

Northville Commandery Entertains Its Wives

Members of the Northville Commandery Number 39 of the Masonic Lodge entertained their wives Tuesday night at a dinner in Northville. Guests of honor included seven commanders and past commanders headed by Fred H. Locke of Grand Rapids, Right Eminent Grand Commander, and Mrs. Holcomb, widow of Dr. E. F. Holcomb, Past Commandery Judge, Arthur E. Gordon, of the Record's Court and Past Commander at Detroit, was the main speaker.

so much that they thought a fast bridge game would be an anti-climax. The dinner was planned by a committee headed by Joseph Himmelspach, head of the Northville Commandery. The ladies were given favors of American Beauty roses. High officers of the Lodge present included Mr. Locke, James H. Garlick, Eminent Grand Captain General at Detroit; James D. Anderson, Grand Captain of the Guard at Detroit, and Irving E. Quinby, instructor General of the Grand Commandery at Grand Rapids. Mr. and Mrs. Himmelspach, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ottis and Mr. and Mrs. Reed Webster and daughter Margaret, attended from Farmington.

Students Interested In Archery Club

The Archery Club, sponsored by Mr. Baker and Mr. Ewer, is growing in popularity. The club has 15 members now, who are buying bow staffs and arrow shafts and are making their own finished bows and arrows.

The bows are made of seasoned lemon wood. The shape of the bow is drawn on the wood with templates and then is cut out and planed and sanded down to a desirable finish. It will take approximately a month to make the bows and arrows. The club meets on Thursday afternoons.

Both students and townspeople can enter this activity which is educational and provides excellent physical training. The club will welcome members who are interested. The cost of making bows and arrows is low.

The club will build its own targets and regular practice "shoots" will be held throughout the spring and summer. The use of the bow and arrow is being revived through out Michigan and the nation.

Articles will follow in future issues dealing with the various types of bows, their construction, and other interesting features of archery.

Teachers For A Day

The seniors soon will take over the school and teach all the classes for one day. Each person in the class will have something to do. Some will teach classes and others will take the places of Mr. Burns and Mr. Thompson.

This has not been done for several years, but the seniors hope to do it as well as the teachers. If a student does not behave, the senior teaching the class will send him before the Student Council—and that means work.

Girl Takes Boy

The Juniors will sponsor a girl bid dance March 25 in the high school gym. The girls will take the boys and pay all expenses. The club will attend the dance, and the committee suggests the girls get a date before it is too late. The boys always spend their hard earned money to take the girls out, while the girls work and spend their money on themselves. Most of the students think it fair to give the boys a break once in a while. "Girls get out of it easy as it is," one student said.

SMOKING

Today the destructive habit of smoking is noticed in six out of 10 cases among high school boys. Yet, telling these boys of the wrong they do will not help, for the rule of human behavior tells us that experience alone can do the job. But this writer will attempt to show the boys' side of the story. Every day in the year, on the streets, in the home, and in public places, mothers, fathers, doctors, lawyers, pause to light up some type of smoking device. The boys see this and, like most boys, copy the act in order to manifest a desire to be a full-grown adult. This is one reason boys get the habit of smoking. Don't blame them, Mr. and Mrs. John Public. Blame yourselves.—D. H. S.

TEACHERS TO ATTEND COUNTY INSTITUTE

The teachers of the Farmington Schools will attend the annual Oakland County Teachers' Institute, Friday, April 1. The one-day institute will be held in Pontiac. The program has been an interesting one in recent years and those in charge promise that the program this year will surpass those which have been held previously.

ART CLASS MAKES PADS

The art class is making hot pads for tables, studying shape relations. The pads will be painted the color of the original object. Some students are making Indian designs; others are putting on flowers, birds, fishes or butterflies. These pads can be used as decorations for the walls of homes as well as hot pads.

The class also is studying geometrical and modernistic designs, and the students are having a great deal of fun getting a pattern to fit their designs.

HEALTH CLASS TO ELOISE

The health class of the high school will go to Eloise next Monday afternoon. The class already has been to the Pontiac General Hospital this year and hopes to go many more places before the year is over. These trips are educational for the students.

GRADE NEWS

Kindergarten The pupils have painted coffee cans red and green and plan soon to fill them with soil and plant vegetables and flowers.

Two pupils have had birthday parties in school in the past two weeks. Helen Fournier's was during the afternoon session. The children had ice cream, cake and lollipops. Helen Tamm had her party during the morning session. Six of the children have seen robins and are convinced that Spring is on the way.

SIXTH GRADE

The pupils have been taking great interest in their daily work. They have completed fractions in arithmetic and now are studying decimals.

Mr. Burns, the superintendent, has given the children a new book of pictures of famous paintings in which they are studying for English. They now are studying "The Song of the Lark."

In geography, the pupils are studying about England. Mr. Burns gave an account of his trip to England and Ireland Friday for the benefit of the eager pupils.

Scout News

All the Scouts of Troop 45 who went in a group to Detroit Saturday with the Girl Scouts were enthusiastic about the trip. They enjoyed especially the trip through the station WWI and the "March of Youth" program. The Detroit News building and the printing of the paper was impressive, especially the great presses turning out thousands of copies an hour. The Michigan Historical Museum was enjoyed, but the boys could not take a historical lecture on Saturday—five days a week is all they can stand. Following is a letter Homer Arnett, Scoutmaster, received Monday: I appreciate very much the assistance rendered me this last Saturday at our Museum by two of your Scout Troop, James Youngblood and Jack Samuelson. I surely thank you for making it possible to have their service for the occasion.

May I extend another invitation for Troop 45 to visit the Detroit Historical Museum some Saturday when we have no special program—when I will be at liberty to give you my time to conduct your troop through the exhibits. This invitation is also extended to the Girl Scout Troop from Farmington. I appreciate these two Troops coming last Saturday and trust that the information as to Belle Isle and other parks and boulevards will be of benefit to those who heard Commissioner Busch. I am enclosing a circular showing the Museum hours. Let me know a few days ahead when bringing a group.

Sincerely, A. S. Hampton, Curator.

At the regular meeting Monday the Wolf Patrol dramatized the second point in the Scout Law—loyalty.

A collection of beautiful stamps on wildlife was presented the Troop by Howard Warner. Thanks to Mayor Warner from Troop 45. The patrols are having their patrol meetings. Let us have a good advancement for the Court of Honor or March 28. Prepare for the Troop birthday party; also for the Camporee in June.

You Can Depend on the Man Who ADVERTISES. Nine times out of ten you will find that the man who advertises is the man who most willingly returns your money if you are not satisfied. He has too much at stake to risk losing your trade or your confidence. You can depend on him. He is not in business for today or tomorrow only . . . but for next year and ten years from next year. He knows the value of good-will. You get better merchandise at a fairer price than he could ever hope to sell if he did not have the larger volume of business that comes from legitimate advertising and goods that bear out the promise of the printed word. Don't miss the advertisements. This very day they call your attention to values that tomorrow you will be sorry you overlooked.
