Mystery Stories Among New Books at Library

Mystery story addicts will find four new thrillers at the Farmington library, announces Mrs. Florence Lynch, librarian. They are: "Murder's Coming," by Cameron; "Death Came Dancing," by Knight; "Murder in Shilbone Alley," by Reilly; and "Road to Folly," by Ford.

Other new novels are also on the library shelves. They are: "Good Home With Nice People," by Lawrence; "How Green Was My Valley," by Lewis; and "Life With Father," by Day. The latter was the best seller of the same name, now running in New York City.

FARM MAGAZINE POINTS TO PHONE'S PROTECTIVE VALUE

Few farmers stop to realize that the farm telephone has value other than its use for social and business communication, says the publication, "The Michigan Farmer." For example, it has been found that one of the major uses of telephone service is for the protection of life and property in summoning aid in case of fire, sickness and other catastrophes.

The magazine reports that a leading insurance agent in the middle West stated not long ago that losses from fire in his territory have been greatly reduced because of the use of the telephone in spreading alarms to fire departments and to neighboring farmers. This agent points out that there are many cases where a farmer notifies the telephone operator of a fire and she, in turn, notifies farmers nearby who immediately go to the blaze.

It has been the observation of this insurance agent that in many instances, within five minutes after the fire first breaks out, the telephone operator, from five to ten neighbors have arrived at the scene, that in ten to fifteen minutes, from five to ten neighbors have assembled, and that in many cases it was possible for them to extinguish the blaze themselves or to hold the fire in check until a fire department truck arrived.

NEW REDFORD TOWNSHIP DIRECTORY NOW AVAILABLE

A new directory for Redford Township is now available, having been recently completed by George S. Cotter, Redford Maple avenue.

Included in the directory are lists of the Township officers, the schools and their teachers, and all organizations and their officers. Also of great help is the street directory. Residents of the township are listed alphabetically, giving their employment and address.

The directories may be obtained from Mr. Cotter at his residence, and are also available at all drug stores and gas stations.

Oil Shale, a sedimentary deposit in which hydrocarbons are tightly locked in the rock structure, contains an oil reserve of 500 billion barrels, equivalent to a two-hundred year supply. It would, according to an authority, produce enough gasoline to run all the cars in the world for four hundred years. The United States possesses more than a third of this reserve. Chicago is built on such a shale.

Quick thinking on the part of Mrs. Donale Mills, night telephone operator at Albena, Ga., led recently to the arrest of a burglar. When a call came through from a sandwich shop at 4:30 o'clock in the morning, Mrs. Mills became suspicious, as she knew that the shop closed around midnight. She called the police immediately and told them about the call, and then switched back to the shop and held the caller on the wire, under the pretense that she was trying to complete his call. When the police arrived they arrested a man who had broken in.

Simplicity of character is the natural result of profound thought.
