Expert Classification
LONDON.—A bird that has bafde ornithologists at the Natural History museum, South Keessington, was exhibited at New Horticultural Loudy and the state of the Control of the Control Loudy Mestminster.

Eight experts examined the bird but none was able to define its species or country or origin.

Its owner, Allen Silver of Newport, who has had in his hand virtually every rare bird that has reached this country in the last 40 years, said that he had never seen anything like its size of a conary this golden crown and sleek lines it is most attractive.

It was brought by a sailor returning from Africa to this country is menth ago. Silver, who acquired it in October, went through all the books on birds in the museum, and examined thousands of bird skin specimens in its collection without finding poor anything to resemble the stranger.
