JAPAN PLANS TO DEVELOP ITS TELEPHONE SERVICES

A five-year development program has been adopted by the telephone administration in Japan, under which 300,000 miles of telephone circuits will be added to the national telephone system during that period. The plan also provides for the construction of 500 new exchanges during each year and an annual rate of increase in telephone of $50,000. Much of the additional telephone mileage will be placed in underground cables.

For the first year, the telephone administration has asked for a budget appropriation of 7,400,000 yen. An additional allotment of 3,900,000 yen also has been requested to extend the telephone service from Japan to Manchukuo. It is likely that this will be done by means of a submarine cable between Japan and Chosen, Korea. The sum of 1,700,000 yen is requested to develop radio telegraph and radio telephone facilities.

Epworth League Notes (Bob Snyder, Editor)

A large Epworth League Rally was held last Sunday, October 3, at the Methodist church. This was a district rally, which is held every two months at different churches in the district. The League entertained 200 guests from nearby towns. Among those present were groups from South Livonia, Northville, Farmington, Wayne and Birmingham. A lunch was served, following which entertainment was furnished. Dr. W. E. Harrison, District Superintendent, was the speaker, choosing for his topic the subject, "What's In A Name?"

On October 15, the monthly social gathering will be held. Members are to meet at the church at 7 p. m. and then leave for a weekly roast. All League members who are able to drive, are asked to bring their cars.

A Booth Festival will be held October 23 at the Methodist Old People's Home at Chelsea. Food and produce will be contributed by the people of the church for its support.

The new leader of the league is a young fellow named Jack Palmer. Undoubtedly you will all remember him. Jack takes over the meetings on October 17. Let's all get along for him, and give him our best support.

Mr. Herbert Charles, representing the State Department of Epworth Leagues, was present at the evening meeting of the local chapter, and presented them with a handsomely bound Bible in recognition of their outstanding work during the past year.

The Farmington League now holds the honor of being the most efficient in the State of Michigan, emphasis being placed upon the Second Department work, of which Epworth Leagues is in charge.

Norman Barrons, Jr., is the president of the local league, and Mrs. A. C. Worsfold is the sponsor.

Dodo, Now Extinct, Was of Massive, Clumsy Form

The dodo was a bird, of the island of Mauritius, allied to the pigeons, but unable to fly. It was as large as a swan, of massive and clumsy form, with short, stout legs and feet, and a hooked bill much larger than its head. Its wings were rudimentary and its tail composed of short rigid feathers. Some early writers say that its body was covered with black down, with bare skin around the eyes and forehead; others, that the color of its breast was a swartish brown, and that of its back, dun or deer-color. The dodo built a nest on the ground and laid but one egg about as large as that of a penguin. Its food was the same as that of other tropical fruits.

The dodo has become extinct within two centuries, according to a writer in the Indianapolis News.

It was discovered by Vasco da Gama in 1497, and is mentioned by various voyagers of the Sixteenth and Seventeenth centuries. In the Seventeenth century it was much used for food by the crews of vessels touching at Mauritius. The Dutch began to colonize the island in 1644, and the dodos soon were exterminated, largely by the dogs, cats and rats which devoured the eggs and the young in the nest.

After the Dutch took possession of Mauritius in 1715, the dodo no longer was mentioned as a living bird. All that remains now of the bird are some rare drawings by early voyagers, several paintings, from one of which in the British museum is made the illustration seen in most books of natural history, and the skeleton preserved in the Ashmolean museum, Oxford. Large numbers of its bones have been recovered from swamps, so that the skeleton is well known.

Letters to the Editor are always welcomed by this newspaper.
