

ANIMAL ACT

OUR feathered and fur-bearing friends are finding an important place for themselves these days as radio entertainers. With Dore Elmer (1) on "Hobby Lobby," Ducky, then owned by C. E. Shaw of Gig Harbor, Washington, laid eggs with yolks of various colors to the delight of the studio audience. Susan, a chimp who does not wear tuxedos, cuts at the table and sleeps in a regular bed, dines (2) with Gabriel Heister, host of "We, The People" before appearing on his CBS show. The woman is Gertrude Lintz, Brooklyn, N. Y., at whose home Susan lives. When H. E. Mann (3) appeared on "Hobby Lobby" to prove his prowess at filling a full-grown ball, he brought his pet Ferdinand, right along with him from Memphis. Fred Allen and Portland Hoffa (4) acquaint Peggy, a talking goose, with the proper microphone technique before placing her on their Wednesday show.

to benefit the public and the medical profession," he added. Doctor Tuck organized and directed the medical welfare relief program for Oakland County that attracted attention throughout the United States and Canada. After delegations of physicians and social workers had come to Pontiac to study the plan, it was adopted in Ohio, New York, Illinois, and other states. The plan was also approved by Federal Relief Administrator, Harry Hopkins and the Century Fund and praised editorially by Dr. Morris Fishbein in the American Medical Association Journal. He is a member of the American Medical Association, Michigan State Medical Society and the Oakland County Medical Society.

Three Farmington Men Seek Director Jobs

When the Oakland County Lincoln Republican club holds its annual banquet in Pontiac Monday, February 12, one of the features of the day will be the annual poll of candidates for 30 directors to be elected from a list of 60 men and women, who have been nominated. Voting will be held in the supervisor's room at the Court House from 1 until 5 p. m. All persons holding banquet tickets will be entitled to vote.

Three men from Farmington Township and City are among the candidates. They are Arthur Lamb, Arthur P. Coe, and Harry N. McCracken. George R. Simmons, of Norwell, is also a candidate.

Brain Surgery Reveals Real 'Dual-Personalities'

"Surgery on brain cancers disclosing existence and location of two personalities in every human brain were reported recently to the International Cancer congress.

The operations, described by Dr. Byron Stookey, of the Neurological Institute, New York, removed entirely the prefrontal lobes of four persons, and partly removed those of four others. All are alive today.

The prefrontal lobes, one on each side of the head, fill the entire forward half of the brain cavity. One of these lobes is usually dominant over the other, a fact believed to explain why some persons are left-handed.

These lobes have long been considered the seat of memory, thinking, personality and the imagination which distinguishes man above animals. They receive, simultaneously but separately, impulses from all the rest of the brain.

Dr. Stookey's operations showed that either prefrontal lobe, whether on the left or the right, is able to produce a mentally complete and normal personality. They showed that ordinarily the two syndromes are in this personality work, but that if one lobe is damaged, the other remaining intact, the very character of a human being changes.

In that case one lobe fights the other. In Dr. Stookey's words, there is "static" in the damaged lobe, which interferes with smooth operations in the other.

In two of the operations, Dr. Stookey said that the complete loss of one lobe resulted in reported mental improvement. One of these was a man in charge of sending out trucks for a motor firm. His employees asserted that the man's work improved. The other persons reported ability to learn more easily.

A woman reported that frigidity resulted from loss of one of her prefrontal lobes, and that marital relations became merely a duty. One general change noted in those losing a whole prefrontal lobe was ability to make decisions more quickly and persistence in carrying them to completion.

Peanut Butter Factory Operated by Students

Peanut butter is paying the way of eight students through Little Rock-Ark., junior college.

W. H. Travis, "father of farm chemistry in Arkansas," conceived the idea when he talked with fathers and mothers from rural sections who brought produce to a local curb market, and found that many children from farm homes could not hope for higher education.

He found there was no peanut butter plant in Little Rock. Thus, the students could make and sell peanut butter without competing with another Arkansas industry. Travis broached his plan to Dean E. Q. Brothers of Junior College. Brothers was enthusiastic, and even authorized a small loan from the school to assist in establishing the plant.

The eight boys and girls operating the plant come from rural families in the vicinity of Little Rock. They work five hours a day in the plant, which is located at a local curb market, and attend classes in their spare time. They are paid at the rate of 25 cents an hour.

The students do all the work. They supervise the buying of the peanuts, process them, and market the product.

Early Soil Savers

One of America's first soil conservationists was George Washington. Even before the War for Independence, he was experimenting with ways and means of keeping the soil from washing away from his Mount Vernon estate, in what is now the state of Virginia. Patrick Henry considered the saving of our soil so important that just a few years after the Revolution he remarked, "Since the achievement of our independence, he is the greatest patriot who stops the most gullies." And Thomas Jefferson devised a method of plowing hillsides horizontally to stop the wastage of our lands by erosion.

Civil War Spy

Belle Boyd, Confederate spy in the Civil war, was but 17 when her exploits began. During the next two years she made use of opportunities in her home towns of Martinsburg and Front Royal, Va., for gathering information on Union activities unsuspected and conveying it to Stonewall Jackson. She was twice arrested and imprisoned, but each time soon released. In 1863 she escaped to England, where she played in New York and in stock companies in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys.

Rivers Flowing North

The St. Johns river in Florida is supposedly the only river in the United States which flows northward throughout its entire course. There are others, however, which flow north for a part of their course. These include the Monongahela in Pennsylvania, the Tennessee in Tennessee and Kentucky, the Red river of the North in Minnesota and North Dakota, Big Horn in Wyoming and Moptans and Powder in Wyoming and Montana.

SUPERINTENDENT DUNCHEFF ATTENDS OFFICERS' MEETING

The problems of running a public school on a sound business basis were discussed at the annual meeting of the Michigan Association of Public School Business Officials Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Pearson Inn, Griville E. Duncheff, Farmington superintendent of schools, attended the meeting.

General theme of the gathering was "Financing Schools." During the opening session Thursday afternoon Lent D. Upson, of the Detroit Bureau of Governmental Research, spoke on the topic "Financing Public Schools." Albert E. Goble, Detroit City Treasurer, gave a discussion of "Collection of Delinquent Taxes." John F. Thomas talked on "School Revenue Sources."

On Thursday evening round table discussions were held among the school officials attending with the following phases of school management as topics: "Instructional Supplies and Equipment," "Obligatory Practices and State Reports," "Operation and Maintenance." These subjects were also held over for further discussion on Friday morning.

Speakers during the Friday morning session gave their time to "Administrative Problems." At a banquet held that evening V. J. Cameron, and Dr. Eugene R. Elliot, state superintendent, of public instruction, were the speakers.

Closing the conference Saturday morning, talks were heard on "Custodial Training," "Education of Handicapped Children," "Classroom Equipment," and the relation of these to education.

PHONE CALL TO AUSTRALIA SAVES LONG WAIT

One of the first calls over the recently opened direct radio telephone circuit between the United States and Australia saved a New York business man a wait of between one and two months. First class mail usually takes 30 days or more to reach Australia, while air mail, via London, requires about 20 days. Therefore when the new circuit was opened, Carl James V. Greene, of Cletchka Products Company, manufacturers of hotel and restaurant equipment, made use of the new 24-hour wire and radio route to complete a business transaction which, under ordinary circumstances, would have required more than a month. When the connection was made, the entire matter was settled in "scarcely more than five minutes."

NYA AIDS SAFETY CAMPAIGN

The "long arm of the law" is uprisid in admission to Bay City motorists as part of a state-wide safety campaign in which the National Youth Administration is taking an active part through the construction of posters and signs. Youth employed in the work centers in Bay City are shown above putting the finishing touches on wooden traffic policemen. Sixty of these were made in the work shop and placed in various school zones throughout the city. In other of the 15 work centers operated by the NYA in the state, unemployed youth are gaining work experience and skills in handling tools through the construction of similar signs. Warning posters of varied designs are also made in the shops and provide youth with valuable work experience in sign painting and poster art, at the same time being responsible for reducing the number of fatalities and serious injuries caused by carelessness every year.
