What Did He Do Sundays?

(Christian Science Monitor)
For fifteen years John McBride led a double life. As crane operator for the Erie Railroad he used to report for work at 7 o'clock in the morning, and check out at 4 p. m. Then he had a setup—until 1930, when he started work at Hoboken's City Hall. About midnight he came off duty from City Hall. Hoboken's City Commissioner has just ordered his suspension. It does sound like a bit of extra-curricular activity for one man. In Britain and America are working similar shifts these days. McBride's zeal for jobs may be counted an error—but it must be admitted that such use of leisure must be more widespread if we are successfully to stand in a world where aggressors have "capacity for work in our gold."

March Music

(Christian Science Monitor)
Sounding its trumpet, comes March. Now loud, now low. It glances its symbols. Blowing its bugles. Spring's symphony of sound. To its music, treelines bend. To its rhythm, dry leaves whirling. To its measure, gray clouds march. To its tempo, for folk scurrying. Camps parade busy willows. Towards the blue, the boys' kites flying. With the sunset, peepers piping. March music calling forth a crocus. Signalling a snowdrop. Summoning a scilla. Stirring sap in all the branches. Winging buds in wild-goose formations. Hoisting a rush of robins. Accompanying song sparrows' trill. Chattering the larks and red-wings. Mingling with the melody of bluebirds at dawn. Making merry running water. Sending shadows out to sun. Trumpets of March announcing spring.

Films in '40

(Exchange)
Climaxing the weeks of preliminary polls conducted independently by newspapers, motion picture exhibitors, and trade journals, Hollywood has set the official seal on motion picture achievement in 1940 with the annual awards of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. The public will notice chiefly the awards to its favorite stars. But if the Academy banquet, with its glare of publicity and gleaming cameras, is of principal significance to Hollywood, it may yet also serve as a reminder: to the movie public of the exhibitors who make the motion pictures. Depend upon expert craftsmen and technicians. The awards made at the annual Academy dinner help give some slight credit to those workers who are nearly always blanketed in anonymity. Since the cinema is essentially a technician's medium, it would probably be more just if the men behind the camera were honored more broadly and more often. Alas, that cannot be. Hollywood is supported by mechanical skill but sold on glamour. Though the Hollywood motion picture seems undeniably to be maturing as the years pass, there is still a considerable gap to be spanned in a great number of pictures between the nobility of the subject matter and the excellence of technical execution. The awards honoring achievement and the notable works of the year just past record that 1940 was on the whole a good film year.

Smoke Screen!

(Exchange)
It is encouraging to note that one or two college newspapers have had the pluck to resist the efforts of a cigarette manufacturer's advertising agency to compel editors to print "news stories" boosting the advertised product. The publications were told that they must agree to the free publicity or they would not be given advertising. When the New York daily, PM, opened what the editor of the Columbia Spectator called "the blackmail stunt," one tobacco company executive said it would never withdraw an ad from a college paper because of not getting enough free space, and another official said it was not his company's policy to influence college editors about what they should print. Possibly, since the exposed rebels are safe. Scholastic publications might find it to their advantage to organize for their own protection. No advertiser would dare propose such an unethical scheme in the face of united opposition—especially cigarette companies who, as PM said, want to reach 500,000 potential boys and girl smokers between 18 and 22 at least once a week. Moreover, it ought to be possible for college papers to finance themselves without advertising, a product over whose effects there is, to say the least, a controversy.

Emphasis Without Profanity

(Exchange)
Another United States Army tradition—that of the hard-boiled top Sergeant who emphasized all his verbal instruction with profanity—disappears with the training of the selective service troops of 1940-41. An official order has been posted at various camps forbidding the use of profanity to punctuate commands in the presence of draftees. For Devens said the order resulted from letters written home by young soldiers who disapproved of the language used by non-coms. This means that the Army has a better class of recruit than formerly—one who feels he doesn't have to be sworn at in order to be an efficient soldier. And since draftees are a cross-section of young American manhood, the incident indicates an improvement in morals and manners.

The Brightest Stars

(Christian Science Monitor)
Americans have little cause to quarrel with the selections of the committee of the British Film Institute which has recently chosen the twelve stars who have contributed most to the development of motion pictures. All but three of these twelve—Greta Garbo, Rudolph Valentino, and Charlie Chaplin—are American by birth; and it was in American films that even these three achieved their world-wide fame. The Film Institute has ranged right back to the beginnings of cinema history: its choice includes Theda Bara, the inventor of the vampire; Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., who put motion in motion pictures; Fred Astaire, Tom Mix, the cowboy; Spencer Tracy, Harold Lloyd, Shirley Temple, and Marie Dressler. The Institute invites suggestions for amendments to the list from all over the world, though it is not expected that many violent criticisms will be forthcoming. Child films are so important a branch of the industry that the inclusion of Shirley Temple is not surprising, though a case no doubt could be made out for Jackie Coogan as the pioneer of this form of entertainment. Some people may feel that the performances of Conrad Veidt, Emil Jannings, or Charles Laughton over a period of years deserve recognition, and that Pauline Frederick was in her day as notable as Garbo. But, on the whole, it is probable that the Institute's selections are as just and comprehensive as the valuations of human taste permit.

Chest Expansion

(Christian Science Monitor)
Another case of a new item being over-bid is the one that states flatly that 45 per cent of all cedar chests sold are now bought by men! What can this possibly mean? Is the male animal becoming domesticated? Is the modern man now advertised product? The publications were told that they must agree to the free publicity or they would not be given advertising. When the New York daily, PM, opened what the editor of the Columbia Spectator called "the blackmail stunt," one tobacco company executive said it would never withdraw an ad from a college paper because of not getting enough free space, and another

"Substance" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, March 16.
The Golden Text (Psalm 119:89,90) is: "For ever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven. Thy faithfulness is unto all generations."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (1 Chron. 29:11): "Thine O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty; for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine, thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 335): "Spirit is the only substance, the invisible and indivisible infinite God. Things spiritual and eternal are substantial. Things material and temporal are insubstantial."

Assist Crusade

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor, both trained musicians, will assist in conducting a spiritual recovery crusade at the Farmington Baptist church beginning Sunday morning, according to Rev. Gilbert A. Miles.

County Agent Plans Second Garden Lecture

Mrs. Lila T. Dudgeon, County Home Demonstration Agent, has been able to arrange for a second garden lecture to be given by Mr. Perry Bowser, Extension Specialist in Gardening, Michigan State College. He will present this lecture on gardening at the Holly High School on Thursday, March 20, at 8 p. m., and at Pontiac, Friday, March 21, at 2 p. m. at the Donelson School on West Huron Street.

He will discuss the control of insects and diseases of garden vegetables. He will also discuss the storage of vegetables and the quick-freeze method of preservation.

These meetings are open to anyone interested in attending.

Hungary has no salt, the only food product she does not produce, which must be imported. The state of Pennsylvania has enough salt to supply the United States for 150,000 years, and Potter County alone, can keep the American people in salt for 27,000 years.

Commissioner's Proceedings

Motion made by Nacker and supported by Otis that the bills be paid as read. Roll Call: Hutton, Hamlin, Nacker, Bagnall and Otis. Carried, all yeas.

Motion made by Hamlin, supported by Nacker, that the Commission of the City of Farmington sponsor some young man qualified to attend a meeting of the Wolverine Boys' State, Incorporated, to be held in East Lansing, July, 1941. The expense of fifteen dollars ($15.00) to be paid by the City of Farmington. Roll call: Hutton, Hamlin, Nacker, Bagnall and Otis. Carried. All yeas.

Moved by Bagnall and supported by Otis that no check be issued for the payment of any expenditure until approved in writing by the Commission authorizing the same. Carried. All yeas.

Motion made by Hutton and supported by Otis that Delos F. Hamlin be reappointed as a member of the Board of Appeals for a term of two years. Term to expire September 12, 1942. Carried. All yeas.

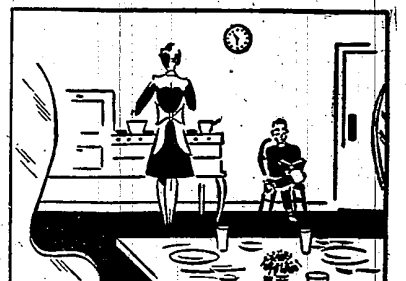

Mrs. Lillian Richards and Mrs. Loretta A. Whitman appeared before the Commission at its regular meeting March 5, 1941 in the interest of the Farmington Branch of the National Farm and Garden Club to find out if the City Commission would cooperate with the Club by donating one or two acres of land for the purpose of teaching small children the art of gardening, as a school project. Mayor Gildemeister appointed Messrs. Hamlin, Otis and Hutton to act on the Committee to see if the City has any available land that could be used, and make a report to the Commission at its next regular meeting.

Motion made by Otis and supported by Bagnall that Ordinance C-21-41 to govern the collection of delinquent water assessments due or to become due for the use and consumption of water, be placed on its first and second reading. Roll call: Hutton, Hamlin, Nacker, Bagnall and Otis. Carried. All yeas.

Motion made by Otis and supported by Nacker to adjourn. Carried.

What's New In The Kitchen

WE MODERNS have scuttled the time worn custom of using the kitchen for nothing but preparing meals. We have begun using it as a dining room, sewing room, study, recreation room, and even nursery.

These added activities demand more floor space and attractive surroundings. The extra room and beauty can be found in almost any old kitchen. BY STALLING COMPACT, MODERN CABINETS, or building a breakfast nook.

Call us today for more detailed information about modernizing your kitchen. And about our easy monthly payment plan. Information and estimates are free of cost and obligation.

MANY DUCKS FOUND TO CARRY SHOT FROM OLD WOUNDS

First X-ray and fluoroscope examinations of black ducks and mallards wintering on Michigan's Lake Erie marshes reveal three out of every 10 birds examined are carrying pellets of shot from hunters' guns in their bodies. The surprise finding is reported by Herbert Miller, waterfowl investigator for the conservation department's game division, and Dr. S. C. Whitlock, game division pathologist, who examined the live-trapped birds in a trailer laboratory. Of 162 ducks X-rayed, weighed, measured, banded and released, 49 had from one to 12 pellets of shot in body wounds. X-rays revealed also that four of the 162 ducks have wing fractures which had healed.

Besides the birds X-rayed, another 40 were caught and banded. Among the ducks shot-trapped were four banded by Jack Miner of Kingsville, Ont., in 1939, and one banded by Gar Wood of Detroit in 1938.

So much food is available along this shore that the ducks are enticed into traps with difficulty. Corn blown down by the big Armistice day storm was missed by mechanical corn pickers, and has not been covered with snow.

Trapping and examination of ducks is continuing. The current investigation is part of a larger waterfowl project financed jointly by federal and state governments under the wildlife restoration act.

The taste of cheese can now be photographed by the use of the X-ray. The picture of taste is fuzzy.
