

Class Set For Victims Of Heart Diseases

A free two-hour class for persons whose physical reserve has been lowered by a heart ailment will be held at 1:30 p.m., Monday, Dec. 16, in Outer Drive Hospital, 26400 Outer Drive, Lincoln Park.

The Michigan Heart Association's Downriver Heart Information Center said the "Patients for Living" class will teach men and women easy-on-the-heart techniques to do work—including reaching, lifting, climbing, and using tools. These save time and effort and can be used either in the home or on the job.

In her classes, Mrs. Jill Merke, of the Michigan Heart Association, will demonstrate how a patient can make a special diet tasty with spices, can organize work to counteract fatigue, and design work areas to make jobs simpler.

"We show the cardiovascular patient how to fulfill his basic needs—being independent, having a sense of accomplishment and being as active as his disability allows" she explained.

All cardiovascular patients including those recovering from a heart attack or with congenital or rheumatic valvular defects can benefit from the class as well as victims of stroke.

The Heart Association is a Michigan United Fund Agency.
