ENTOMOLOGIST
WARNS AGAINST
ORCHARD NEGLECT
Middle of winter might seem unimportant to look over trees in an orchard, but the wise fruit producer can do this job profitably.
Three pests should be sought to determine if sprays for them should be applied, warns Ray Hutson, head of the entomology department, at Michigan State College.
San Jose scale appears as a scummy deposit on twigs and branches.
Red mite eggs are just large enough to be seen. They resemble red pin points.
Aphis eggs are black shiny deposits in masses on rough spots on the tree and also found on water sprouts.
Controls are not difficult. An oil spray containing at least three per cent actual oil will serve for treating scale and red mites. This spray can be put on as a dormant spray during suitable weather conditions before spring opens up.
For aphis control Hutson says it is possible to obtain oil sprays containing materials that will cut down the aphis hatch, although the usual oil spray is not effective.

which high school seniors in Michigan are writing.
The Michigan Bankers Association is going to present to the winner, a scholarship to the University of Michigan for the scholastic year of 1938-39. The value of the scholarship is $500.
The students are allowed to get their banking information wherever they can. Banking knowledge will be valuable in writing these essays.
The judges of the contest are as follows: Eugene B. Elliott, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Chairman, Lansing, Michigan;
A. Fisher, Director of Extension Service, University of Michigan, by the different High School Principals and one essay selected, it will be sent to the chairman of the judges.

The essays are not to exceed 1,000 words in length, and must be written on 5/8"x11" white paper. They are to be written in ink or type-

SENIORS BUILD SETS

Wednesday night Mr. Baker had a group of boys up in the town hall working on the scenery for the senior play. There was a large group of boys and they worked well.
It was discovered that the scenery will be used to a great advantage. Not very much scenery will have to be made, all of it can be reconstructed.
JUNIOR HIGH-PLAYS
FORD REPUBLIC
The Junior High School basketball team, which consists of the seventh and eighth grade boys will again play the Ford Republic.
As most of you remember the last time these two teams met, Farmington was defeated. Tonight the boys are in better shape than they have ever been and we do hope they will win the game.

SECOND TEAM WINS
FIFTH GAME OF SEASON

The Farmington high school second team has lost only two games this year, both to the fast going Keego Harbor quintet. Winning their third game from Clarkston, the second time this season, increased their wins to five. The game was played in the tiny Farmington high school gymnasium before a crowd that filled the gym to its capacity.
The game was the closest and most exciting played yet this year by the second team. The final score of 15 to 14, will indicate

GIRLS HAVE NEW UNIFORMS

The girls' basketball team of the Farmington High School received their new basketball suits on Monday afternoon, February 14.
These suits were distributed and tried on by the girls and all were found satisfactory.
The outfits are dark blue satin, with white belt and number. The shorts have a white stripe down the side.
The uniforms were used for the first time in the game against Berkeley on Thursday, February 3.

ORGANIZE CIVICS CLUB

A new organization has been proposed by the Civics classes of the Farmington High School. This is to be a civics club, in which the group will discuss and investigate current affairs, visit buildings of interest in connection with Government and politics. The court system, parliamentary law, and other points will be studied by the club. Social gatherings will also be included in the activities of the organization.
The first meeting of the club was held Friday, February 4, at 3:45.
At this meeting the group was asked to name the most desirable time and place for gathering, the things they would like to study and to visit, and other questions concerning the future make-up of the club.
Miss Cavanagh has a kindly agreed to back the club, and has promised many enjoyable moments in connection with it.
Men are forbidden to work in the village of Tengan, Dutch Indies, on penalty of a public thrashing, administered by women.

ACTORS PASS VOICE TEST
BY OVERSEAS PHONE CALL

When preparations were being made in Hollywood for the production of the movie "Night Must Fall," W. P. Lipscomb, British novelist and scenarist, advised Clarence Brown, of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, that Pamela Trowbridge, Blaine West and Reginald Hackett, then playing in the London production of "Winey Sales," would be available for parts. The producer picked up a telephone, called London, and gave them voice tests by transatlantic telephone over a distance of nearly 6,000 miles. Their pictures were then sent by radio photograph, and they were given the parts.
A new telephone and telegraph cable is to be laid in Jugoslavia between Maribor and Belgrade. It will provide an additional route for communication with Vienna and for service from Belgrade to Sofia and Istanbul.
