountain, and sort defective products on factories' conveyors. But even the photovoltaic cell will provide some new jobs for trained workers."

"Even the farm youth must be prepared for changes," Starret warned. "Industry will call upon chemurgic programs. Others will turn to tray agriculture; the technique of growing plants in tanks of water containing nutrient chemicals. Farms will probably grow up in factories where new plants of the future can grow unhampered by drought, floods, freezing, erosion, insect pests or soil exhaustion."

"The mechanical cotton picker will undoubtedly revolutionize the harvesting of this crop. New work will have to be found for the labor displaced by the long sought apparatus. There is no doubt that similar mechanical pickers will lighten the labor in other agricultural fields."

"As long as employment offices, educators, industry cooperate with America's inventors, engineers and technologists we need have no fear in this country of future wants or employment," Starret concluded. "Youth today has every bit as great an opportunity to tackle new frontiers that science is bringing about as his grandfather had in the days when our geographical frontiers were open."

CASE HOLDS $2,000 IN CHECKS FOR MICH. DRIVERS

Leon D. Case, Secretary of State, is custodian of about 500 checks averaging $4 each, which the state of Michigan has been trying to return to their rightful owners for more than three years.

In 1931, the legislature reduced the weight tax rate on passenger cars, from 55 cents to 35 cents per hundredweight. But before the act was passed, thousands of motor car owners had already bought their 1934 plates. Refunds were made out and mailed to those entitled to receive them. After three years, delivery has still been impossible in some instances.

Only occasionally is a check claimed, but much more frequently people apply for refunds which they think they never got until their signatures on cancelled checks are turned up from the records. The great bulk of refund checks originally returned unclaimed in 1934, were claimed the next year; car owners when buying 1935 plates, noticed the cost was less. Inquiries concerning them in hundreds of cases were presented with their refund checks. The checks are always good, but from all appearances virtually no more of them will ever be claimed. Incorrect addresses, or changed ones are believed to account for the condition.

MORE THRILLS TO FEATURE WAYNE CO. FAIR

Thrill-seeking people of this district who might have been wondering what would become of them if their automobile happened to hit a rut while traveling at a fast rate of speed and turn over three or four times can learn for themselves at the Wayne County Fair, Northville, Wednesday afternoon and night, August 25th.

One of the stunts to be performed at the fair by Mary Wiggins and her bery of Hollywood beauties will be the rolling over of an automobile while traveling 60 miles an hour.

Like the other hair-raising stunts of Miss Wiggins' program, this act is performed with a stock car, the same kind on view in the show windows of any automobile dealer.

Because of the flatness of the track and difficulty of getting the car into its spin, the driver comes into the stretch and hits a ramp with two wheels. One of the stipulations between the fair management is that the stunt must take place directly in front of the grandstand in full view of all spectators.

Thirteen other breath-taking stunts are included in the program of Miss Wiggins, who has made up her troupe from the moving picture lots of Hollywood. All the girls performing in the show have acted as doubles for movie players. Miss Wiggins is the most famous of modern-day girl dare-devils and has doubled for practically every well-known star of the flickers. An automobile crashing through a solid board wall, a head-on collision between two burning automobiles traveling 45 miles an hour; four girls crashing through flaming walls on motorcycles, simultaneously; are some of the most spectacular of the 14 death-defying numbers.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton W. Wilber returned Monday from a weeks trip to Alpena and Port Austin.

Additions To Sewer System Begin Soon

(Continued from page one) emptying out on the surface and the waste then going down a mill-race south to the creek. This unhealthy situation will be remedied by laying a new and larger line in the same general directions, but somewhat differently located, and this line will in the future, it is anticipated, serve the Catholic school property and any homes that may be built in that vicinity, as well as the present homes along Grand River on the south side, which were never intended to hook into the old D.U.R. line, but which are connected with it.

To Give Easements
Bigh LaSalle Wines and the Evangelical church will give the city easements to permit construction of the lines along their properties.

Plans already conceived provide for continuation of the modernization of the City's sewer system, by portions each year, so that within a few years every part of the municipality will be provided with adequate drainage for many years to come. The smallest size pipe that will be laid is 12-inch. When this is completed, it is anticipated that Farmington will have one of the finest sewer systems of any community in this part of the state.

Reemployment Service Puts Over 2000 To Work

Jobs for 2,221 Michigan men and women were found by the National Reemployment Service during the past week, according to Major Howard Starret, State Reemployment Director. According to Major Starret, the NRS is curtailing its activities in anticipation of its closing. The budget and quota requirements for all districts have been removed, extending any length of time. The organization is necessarily operating on a month to month basis. Placements by districts were: Battle Creek, 151; Bay City, 112; Detroit, 315; Flint, 118; Grand Rapids, 153; Jackson, 135; Kalamazoo, 277; Lansing, 102; Marquette, 365; Muskegon, 94; Pontiac, 104; Port Huron, 121.

William and Mrs. Tamm entertained relatives from Saginaw, Thursday, and Friday.

State Returns $1,275,000 Of Gas Tax to Counties

The state highway department this week vouchered $1,275,000 to the counties from gasoline tax collections. Current returns cover half the amount payment to the counties from gasoline tax revenues authorized when the weight tax was reduced 36 per cent by the special session of the legislature in 1934. A similar sum from the same source was sent the counties in January.

With the current payment, counties have now been vouchered $20,645,881 to date this year from highway revenues.
