Fisherman Nets Grass Pike in Lake Michigan

In his 4 1/2-inch mesh trout nets set in 55 fathoms (300 feet) of water in Lake Michigan, Raymond Cross recently brought up a grass pike.

Other shallow water fish that stray into the big lake are perch, some of which were taken in chub nets last season from 55 fathoms down in the middle of Lake Michigan, off South Haven.

Mercury Mine in Idaho

Discovered by Chance

A chance discovery of a shepherd has provided Idaho with its first mercury mine and a new $1,000,000 industry, according to state mining officials.

A sharp price rise in the quicksilver market gave a new impetus to the venture when the European war broke out and now the Almaden mines, developed by L. K. Requa, veteran Santa Barbara mining engineer, are producing an estimated 400 pounds of pure quicksilver a day.

Andy Little, young shepherd with a flair for mining, chased a lost sheep across the sagebrush-covered mountains 20 miles west of the city of Weiser in 1938 and noticed an outcropping of reddish ore at his camp's feet. He came back the next year and staked out 18 claims.

Requa visited the area on one of his periodic tours of western mining districts and examined the shepherd's cinnabar stake. He leased the property for 20 years with an option on further leasing, formed a company, set up a plant and began production last summer.

The venture is a closed corporation and no stock is sold.

Requa believes the mountainside on which the mine is located is a solid mass of mercury in opaline and rhombohedral forms, left by an old lake bed. Cinnabar is an ore mineral that occurs in both bedded and vein deposits.

The plant is the latest metallurgical science has produced. The ore is roasted in a kiln at 1500 degrees and the mercury passes off in the form of a vapor to be condensed in 12 tubes, 30 feet high. The mercury is drawn off at the bottom into buckets and placed in flasks, ready for shipment.

The mine is an open pit operation. The ore is blasted out of the hillside, tons at a time and rolled in cars along a narrow-gauge track to a bin, attached to a long conveyor belt. The belt carries the ore to a crusher and thence to a kiln where it is roasted.

Fuse Is Safety Valve

Of Electrical System

Fuses, or circuit breakers, are the safety valves in the electrical system. Extra fuses should be kept on hand in case one blows out. There should be enough circuits, each controlled by a fuse, to carry all the appliances the home is likely to have, point out M. S. C. specialists.

When a fuse blows out it's usually an indication that there is a short circuit or an overload. Perhaps too many appliances have been connected to one circuit. This trouble occurs frequently in houses wired several years ago, before people began to have such a variety of electric devices, such as mixers, dishwashers, waffle irons, percolators, fans, razor and warming pads, as well as the refrigerator, washing machine, laundry iron and vacuum cleaner.

By removing fuses one at a time and noting which lights and outlets are "dead," a blown fuse may be found.

Vitamins—Producing Fish

A strange fish with a lot of names and without any friends until recently is providing the richest known source of vitamins A and D. The ling, lawyer, loach or burbot is the fresh-water member of the cod family. This fish lies low in warm weather, preys on game fish in cool weather, and its liver, which is one-tenth of its weight, is 10 times richer in vitamins than cod liver. Theodore Rowell, son of a commercial fisherman on Lake of the Woods, Minnesota, discovered the value of burbot in a home-made laboratory. The life-saving extract of the oil is prescribed by physicians for many deficiency diseases. The National Wildlife Federation reports that the demand for burbot has greatly helped game and food fish in Minnesota lakes. The fish is processed and sold to fur farms.

Replacing Window Panes

A cracked or broken window pane does not necessitate calling in a repair man, for installing a new glass is a relatively simple repair job. After obtaining a pane of proper measurements, the most important part of the work is the application of putty. The putty should be worked with the hands to proper consistency and then carefully applied with a putty knife or similar tool. Place the putty all around the opening so the glass will be bedded in the material and separated from contact with the wood.

Foreign Employment Problems

In countries—Italy, Japan, Russia and certain of the Balkan states—the number of people working age is growing so rapidly as to constitute a serious problem from the point of view of employment, says a study of Population and Peace issued by the Columbia University Press.

Washing Shades

To wash window shades, lay them open on a flat surface. Wash and rinse over a small area at a time. Rub with sponge and wipe with brush with clean dry cloth. Keep the shade on the flat surface until it is perfectly dry and then rehange.
