State

Proposal No. 3

Which would deny Detroit suburbs D.S.R. transportation service unless sanctioned by the State Public Service Commission. The new law to this effect will become operative unless blocked by your NO vote.

"The DSR operates buses outside the city limits of Detroit by agreement with those municipalities in which it operates. They want DSR service, and they contract for it. They no more need the protection of the Public Service Commission, or any other State agency, than they need to have their peoples' breakfast spoon-fed some Lansing authority."

"The life of a great city is no longer confined within its limits. Tens of thousands of people who work in it live in smaller towns outside it. An important factor in their lives is transportation. They have a right to the most convenient trans-portation available. If they find it in the municipally owned transportation of the metropolis, that service should be theirs without the let or hindrance of some board in the capital."

"The principle involved is home rule government of the people by the people themselves, not by some outside agency beyond their control. It is a fundamental principle of democracy,"
