FARMINGTON WINS GAME

Farmington defeated Milford last Friday night by the close score of 25 to 18. The game was evenly fought all the way through, with Farmington taking the lead in the first few minutes of play, but Milford soon evened that and at the end of the first quarter the score was 4 to 4.

During the second quarter and up until the end of the half the score changed very little and Farmington fought very hard to hold their small lead. There were many free throws in this first half, but not many were taken advantage of, and the score at the end of the first half was 11 to 9, in Farmington's favor.

At the start of the second half Handfield was in for Farmington and he started the evening off right, sinking two shots in a row. This gave our boys encouragement and they pulled a little further ahead of Milford and at the end of the third quarter they led 23 to 16.

The final quarter didn't create much excitement, each team scoring just 2 points.

IBN SAUD PROVED PHONE "LAWFUL" BY KORAN TEST

In the book, "Mecca and Beyond," by Edward M. and Rose W. Dodd, a story is told of the skill and sagacity of Ibn Saud.

It seems that when the question came up of introducing the telephone into Riyadh, his desert capital, there were grave misgivings among the leading ecclesiastics, who feared that the telephone might be contrary to the teachings of the Koran. When he was asked how a telephone could be justified in the strictly Moslem state, Ibn Saud was equal to the occasion.

"Suppose we test the telephone by the Koran," he said. "We will have a mullah stand at one end and read into it the Koran. At the other end another mullah will listen. If the wires carry the sacred words of the Koran, surely the thing is lawful and of Allah."

Put thus to the test, the telephone was found to be lawful, and there was no further objection to its installation in Riyadh.

22 to 27 miles per gallon of gasoline! That's what many owners are reporting for the 60-horsepower Ford V-8.

That's real economy. Add you'll like everything else about this Ford V-8 "60." It's smart looking. Interiors are trim and there's plenty of room for both passengers and luggage. The 85-horsepower engine is available if you want its extra power.

The Ford 60-horsepower V-type 8-cylinder engine was introduced last year. More than 300,000 people have bought it. That gives a pretty good idea of its popularity. Besides its amazing economy, the thrifty "60" is dependable and can take the beating of continued hard farm use.

For those folks who want a bigger, finer car with all the traditional Ford economy and dependability—there's the DeLuxe Ford V-8. It's built on the same sturdy 112-inch wheel-base chassis but it is equipped with the 85-horsepower engine only.
