TELEPHONE CO. TO EXTEND CABLE NORTHWARD

Plans for a 40-mile northward extension to Standish of Michigan's $100,000 trans-Michigan long distance telephone cable this year, were announced this week by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

It was made known that the company has filed an application with the Federal Communications Commission at Washington for permission to construct an underground cable north of Saginaw and Bay City to Standish at a cost of $226,655.

Linked with the proposed cable extension are plans for the additional expenditure of $177,500 at Standish. Improvements there will include the erection of a new building, initiation of dial telephone service for Standish, and the installation of long distance amplifying equipment in connection with the new cable.

The cable project will make Standish the northern terminal for the trans-Michigan long distance cable which now terminates at Bay City. From Standish, the wire circuits to Petoskey and Alpena and northward into the Upper Peninsula.

The new cable extension will carry 250 wires, which, if open wire were used in their place, would require the construction of five pole lines of 50 wires each. Both interstate and intrastate circuits will be contained in the new cable.

Replacing the present open wire circuits with cable will give additional protection to the state's long distance service, it was said. That is held important inasmuch as the proposed cable will pass through the northern fringe of Michigan's worst sheet storm belt. Modern telephone cable is virtually storm proof.

The annual meeting of School District No. 5, Farmington Township, Oakland County, Michigan, for the transaction of such business as may lawfully come before it, will be held Monday, June 10, 1940, at 8:30 p. m.

Dated this 6th day of June, 1940.

FLORENCE E. LEWIS, Secretary.
