Commission Head Explains Changes in Employment Law

FRANK A. PICARD
Chairman, Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission

LAST RITES HELD FOR FARMINGTON RESIDENTS

Last rites for George Bostwick who died Monday following a short illness, were held from the Bostwick residence on Nine Mile road Thursday. Death was due to a hemorrhage caused by a tumor of the brain. Mr. Bostwick first became ill two weeks ago when he collapsed while at work. He was taken to his home where he failed to regain consciousness from the time he was stricken until his death Monday.

Although born at Wallisberg, Canada in 1875, Mr. Bostwick had made his home in Farmington for the past 23 years and was well known throughout a wide area. For many years he was engaged in the painting and decorating business, actively performing this type of work until two weeks ago when he collapsed while working on the Post Office.

Mr. Bostwick was 62 years old at the time of his death. He leaves, besides his widow, three children: Mrs. Ella Craft of Detroit, Mrs. Virginia Ferris of Farmington and Fred Bostwick of Detroit; two grandchildren, Robert and Betty Craft, and two sisters, Mrs. Nellie Duffy and Mrs. Hattie Hanlon of Detroit.

Funeral services for Mrs. Riley Adams were held from her home at 34055 Nine Mile road at two o'clock on Monday afternoon. Rev. Elmer Palmer of Detroit, pastor of First Baptist Church of Farmington, officiating.

Mrs. Adams succumbed to a throat infection of only three days duration, on Sunday morning, August 15. She had been confined to her bed, however, since May 7, when she suffered a fracture in the hip joint.

Laverna Joslin was born August 7, 1859, in Ilion, New York. When 18, she moved to Michigan and lived at Maple Grove, on what is now Gill Road, in 1879 she married G. G. Adams of Coopers-town, N. Y. They have lived in this vicinity since, having lived on the present home site for more than forty years. Mr. Adams died in 1933.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Lavita Adams Noble, and a grandson, Adelbert Royal Noble of Detroit.

The burial was at Grand Lawn cemetery. The funeral arrangements were conducted by S. J. Heenev.

A digest of the amendments to the state's unemployment compensation act, just approved by Governor Frank Murphy, has been made by Frank A. Picard, chairman of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission.

"These changes in our act vital affect every employer and every worker in Michigan," Mr. Picard said. "With the collection of state contributions on the first half of 1937 payrolls soon to start, I feel that every employer and employee should be familiar with these new provisions of our act."

Principal changes in the state act were listed by Mr. Picard as:

1. Elimination of the $6,000 deduction on total annual payrolls and change of coverage from employers of one or more to employers of eight or more workers.
2. Advancing the date on which benefits payments to unemployed workers may begin from January 1, 1937 to July 1, 1938—six months earlier.
3. Three new types of employment exempted under the act, now performed by insurance salesmen on commission; part-time service where the worker's occupation during the school year is attending school (this applies mainly to newsboys) and employees whose work is performed mainly in a foreign country (this applies principally to employees of railroads entering Michigan from Canada).
4. Insertion of "teeth" in the act for the collection of delinquent contributions. This amendment gives the commission about the same powers as the state sales tax division now has, Mr. Picard said.
5. Appointment of an appeal board to hear disputed benefit claims by the Governor instead of the commission. The three-man board now will be appointed in April, 1938 instead of November, 1938 and will not be under the control of the commission.

Where formerly benefits could be denied workers who financed strikes, amendments now to provide that payment of "regular union dues" will not disqualify an unemployed worker from receiving benefits provided he is not on strike.

The act makes strikers ineligible for benefits for as much as nine weeks of unemployment plus the three-week waiting period at the discretion of the commission.

Any service and any employer subject to the federal act now is subject to the Michigan unemployment compensation act if the service is performed in Michigan.

No benefits will be paid for a month of partial unemployment before January, 1939.

Not Change Wanted

"The change in the definition of an employer was not the change we asked the legislature for, nor was it the change Governor Murphy wanted," Mr. Picard said. "The Governor and our commission feel that the benefits of unemployment compensation should be given every worker in covered employment. By this amendment which eliminates the $6,000 exemption and covers only employers of eight or more, we estimate about 325,000 workers are eliminated who would have been covered had the one or more provision been adopted."

The advancement of the date for the start of benefit payments, however, was praised by Mr. Picard as a "forward step."

"This amendment means that about $20,000,000 in benefit checks will be paid out to unemployed workers during the last half of 1938 providing the commission finds that by so doing it will not impair the right of Michigan employers to get their credit against their federal tax payments under Title IX of the Social Security Act."

Mr. Picard estimated that about 1,100,000 Michigan workers will be eligible to draw unemployment compensation benefits, when they become unemployed through no fault of their own, starting next July.

Must Report

"A workman who is laid off or dismissed must report to the nearest state employment office which this commission soon is to establish in every part of the state," he said.

"He must report regularly at the employment office to prove he is available for work. If he does not obtain a job at similar, suitable work at the end of three weeks he begins to draw his weekly benefit checks."

Benefits will amount to a maximum of $16 a week for a maximum of 16 weeks. In general, a covered worker will receive about half his average weekly earnings in benefits, not to exceed $16.

Mr. Picard pointed out that the new definition of an "employer" covered by the act is: any employing unit which employed eight or more individuals in each of 20 different weeks during the current or preceding calendar year.

"It makes no difference whether such 20 weeks are consecutive nor does it make any difference whether or not the eight individuals were employed simultaneously or whether the same eight workers were employed in each of the 20 weeks," he said.

In this respect the Michigan act differs from the federal act which provides that the eight employees must be employed on the same day in each of 20 different weeks."

Definition of Employer

This definition of "employer," Mr. Picard said, supersedes the former definition in the original act which included any employing unit with a payroll of $50 or more in each of three months in any calendar year, plus a $6,000 deduction on total annual payrolls.

"Another provision of the amendment is that any combination of small employers owned and controlled by the same interests is deemed to have the status of an individual unit employing eight or more workers themselves," he said.

"This operates to prevent chains of gas stations, stores, etc., all owned or controlled by the same interests, from splitting up and avoiding the state contribution for unemployment compensation."

While he approves of most of the changes in the act, Mr. Picard said he will back Governor Murphy's attempt to have the legislature extend the coverage to employers of one or more at the next special session of the legislature.

Modern Miracle Appears in Office

But while others wondered how she could endure it, and how much longer, Pearl apparently thought nothing of the sufferings of the moment, but only that it was the way back to health, and of the day she would walk out of the sanitarium. Only she dared to think and hope that she would walk again. But she did, and then came the happy day when, recently, she played ball with her brothers. Of course, she had to throw with her left hand, because on the right side where seven ribs should be holding her body erect, there is only a specially-made corset brace, and the right shoulder droops.

But what matters that? What does matter is that Pearl not only is alive and well, but may enjoy the benefits of normal life, and has just as good prospect of long, happy life as most other folks, which no one in Farmington who has heard of her condition four years ago would have believed could ever come to pass.

So it is indeed a modern miracle, most of which was achieved by herself.

School Administrators Get Federal Aid Forms

School and college administrators of the state have received regulations and forms this week regarding the 1937-1938 Student Aid Program of the National Youth Administration, according to C. R. Bradshaw, State Director.

During the past school year 18,249 needy high school and college students were assisted in completing their education through part-time work supplied by the National Youth Administration and supervised by school staffs. Reduced budgets due to a decreased Federal appropriation will necessitate reducing the number of students aided approximately 25 per cent, making a tentative quota for the coming school year of 11,850.

All student aid recipients must qualify on the basis of need, must be citizens, demonstrate character and ability, carry at least three-fourths of the normal schedule of school work, and must be between the ages of 16 and 24 years of age inclusive. The determination of the eligibility of students is the function of the officials of the institution.
