First of all, there has been a tremendous growth in tendis interest, particularly in the Livonia and Plymouth and Livonia and Plymouth communities. The Livonia and Plymouth communities. The Livonia Tennis Citib alone now has over 100 members, and Plymouth sent 35 contestants to the L.T.C. Junior Open Tournament.

There is greater participation this year from the fairer sex, as evidenced from their once-a-week play on Wednesday mornings. Conversely, there are fewer young girls seen on the courts this year.

The tennis court situation in Livonia and the other communities is deplorable.
Anything from poor construction to dilapidated tennis struction to dilapidated tennis nets, to poor lighting, to lack of available time for adults, to poor instruction for youth and adults. It is obvious that the situation isn't going to improve because of the economics involved in public tax-supported institutions.

THE DEARBORN Tennis Club was faced with the same conditions two years ago and their solution was to build their own private courts which
