

What Every Driver Must Know

REPORTING ACCIDENTS

Accident reporting is very important to safety agencies because it helps them plan the never-ending war against death on the highway. The law is explained here because you may be asked about it when applying for your next driver's license, and because it is fundamental information for every motorist.

A driver involved in an accident resulting in death, injury, or property damage, must stop, give his name, address, vehicle registration number, and show his driver's license. If death or injury has resulted, he must be of whatever help he can to the victim. All accidents involving injury or death or such damage to a vehicle that it cannot be driven away under its own power, must be reported to the most convenient police station. The report should be made immediately, but in any case, it must be reported within 48 hours.

LEGION TELLS HOW FLAG SHOULD BE DISPLAYED

The publicity committee of Groves-Walker Post No. 346 of the American Legion of Farmington submitted the following to the Enterprise:

Certain fundamentals of heraldry, if understood generally would indicate the proper method of displaying the flag of the United States of America. The matter becomes simple if it is kept in mind that your flag represents a living country and is itself a living thing.

The union of the flag is the honor point. The right arm is the sword arm, the point of danger and hence the place of honor.

The flag should be displayed only from sunrise to sunset, or between such hours as may be designated by authority. It should be hoisted briskly, but lowered slowly and ceremoniously.

Your flag should be displayed on all national and state holidays, and on historical or special occasions. (However, being the emblem of your country, it ought to be flying from every flag pole every day throughout the year.) That is, of course, if weather permits.

When your flag is being carried in a procession with another flag or flags, the flag of the United States of America should be on the marching right. When in a line of other flags the flag of the United States may be in front of the center of that line. When displayed with another flag against a wall from crossed staffs, the flag of the United States of America should be on the right, which is the flag's own right. The staff should be in front of the staffs of the other flags. When a number of flags of states, cities or pennants of societies are grouped and displayed with the flag of the United States of America, the latter should be at the center or at the highest point of the group.

Epworth League Notes

(Bob Snyder, Editor)

Our guest Sunday evening was Mr. Malone from Highland Park, whose subject was "Helping the Needy." His talk was interesting to all.

Fifty-seven persons were present at the meeting.

Bill Eicher has charge of next Sunday's meeting. He says he has an interesting topic to discuss.

The Epworth League will give a play, "His Cross", Easter Sunday evening.

The League held a party Monday night in Parish Hall. About 40 Leaguers attended. A good time was enjoyed by all. Committee in charge of arrangements were E. Coyne, V. Grosvenor, Ralph Banfield and Ray Oldham.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McCurdy have sold their home on Valley View avenue and are moving this week into a new house on Macomb avenue.

Driving Licenses

preparation for the tests has been publication of more than two million copies of a 24-page booklet entitled "What Every Driver Must Know," given to each person who obtained a new car tag. It highlights the essential rules and regulations of safe driving; observation of which is required under the state's motor vehicle act.

State police officials stress the importance of a thorough, thoughtful reading of this booklet by the applicant before he appears for renewal of his driving permit. Familiarity with these fundamental driving rules and regulations will enable him to complete his written examination in from five to ten minutes.

Operation of the driver examination law brings Michigan into the list of states which have revised motor vehicle acts to bring them completely in line with up-to-date practices. Michigan was one of 13 states to pass new license laws or make major changes in existing laws during 1932.

Traffic Control Needed
Murray D. Van Wagener, state highway commissioner, predicts that 33,000 people will be killed in Michigan between now and 1950 and a million others seriously injured "unless we cease to temporize with the safety problem."

The commissioner based his predictions on an analysis by the highway planning survey of accidents in 1932 which killed 2,181 people. At the rate, he pointed out, the death rate will mount to 3,500 annually by 1950.

Fifty percent of the fatalities occurred on urban streets, 20 percent of which were in Detroit; 35 percent on rural trunklines; and 15 percent on county roads.

He advocated a vigorous program of permanent traffic control and highway modernization, particularly in the cities.

APRIL DIAGNOSIS CAMPAIGN TO HIT EARLY T. B. CASES

Eighty percent of the people who enter tuberculosis sanatoriums are in advanced stages of the disease, according to Dr. Bruce H. Douglas, president of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association. For this one reason, he said, the 11th annual Early Diagnosis Campaign to be held in April by the Association and its 25 affiliated local organizations is important, as it will help solve one of the state's foremost public health problems.

While tuberculosis associations carry on year-round activities in educating the public in the importance of early diagnosis, the April campaign is expected to result in more intensive action on the part of local authorities and in further education of the public regarding the disease. The campaign is one of the activities carried on by tuberculosis associations through the income received from Christmas seals.

The use of tuberculin testing and X-ray as means of discovering tuberculosis in its early stages will be emphasized. The goal is to detect the presence of tuberculosis early and to discover the sources of infection.

Only by continued efforts to find early cases can we hope to stamp out tuberculosis, the greatest single disease enemy of young adults," Dr. Douglas says.

WHITE SHRINE INSTALLS

About 200 persons from Detroit, Northville, Dearborn, Pontiac and Farmington attended the installation ceremonies of the Shrine, last Thursday evening. Mrs. Edith Strautz of Northville was installed as Worthy High Priestess and Joseph Rimmag of Farmington was installed as Watchman of the Shepherds. Ice cream and cake were served following the installation.

Seal Sale For Crippled Children Begins Friday

Easter seals for crippled children will be on sale throughout the state April 1 to 17 for the fifth consecutive year as a means of financing an established humanitarian movement to aid physically handicapped persons through the Michigan Society for Crippled Children, Inc. It has just been officially announced.

Since 1921 the Michigan Society for Crippled Children, Inc., has been promoting and leading the work for crippled children throughout this great commonwealth.

Easter seals offer an opportunity for everyone to participate in any degree desired in this movement. Seals provide for the operation of the local societies, the State Society and the International Society for Crippled Children, Inc. Funds derived from Easter seals are used by the Michigan Society and its affiliates to provide "A Better Life for Crippled Children." Ninety percent of the money raised remains in Michigan to carry out the Society's program.

Every year approximately 2,000 new cases of crippled children are brought to light in Michigan. In fact, during the past ten years over 35,000 children have been reported. Local volunteer committees of the State Society are attempting to help locate all children in need and see to it that they are provided with services which will return them, as nearly as possible, to normal life.

Problem Children Grow Slowly All Over

Problem children are the result of slow growth of the whole personality, not of isolated sensory or learning retardation, according to Dr. Willard C. Olson, Director of Research in Child Development at the University of Michigan.

Instead of trying to discover growth tendencies by measuring different children of different ages as has been the direction of many previous investigations, Dr. Olson, together with other investigators, has been re-examining the same children year after year according to a schedule of physical, mental, social, and emotional measures. The measures, he explained, are translated into ages, and, together with the child's life span, present a complete picture of the child's growth development. This picture, he continued, bears directly on the behavior of the child.
