

SPEEDING CHARGES BRING SENTENCE TO MOTORIST

Drivers are paying fines and one is serving a sentence in the Oakland County Jail for traffic violations, imposed on them by Judge John J. Schulte in the Farmington Municipal Court.

An out-of-state driver, William Kotlas, of Pekin, Illinois, is serving 15 days in jail. He pleaded not guilty to charges of driving at an "excessive rate of speed, to-wit, 75 miles per hour, on the wrong side of U. S. 16 and without brakes in violation of the Michigan Motor Vehicle Law." He appeared before Judge Schulte Friday, and was tried, convicted and sentenced.

Excessive Speed
Sam Badmiller, 33 years old, of 5991 Scenic Avenue, Detroit was also charged with driving at an excessive rate of speed. The arresting state officer charged him with traveling 50 miles an hour across the intersection at Nine Mile and Greenfield Roads, and failing to stop at Greenfield Road for a through highway. He pleaded not guilty and was released on his personal recognizance. Appearing before Judge Schulte Friday he was sentenced to pay $25 and $15 costs or spend 30 days in jail.

Five dollars in costs were paid by three drivers. Gabe Milnerich, 27 years old, of 375 La Bell Avenue, Highland Park, pleaded not guilty Wednesday to charges of improper overtaking and passing another car on a hill. He was arrested Sunday on Grand River near Meadowbrook.

Failure to stop for a red light at Telegraph and Long Lake Roads were the charges brought against Edwin P. Kral, 21 years old, of 2855 Martin Avenue, Detroit. He pleaded guilty.

Grade Passing
Sam Sweet, 19 years old, of 3257 Leslie Avenue, Detroit, was the third driver to pay $5 in costs. He pleaded guilty to charges of passing on a grade over the yellow line.

Michael Merchman, 52, of 1706 W. Davison Street, Detroit, paid $3 last week and heard Judge Schulte remit the balance. He had been ordered to pay cost of $3.35 after he pleaded guilty several weeks ago to charges of driving against traffic on the Farmington Cut-Off. He was arrested June 19.

The sentence of Thomas Armstrong, 58 year old farmer of Birmingham, was suspended Thursday afternoon. He was arrested July 8, charged with failure to stop for a through highway at Telegraph and Nine Mile Roads. He pleaded guilty. He told the Judge that he had been driving 20 years and never before had been given a ticket.

WEST POINT CHURCH
The Baettner family with singers and entertainers will appear at the West Point Park Community Church Sunday morning, July 24 at 11:15. Rev. O. J. Lyon, pastor of the church, extends a cordial invitation to all.

Mr. Willard Adams, Miss Virginia Adams and Miss Betty Adams in company with the former's sister of California, are enjoying a motor trip through the Eastern United States and Canada.

REVIVE SOFTBALL PLAYING; FIVE GAMES SCHEDULED

Softball is experiencing a revival here in Farmington these days, with the Playground program being credited with administering the main antidote. Evidence of the patient's improved health is found in the announcement that five games have been scheduled for next week in as many nights.

Harvey Hamilton, former high school athletic star, is directing the team's play, and is arranging the schedule. For the coming week he has listed three home games, and two on opponents' soil.

Troy Laundry, of Detroit will play hosts Monday night, and Brightmore will do the same Thursday night. The Parker Wildcats will play Farmington at the school grounds Tuesday night. Novi Equipment Company will call there the following night, and on Friday, Moore's Garage of Northville will be guests of the local team. All home contests start at 6:30. The games are scheduled as seven inning affairs.

Win 11 to 4

In the first game of a home-and-home series played Monday night on the school field Farmington defeated Troy Laundry of Detroit, 11 to 4. A good turn-out was on hand to see Troy held to three hits, by Harney Hamilton. Farmington could gather only seven safe hits.

The leading batters for the Hamilton men were Owen Lancaster and Elmer Catherman, both of whom got 2 hits in three official times at bat. One of Lancaster's hits was good for a double.

Farmington is leading the league at present, which includes five representatives. Teams from Northville and Novi make up the remainder of the organization.

CHILDREN TO CLOSE VACATION SCHOOL WITH PROGRAM

Vacation School pupils who attended classes during the past two weeks at the Baptist Church will hold their final program of the summer Sunday night at 7:30 in the church. This gathering will be held in place of the regular Sunday evening service.

Church officials are well pleased with the school. The average attendance was 200 pupils, with 215 being present on the peak day. An experienced teaching staff, all of whom had some previous training, added to the school's efficiency, church leaders stated.

Rev. Miles, pastor of the church, and character of the intermediate department, will have his class give a demonstration of work they performed during the two week period, a Bible drill, and sing choruses.

Musical Numbers

Mrs. Frances Heard will have the girls of her section of the intermediate class each give a summary of the life and activities of some missionary. The boys will sing musical numbers.

Plans are being made by Mrs. Alma Weston, primary instructor, to have her pupils dramatize a story, and sing songs.

In charge of the beginners were Mrs. Emma Harper and Mrs. Alice Poole. Their classes will sing motion songs and they will relate short stories.

Mrs. Albert McDonald, who is in charge of the juniors, will have her pupils recite the main character representatives. Teams from the Creation to 400 years before the Birth of Christ.

Others who aided in the school include Jane Harper, Wanda Taggart, Mrs. Jane McFarland, Mrs. Virgil Williams, and Mrs. Charles Cassin. Classes were held for two weeks. They started July 11 with the final regular session being held this Friday.

Only Megatherium Lundi

Shown in Field Museum

At the Field Museum of Natural History in Chicago is the only complete skeleton of Megatherium, ever collected by scientists. Megatherium lundi is the mountain species of ground sloth—a large prehistoric animal which inhabited South America 1,000,000 years ago.

This specimen is of great importance in the study of extinct types of mammals, according to Elmer S. Riggs, curator of paleontology, who, as leader of the Marshall Field Paleontological expedition to Argentina and Bolivia, excavated and collected the bones from a bed of clay in which they had been buried. Not only is this skeleton the only complete representative of its species in the world, says Riggs, but it is only the second skeleton of any species of Megatherium to be mounted in any North American museum.

The first one is that of Megatherium americanum, largest of all ground sloths, also collected and prepared by Riggs and his assistants, and placed on exhibition in the Field Museum in 1935. Possession of both of these specimens places the paleontological collections of the Chicago institution in a unique position, and with the museum's great variety of ground sloths other than Megatheria establishes it as a center of scientists of all countries who are engaged in this branch of historical geology.

The great ground sloths of South America were ponderous, clumsy beasts, with long hind legs and shorter forelegs. In appearance of head and body they resembled the bear tribe in some respects, but many of them attained sizes larger than that of any elephant. They could stand almost erect on their hind legs and reach high into the trees, clawing off leaves for food with their forefeet.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Adams called on Mr. and Mrs. George Hake in Plymouth Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Hake were recently in an automobile accident at the corner of Six Mile and Northwestern, when Mrs. Hake broke several ribs and her collar bone and Mr. Hake suffered minor cuts and bruises.
