

FEMALE SWIMMER

A generation ago women went out to swim clad like Old Mother Hubbard. Now their daughters go out clad something like the old lady's cupboard.

The risk of becoming infected with tuberculosis germs is far greater for children whose parents have had tuberculosis than for children among the general population.

Crossroads of Speech

This Modern Long Distance Switchboard is a Marvel of Speed and Precision

then and now

Once upon a time the telephone switchboards of Michigan were like sleepy country crossroads. . . . Today's switchboards are like the busy, well-regulated intersections of the most crowded motor highways, thronged with hurrying traffic day and night.

This traffic of speech has grown until now an average of 3,200,000 calls a day . . . about 2250 every minute . . . travel over Michigan Bell lines. It is the efficiency of the modern equipment developed by Bell System research and manufacturing skill . . . together with the work of highly trained telephone employees . . . that enables us to direct each message along the right road to its destination . . . without confusion and without delay — at reasonable cost.

At The Redford Theatre

Shirley Temple always turns in a fine performance—as millions of fans will attest—but this time she gives you the time of your life! She's a Shirley of surprises simply surrounded by singing, dancing, romancing, fun making show people. And it's you're thrilled. "Little Miss Broadway," which plays Friday through Monday at the Redford Theatre is the musical thing to thrill to.

The grand group of troupers which aids and abets Miss Temple is headed by that scintillating stepper, George Murphy; the irrepressible Jimmy Durante; gorgeous blonde Phyllis Brooks and Edna Mae Oliver, the popular, prim and prudish grande dame of filmdom.

To make this the go-happy musical thrill bit of the year, six new Bullock and Spina melodies radiate from the romance and the hit selectors can choose from "Be Optimistic," "We Should Be Together," "If All the World Were Paper," "Swing Me an Old-Fashioned Song," "How Can I Thank You," and "Little Miss Broadway," the title song.

It's all about a little miss who lives in a vaudeville hotel with her foster family, Edward Ellis and Phyllis Brooks. When Jimmy Durante's jazz band get too loud in its rehearsals, the wealthy neighbor, Edna Mae Oliver, complains and threatens to close the hotel. George Murphy, her nephew, intercedes—and while he was nothing but enmity from his prim aunt, at least he wins the favor of fair Phyllis.

Led by the astonishing, amazing and brilliant Shirley, everything ends as it should—especially after Shirley convinces an austere judge that he should permit the actors to stage their show in the courtroom.

George Barbiere, Edward Ellis, James Darwell, El Brendel, Donald Meek, Patricia (Honey) Chitt, Wilder, and Claude Gillingwater, Sr., have an active part.

Showing on the same four days is "White Banners," starring Claude Rains, Fay Bainter, Jackie Cooper and Bonita Granville.

The kids of "Dead End" fame will play in "Little Tough Guy" Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. On the same bill Stuart Erwin is featured in "Passport Husband."

RED CROSS AIDS 40,000 EASTERN DISASTER VICTIMS

Contributions to the Red Cross Relief Fund for assistance to the 40,000 people victimized by flood, fire and wind in the Eastern states are being received in the Oakland County chapter office, according to Dr. Harold A. Purlong. These contributions are immediately transmitted to the National organization by the chapter.

While a relief fund of $500,000 was asked by Chairman Norman H. Davis, it is expected that much of this amount will be raised in the Eastern states. Individuals in Oakland County, however, who wish to participate may do so by sending contributions to the chapter office at 718 Ritter Building, Pontiac.

Word recently received from the American National Red Cross by that office, states that the population of entire communities have been evacuated and that food shortages have been serious. The Red Cross has been instrumental in establishing a broad nursing and medical program. Thousands of men, women and children have been temporarily housed and fed. According to the usual disaster plan of the Red Cross, homes will be repaired and assistance given on the basis of need.

LOSEY CORNERS

The Woman's Aid served a Rally Day breakfast Sunday morning, followed by a program and promotion.

The Woman's Aid has postponed the regular meeting and will meet October 11 instead.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fredericks, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Mansfield, and Edwin K. Tamm and family of Farmington were guests of Rev. and Mrs. Breitenbach of Saline. Mrs. Tamm was guest soloist for the Mission Festival being held there. The party also called on Rev. Roy Miller, former pastor of the West Point Park Presbyterian church.

Friends wish to express their sympathy for Mrs. Hare, whose husband was killed Thursday coming home from work when his car struck a tree. Mr. Hare died before reaching the hospital. They have recently finished building a home on Middle Belt road. Resides Mrs. Hare, there are three grown children. He was a Ford employee.

WEST FARMINGTON

EARLY MOTTVILLE SETTLERS ACCUSED OF BEING SNOOTY

An object lesson in the hazardous business of being snooty has just been unearthed by WPA Federal Writer's Project workers tracing the history of Mottville, Mich.

Mottville was laid out as a town in 1828, two years before Chicago; now its 500 residents got their mail, R.F.D., from White Pigeon. Port Dearborn, that was! Chicago, was abandoned and burned during the War of 1812, but Mottville went on to greater prosperity. Steamboats paddled up the St. Joseph river from Lake Michigan and unloaded their cargoes for shipment inland by wagon train. Mottville became a metropolis of warehouses, tanneries, breweries, and bars.

Bridge River
A military bridge was thrown across the river in 1833, but that did not stop the busy industry of transferring material wealth from land to water, and vice versa. At the same time promoters began transferring wealth into watered stocks in new steamboat ventures. It is said that Daniel Webster, visiting Mottville, was so impressed by prospects of its business future that he invested unwisely in such a stock promotion — he might as well have bought stock in the Mottville tanneries that flourished in the coon-hunting season to process the gay-striped pelts for hunter's headresses.

Mottville boomed in the 1840-50 decade.

Today Michigan's Mackinac Island is famous for having no automobiles on it; Mottville, on the other hand, is little known to fame because it refused to have a railroad. The Lake Shore and Southern Michigan wanted to pass through Mottville, but the nabobs of river transportation wanted no such competition and sent the railroad away. In the race with the Michigan Central for first entrance into Chicago, the Michigan Central beat the Lake Shore by one day. Railway transportation has passed Mottville by ever since.

The former metropolis today presents to tourists passing it on US-112 chiefly a frontage of lawns and bars, and most of its residents, less snobbish than the town's earlier residents, will admit Chicago is the greater city.

A Buying Guide

Before you order a dinner in a restaurant, you consult the bill-of-fare. Before you take a long trip by motor-car, you pour over road maps. Before you start out on a shopping trip, you should consult the advertisements in The Enterprise. For the same reasons!

The advertising columns are a buying guide to you in the purchase of everything you need—including amusements! A guide that saves your time and conserves your energy; that saves useless steps and guards against false ones that put S-T-R-E-T-C-H in family budgets.

The advertisements in this paper are so interesting, it is difficult to see how anyone could overlook them . . . fail to profit by them. Just check with yourself and be sure that you are reading the advertisements regularly—the big ones and the little ones. It is time well spent . . . always.
